Senators Say War Materials Worth Millions Found Unused

Checkup Brings Hearing

Washington (AP)—Senate investigators contended Saturday that they have found millions of dollars worth of jeeps, bulldozers, generators and other military equipment discarded as defense surplus overseas which could be used in the Vietnam war.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, said in an interview that details on this apparent misuse of military materials and government funds will be spelled out in detail at public hearings beginning Tuesday.

Gruening, an outspoken critic of Vietnam war policies and tactics, said personal inspections of defense surpluses in Europe and the Far East caused him to order the public hearings.

As chairman of the Senate government operations subcommittee on foreign aid expenditures, Gruening on Mar. 8 wired Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, urging a worldwide freeze on disposal of overseas defense surpluses "needed in Vietnam."

Short Supply Items

Gruening said that 15 investigators loaned his subcommittee by the General Accounting Office had discovered millions of dollars worth of surplus defense items in Korea, Okinawa, Japan, West Germany, France and Italy, which McNamara said were in short supply in Vietnam.

A week later, Paul R. Ignatius, assistant secretary of defense for installations and logistics, wrote Gruening that overseas supplies declared surplus by defense had been rechecked and "do not meet military specifications and could not be used for military purposes in the conflict in southeast Asia."

Gruening contends this is in error and that his investigators have photographs and audits on millions of dollars worth of defense surpluses at various overseas depots which could be used in Vietnam, either by the military or for "the rural pacification program in Vietnam."

Joseph Lippman, former GAO investigator who now heads the Senate subcommittee staff, said millions of dollars worth of jeeps, bulldozers, heavy cranes, electric generators, motor vehicles, batteries and construction equipment have been located among defense surpluses in overseas depots.

Declared Obsolete

Lippman said that military agencies usually declare some $6 billion worth of equipment and supplies as surplus and obsolete each year, including $1 billion at overseas locations.

Other government departments and agencies have first chance at these surpluses but the great bulk of that overseas has gone to the Agency for International Development, known as AID and administrator for most foreign assistance programs overseas.

Lippman said large amounts of these defense surpluses—items listed as short or needed in Vietnam, now are standing idle as surplus to other overseas military forces, both in Europe and Asia.

AID has repaired and reconditioned much of this defense material and turned $27 million of it over to foreign nations during the last six months of last year, he said. Another $40 million of defense surpluses was still in AID control at the start of this year when Sen. Gruening suggested the worldwide freeze, he added.

Gruening said his hearings, suggested by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the parent Government Operations Committee, will begin with detailed finding by investigators on overseas defense surpluses.

Vietnam War Deplored

Thant, De Gaulle See No New Peace Move

Thant . . . "Very free, very frank."

Paris (UPI) — United Nations Secretary General Thant joined with French President Charles de Gaulle Saturday in deploring the Vietnam war. De Gaulle said he viewed the war with a "growing feeling of disquiet and disapproval," and both men admitted the saw no prospect for any new peace move.

The comments came at a luncheon in honor of Thant, whom De Gaulle urged to seek reelection to a second five-year term as U.N. chief executive.

In a toast to Thant, De Gaulle expressed his satisfaction with their talks, which covered a wide range of international issues including Vietnam.

"We attach great interest to your presence here which allows us to exchange our views with yours. Yet the war events now taking place in Asia do not fail to raise here a growing feeling of disquiet and revulsion," De Gaulle said.

"Doubtlessly one does not see what could be done in the immediate future to put an end to the spreading tragedy. But how could one doubt that one day the evolution of events and souls will give its full chance again to peace?" De Gaulle asked rhetorically.

Thant called his meeting with De Gaulle "very useful, very free, very frank."

"We have just discussed several possibilities," Thant said when asked about Vietnam "Right for the moment we don't see any possibility for a new initiative on the part of anybody."

De Gaulle . . . "Growing feeling of disquiet, disapproval."

Chevrolet Confirms It Found, Fixed Defects

Detroit (AP)—Chevrolet Saturday became the third General Motors division in the last 24 hours to confirm that possible defects had been found and corrected in some of its cars.

The latest report covered a steering condition found in the 1966 Corvair. A Chevrolet spokesman said "only a few cars" were involved.

GM confirmed a few hours earlier that adjustments had been made on 2,600 of its Oldsmobile Toronados, a new car on the market this year, and on about 23,000 of the 1964 Cadillacs.

GM's disclosures came as all four auto companies were at work compiling a requested list of all general defects found in their cars since 1960.

The request was made by Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., whose subcommittee has been probing the auto safety field for more than two years.

Sen. Ribicoff's announcement that he would make the reports public was not greeted with much enthusiasm by the auto firms.

The 1966 Corvair steering problem came to light when Ron Barnes, 22, a member of the Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator staff, took his car back to an Ohio dealer and complained that the car did not handle quite as he wanted.

Senator Dies at 71

Washington (AP) — Sen. Pat McNamara of Michigan, serving his 12th year in the Senate, died Saturady night at Bethesda Naval Hospital where he had been under treatment since March 11.

The Senator suffered a stroke Saturday afternoon, an aide said, and died at 8:40 p.m.

McNamara

The 71-year-old lawmaker entered the hospital for treatment of a blood clot, which settled in a lung. In January, he was hospitalized for a time with a thyroid condition.

McNamara, Democrat was chairman of the Senate Public Works and Flood-Control-Rivers and Harbors Subcommittee.

He was recognized as a legislative authority on federal highway programs.

Project Pride

China, Russia, Others Plan May Day Festival

Tokyo (AP)—Red China was ready Sunday for one of its biggest May Day celebrations, jubilant over an "unprecedented upsurge in industrial and agricultural production, the New China News Agency reported.

A celebration was also planned in Moscow, and the Luna 10 satellite in orbit around the moon will radio back to earth the "Internationale," the anthem of the Communist movement with its electronic beep tones to make the holiday.

In Saigon, 10,000 police and paratroops were alerted for any attempt by Communists to use a May Day parade by organized labor to stir up rioting and other violence. All Americans not on duty were urged to remain off the streets.

Red Chinese cities were decked out with flags, flowers and slogans for the major Communist holiday. A huge portrait of Mao Tze-tung hung in Peking's main square along with somewhat smaller portraits of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin.

The Soviet government on the eve of the holiday gave Soviet citizens something to cheer about. An announcement promised a huge increase in the supply of food and other consumer goods this year.

Rehearsals for the traditional May Day parade in Moscow indicated that no significant new weapons would be displayed.

In Jakarta, 10 major non-Communist Indonesian labor organizations observed the holiday a day early and demanded that the government break diplomatic relations with Red China.

Organized labor in Japan dropped all anti-American and anti-Vietnam war slogans and predicted the biggest May Day turnout in its history — possibly half a million workers and their families.

Saigon Demonstrates

U.S. Troops Find VC Headquarters

Compiled From News Wires

Saigon—U.S. troops today hacked their way through bamboo thickets and elephant grass 70 miles northwest of Saigon, where the Communist Viet Cong psychological war headquarters is believed located. The Americans were aided by helicoptered reinforcements for the jungle columns.

Nguyen Nun Thop, lawyer leader of the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong, and his clandestine Communist liberation radio, were believed using the headquarters.

U.S. authorities told servicemen Saturday night to stay off Saigon's streets Sunday because of the danger that May Day demonstrations could turn violently anti-American.

In Saigon, thousands of anti-American demonstrators screaming "Yankees go home" surged toward the U.S. Embassy but South Vietnamese troops carrying machine guns and clubs drove them back and forced them to disperse.

In Da Nang, about 1,000 persons turned out for anti-American May Day meeting called by transportation workers. They carried banners reading, "down with the United States" and U.S. military go home."

At another demonstration in Da Nang, some 1,500 to 2,000 chanted, "down with the Buddhists" and "down with the Viet Cong." Cardboard signs reading, "thank you, Americans" and "we appreciate the help of the United States" were carried.

In the developing air war, U.S. Air Force Phantom pilots slashed another Mig fighter from North Vietnam's defenses Saturday in a dogfight 100 miles northwest of Hanoi. It was the 11th to fall, against a loss of three American planes, in such combat since last spring.

Communist fire from neutralist Cambodia stirred up U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops who have been wiping out enemy base camps and supply depots northwest of Saigon on the Vietnamese side of a frontier river.

The American troops lashed back with machine guns and artillery, but stayed on their own side of the river to avoid a graver international incident. American losses were termed light.

U.S Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge arrived in Rome on his leisurely flight home for a Washington review of Vietnam policy. Vatican sources said Lodge probably will confer with Pope Paul VI Monday.

The latest American peace overture—issued by Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield Apr. 18—was denounced again in Peking.

German Debates Dubious

Safe Conduct Not Assured

Bonn, Germany (AP)—Walter Ulbricht and other leaders of East Germany likely will think twice about accepting invitations to speak in West Germany—they could end up in jail.

West German Socialists are laying plans for debates between East and West German politicians. But it is not clear whether the prospective host, Socialist Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin, can guarantee that the Communists will get home safely.

The Communist Party had been outlawed in West Germany for a decade, and the top leaders of the East German Communist government are accused by the West Germans of ordering frontier guards to shoot fleeing refugees. They call this plain murder.

Up to now no warrant had been issued for Ulbricht but that could be done on short notice by any one of a thousand judges. Once the warrant was out, police and court officials would themselves be in trouble if they failed to execute it.

Ulbricht is a familiar and much-hated figure in West Germany. His little spade beard, which makes him look like Lenin, his high pitched voice and his odd Saxon accent are often burlesqued.

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard said earlier this week a visit by Ulbricht is "not desired." Other leaders of his Christian Democratic Party have said more or less clearly that he ought to be arrested.

West German party politics plays a role in all this. The meetings are being organized by the Socialists and Communists, both of them opposed to Erhard and his Christian Democrats. Erhard has given only grudging approval to the debates because his opponents stand to gain prestige if the meetings come off successfully.

The speakers have not yet been named and Ulbricht may not even intend to come to West Germany himself. More likely he would choose lesser lights. When the names are known something can be done about safe-conduct, the Socialists say.

In Berlin, the east-west negotiators met for the second time Saturday. The western side disclosed it was trying to have the debates in May despite Communist attempts to postpone them until July.

The 80-minute session in downtown West Berlin was between representatives of the West German Social Democrats and the East German Communists.

It was understood that the continued shooting by East German border guards along the Communist wall dividing Berlin also was discussed.

Tragedy of Total War—Not Only Soldiers Are Suffering

By JOHN NANCE

Duc Bon, South Vietnam (AP)—The bloodied and tattered family stumbled from the jungle. The father came first, gripping the hand of a small boy; then came the mother carrying a baby. Their eyes were glazed.

Twelve hours earlier an American force of the 173rd Airborne Brigade had received intelligence that a large element—perhaps even a battalion—of hard core Viet Cong troops was camped near the village of Duc Bon.

The 2nd Battalion of the 173rd was readied for a morning assault.

'They're Here'

"They're here, they're here," said Capt. Tom Faley, 26, Harrisburg, Pa., commander of C company.

But they weren't. After several minutes of intense firing it became quiet. The enemy force apparently had been no more than a dozen men, and they had fled.

Then from the thicket the family appeared. The father was bleeding in a dozen places from his back, sides and legs. The mother's hair was sticky with blood and her clothes had been shredded. Both children had bleeding scratches on their arms and legs.

They trembled at the sight of the American paratroopers. Viet Cong agitators had told them the Americans would beat them, kill them, and cut out the livers of the children.

After questioning it was decided the family should go back to command headquarters at Song Be.

All four shuddered when the whirling blades of the helicopter churned grass and dust as it landed to take them away.

Family Separated

At the Song Be airstrip the family was separated. The mother and children, crying now, looked back bewildered as they were taken to a jeep. The father was taken to an American field hospital. Doctors dug out the many pieces of steel embedded in his body. While he was still on the operating table, a Vietnamese intelligence man leaned over him, relaying information to an American intelligence officer beside him.

"Name, Le Van Minh; age 35; occupation farmer, he says," the interpreter reported, the wife was 28; the children 4 and 1.

"What Viet Cong squad are you in?"

The man replied he wasn't in any Viet Cong squad.

"When did you see the Viet Cong last?"

About 2 o'clock this morning, the man answered, about 30 to 40 had come to his village and then left, heading south.

Interrogation finished the bandaged man was taken to the provincial hospital at Song Be.

The U.S intelligence team went to the compound where civilian refugees are kept, to question the wife and check if she and the man told the same story.

The wife and two little boys probably will go eventually to a resettlement camp for refugees to try to start a new life in a strange place.

If things go well, the father may join them there some day.

Top Mistake Of the War?

Saigon (AP) — The United States Army in Vietnam is about to make a big mistake. It is going to ask the troops what they think of the food.

The 1st Infantry Division is testing three new types of rations.

One is a 25-man, dehydrated arrangement which offers 18 kinds of menus. Another is a long range patrol ration and the third is a ready-to-eat individual meal.

After trying this chow for a month, an Army announcement said, "The troops eating the new rations will be asked to fill out forms with their comments on the food."

Farm Prices Dip; No Aid to Housewife Yet

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Special

Washington — The prices that farmers get for hogs and cattle are going down but housewives will pay about the same for pork and beef at the grocery store for a few more months.

But the price of other foods—including broiler chickens, fresh vegetables, eggs and dairy products—may be lowered in coming weeks.

This is the view of Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of labor statistics and one of the federal government's leading authorities on living costs.

President Johnson's chief economic adviser, Gardner Ackley, is counting on food industry middlemen to pass on the savings resulting from the lower farm prices that he expects this year.

Favorable Response Hoped

A favorable response from processors and distributors could help hold down the fast-rising consumer price index, a measuring rod of inflationary trends, and allow Johnson to avoid any tax increase before the fall elections.

Chase said, however, that government price-watchers had the impression that middlemen between the farmer and the housewife were trying to fatten their profits margin after some lean times last year.

In 1965, he said, retail meat prices did not go up as fast as livestock prices, which are nearly 9% above their levels a year ago. Processing and labor costs also have risen in the meantime.

Chase thinks it's "rather unlikely" that beef and pork prices in the supermarkets will go down much before late August or September when supplies of cattle and hogs are due to increase.

Chicken Prices

In contrast, poultry dealers have expanded production of broilers in response to higher pork prices, hoping that housewives will switch to chicken. This should tend to bring down chicken prices, Chase said.

Fresh vegetables also may be cheaper. New crops are reaching the stores in quantity.

The Agriculture Dept. reported that farm prices dropped 2%, a sizeable decline, during the month ending April 15.

Lower prices to farmers for hogs and cattle, along with the normal decline in egg prices at this time of year, accounted for most of the decrease. Meat animals prices fell 4% from mid-March to mid-April. Chicken prices were down 8%.

Declines also were posted for dairy products but onions, tomatoes, potatoes, oranges, apples, grapefruit, lemons and pears were more costly.

The Labor Dept's. wholesale price index edged down one-tenth of 1% during the week ending Tuesday. Farm products and processed foods led the decline.

Study of Drugs

Washington (AP) — The government announced a new study of the effectiveness of drugs, describing it as "the most extensive—and the most significant" ever undertaken. Dr. James L. Goddard, commissioner of food and drugs, and Dr. Frederick Seitz, president of the National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council, announced NAS and NRC have agreed to undertake the evaluation of medical effectiveness of up to 4,000 drugs.

A formal plan for the review is to be prepared by the groups by June 1.

No Novices, These Bandits

Charlotte, N.C (AP) — Two gunmen who obtained a street location by telephoning police headquarters in the course of a two-hour abduction of seven persons escaped with $18,000 from a Charlotte supermarket Saturday

The bandits—one described as "fat, with a beer belly and a double chin" and the other as "skinny with a deep voice"—tied up five men and two women as they closed out their pre-dawn robbery at Park 'n Shop supermarket No. 2 on Charlotte's north side.

Thomas C. Dutton, 22, supervisor of the supermarket, and his wife were confronted by a gunman asking for the store key when thy arrived at 12:50 am. at their trailer home, five blocks from the store that had closed at midnight.

Dutton gave them the name of Tommy Cashion, 25, an assistant manager living several miles away on Dickens Avenue, who had a key.

The gunmen loaded the Duttons into a car and halted at a truck stop where one bandit telephoned police headquarters for directions to Dickens Avenue.

He then drove to the Cashion home, where the Duttons and Mrs. Cashion remained with one bandit while the other drove with Cashion to the store.

Next the gunman at the store telephoned the Cashion home and obtained the safe combination from Dutton. The bandit held a cigarette lighter as Cashion spun the dial and opened the safe.

Allied Leaders Now Accept U.S. Position

Controlled Response to Attack Of West Europe by Communists

Washington (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara returned from London Saturday convinced that Allied leaders now accept the basic U. S. position that any Communist attack on West Europe should be met by a carefully controlled response—rather than automatic use of nuclear weapons.

Sources pictured McNamara as elated that, for the first time, the just-concluded London talks on NATO nuclear strategy produced a meeting of the minds between the United States and both the defense ministers and military chiefs of key NATO countries.

But this elation turned to dismay, sources indicated, when McNamara read published reports saying he had proposed a drastic change in the basic U.S. position.

Those reports said the United States proposed a new policy which would junk the carefully measured response and substitute an automatic, though limited, nuclear reply to any attacks on NATO territory.

McNamara was asked at the airport whether any new nuclear strategy is in the works for NATO. He replied

"Certainly not as a result of our discussions of the last few days."

And soon thereafter the Defense Department, obviously under McNamara's orders, rushed out a statement saying the reports of a change "are not correct."

At no time and in no way did the United States propose a change in the use of nuclear weapons in defense of NATO territory," the statement said.

"Secretary McNamara emphasized again, as he has before, the belief of the United States government that NATO must possess both non-nuclear and nuclear forces adequate to deal with a wide range of threats with the power appropriate to each."

Campaigns Near End in Alabama

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—The crucial big city vote was the principal target Saturday for major gubernatorial candidates in Tuesday's Alabama Democratic primary election.

Jefferson County (Birmingham), which has nearly twice as many registered voters as any other in the state with approximately 234,000, caught the oratorical pleas for support from Lurleen Wallace, Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers and ex-Congressman Carl Elliott.

The two other major candidates, former Gov John Patterson and state Sen. Bob Gilchrist, stumped populous north and east central Alabama.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr told a church rally in Tuscaloosa, "I certainly don't need to tell you who not to vote for. I don't think there is a Negro in the state of Alabama who is going to vote for Sister Wallace." The crowd roared with laughter and applause at King's remarks. It was King's 12th stop on a tour to get out the Negro vote for the primary.

The campaign featuring Gov. George Wallace's attempt to get his wife elected as a stand-in candidate and the impact of the vastly increased Negro vote ends Monday.

New Birth Control Pill Discovery Announced

Chicago (AP) — A revolutionary "morning after" birth control pill that can be taken as late as six days after intercourse has been successful in experimental studies, the American Fertility Society was told Saturday.

Progress on scoring a breakthrough with a "retroactive pill" was announced by Drs. John M. Morris and Gertrude Van Wagenen of the Yale University School of Medicine.

They said the drugs tested were effective in preventing pregnancy in rabbits, rhesus monkeys and in limited clinical trials with women.

Their pill reverses the pill-intercourse sequence of birth control pills now in general use. The currently available pills must be taken daily, before intercourse. They prevent the occurrence of ovulation, or release of the egg from the ovary.

The Yale University pill prevents implantation of the ovum, or female sex cell, in the womb. Implantation normally takes place on the sixth or seventh day after the ovum is fertilized by the male sex cell.

Aid to Syria

Beirut, Lebanon (UPI) — The Soviet Union is giving Syria a $150 million loan "without any strings attached" to finance a high dam on the River Euphrates, Premier Youssef Zayyen announced on his return from what he termed "highly successful" visits to the Soviet Union and Bulgaria.

Federal Agents Scout Polling

Washington (AP)—Federal observers probably will be sent into several Alabama counties Monday to assure compliance with the 1965 Voting Rights Act in Tuesday's Democratic primary, a Justice Dept. spokesman said.

Attorneys from the department's civil rights division made the rounds of about 20 counties in Alabama this weekend. On the basis of their findings, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach will decide where federal observers should be sent to scrutinize polling practices when balloting begins.

American Farmers Abroad

The means by which the United States can contribute to the world-wide War on Hunger have been pretty well laid out by the administration in President Johnson's Food for Freedom program

• • •

This would call for some step-up in the shipment of surplus American food to foreign countries unable to feed their own people. But the main thrust of the program apparently will be through U. S. assistance to the self-help efforts of the foreign countries themselves.

• • •

Assistance from this country would be in the form of agricultural experts, similar to Agricultural Extension Service personnel in this country, plus supplies of fertilizer, farm machinery and other modern agricultural tools

Both the technical know-how and the equipment and supplies are essential if agricultural production in the under-developed countries is to be expanded appreciably.

It would seem, though, that there is one additional ingredient that the United States might supply to very good advantage in teaching modern farming methods to backward people.

• • •

This is some honest-to-goodness dirt farmers who could set up actual farming operations in those countries to serve as demonstration plots for the local populace. Agriculturalists in this country have learned that no matter how valuable the technical advisers might be, there is no substitute for putting new innovations into practice so that farmers can see the operations and the results for themselves.

• • •

It so happens that at the same time many nations of the world have a shortage of skilled food producers, the United States has a surplus. Many men in this country would dearly love to have a chance to operate or continue to operate their own farms. But the combination of over-production and more efficient, automated methods makes it impossible for everyone who would like to farm to actually do so.

What we're suggesting then is some kind of an arrangement between this country and under-developed nations whereby practicing, experienced American farmers could set up full-scale farming operations in those nations.

• • •

The output would be available to the people of those countries through their regular marketing channels. At the same time, the farming operations could be observed by native farmers who, with the assistance of technicians and instructors, would be encouraged to establish the same practices.

It would require an arrangement for the American farmer to have the use of an adequate amount of land, by lease or perhaps even purchase, for a period of, say, five years or more. It would require some kind of underwriting by the U.S. and the foreign government to guarantee that the U. S. farmer could not lose his investment in machinery, etc., due to factors beyond his control.

It would require that the U.S. farmer be given a reasonable opportunity to make a profit on his operation. And it would certainly require that the farmers from this country who would engage in this project have some knowledge of and feeling for the people of the country in which he would be farming.

But if these and other details could be worked out, this might be the fastest, most expedient means to help the food-poor countries leapfrog centuries of backwardness and launch a modern agricultural enterprise.

It also might provide the best possible means of impressing on those people the value of a free enterprise, profit-motivated economy as the only feasible method of providing food for their hungry masses.

• • •

The Lincoln Journal would encourage a thorough examination of this idea by government and private leaders concerned about the future foods supply of the world.

Huge Responsibility for Voters

On May 10 Lincoln voters will be handed a huge responsibility.

• • •

They will be asked to give their opinions on 18 changes in their city charter, the people's basic grant of power to their governing officials.

• • •

These 18 amendments are the result of an estimated 3,600 man-hours of intensive study and discussion by 19 diversified members of the community, plus careful consideration by the mayor and City Council.

The 18 changes represent the very best judgment of the 19 members of the Charter Revision Committee, people with broad experience in government and a deep dedication to the future of Lincoln.

Unfortunately, there has been no organized effort by Lincoln citizens to inform voters why the Charter Revision Committee feels these changes are important. But this does not relieve voters from the responsibility of examining the issues themselves.

To help in this assignment, The Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star today includes a special supplement devoted to the text, explanations and background of the amendments.

• • •

We urge everyone who intends to vote a week from Tuesday to avail themselves of this opportunity to become informed on these vital issues.

Latest Tourist Fashions

Washington—The new summer fashions for American tourists visiting Washington have just been released and from all indications the clothes are going to be more formal than in previous years.

The source of this information was Sophie Glutz, the famous Washington tourist fashion expert, who said, "It appears now that women will be wearing mere stretch pants than Bermuda shorts when visiting the public monuments."

Buchwald

"How do you explain it?" I asked.

"I guess they've all been influenced by Lady Bird's beautification program."

"Does this mean that women tourists visiting this town will no longer be wearing blue jeans and sweat shirts?"

"Oh, I wouldn't rule that out completely.

"Is it true that the short shorts are out?"

"They are after four o'clock. Of course, many tourists will still visit the White House, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials in short shorts, but we're recommending longer shorts for the Senate and House of Representatives.

"What about dresses and suits for women?"

• • •

"Heaven forbid. A woman tourist wouldn't be seen dead in a dress or suit. All the other tourists would laugh at her."

All Times Make Demands

Within the past ten years, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has become a household word. It stands as a reasoned voice on the side of equal opportunity for the Negro, on the side of an enlightened public concept of civil rights.

But how far back does the average person remember the NAACP? Chances are that most people would consider it a recently formed organization to cope with the problems of educational and employment discrimination that came to the fore during the administration of former Pres. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Not so much a household word is the name of Clarence Darrow. There are still those around, of course, who recall the last active days of this famed lawyer, and his death was fairly recent—1938.

• • •

But Darrow was a man of the first half of this century, one unknown to the present generation except to the extent they might have read about him. Yet, Darrow was a member of the NAACP since its inception.

• • •

The fact is that the NAACP grew out of a social and economic reform council of 1909. Its longevity and the life of Darrow attest to the fact "the times" have never known any rest and probably never will.

Darrow's life is the subject of a series, 'Anatomy of Change: The Great Innovators", appearing in the March issue of News Front magazine. Darrow was a railroad management lawyer who later became the champion of organized labor.

• • •

Throughout his career, he furthered the cause of one unpopular concept after another. He was perhaps the great liberal of his day.

• • •

Two cases were outstanding in his career, one for its notoriety and one for the principles involved. The former was his defense of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for their 1924 "thrill" slaying of a 14-year-old boy.

The latter was again as a defense lawyer in the famous Scopes case, popularly known in its day as the "Monkey Trial". Thomas Scopes was a young Tennessee teacher who challenged that state's law against the Teaching of evolution.

Darrow ultimately won the case, being pitted against Nebraska's equally famed William Jennings Bryan. While highly unorthodox and tremendously controversial, Darrow was one of the answers of his day to many of the social, economic and political problems that troubled the nation.

• • •

If one quote could describe him, it might be this, from New Front: "He was a Christian by example and behavior, an agnostic by intellectual conviction, an irreverent person by nature. While he was visiting Palestine, an Arab boatman offered to row him to the spot where Jesus had walked upon the waters—for a fee of $15.

" 'No wonder Jesus walked,' murmured Darrow."

Mao: Future God of Red China

Provocative EDITORIAL — Topic in News FEATURE

By WILLIAM L. RYAN, AP

The small group of aged men who run Red China's huge Communist party appears to have disposed of the problem of who will succeed to the mantle of Mao Tze-tung.

Evidently, nobody will.

Whether the 72-year-old chairman of the Communist party is sick or well, alive or dead, does not seem to matter. His superannuated colleagues in the inner circle of the ruling Politburo already have transformed him into a sort of Red Buddha, a legend, an infallible giver of Marxist-Leninist wisdom whose "thinking" supposedly is enough to rule the vast land without his physical presence. There will be a new chairman, but not another Mao.

No one man succeeded Joseph Stalin in the Soviet Union. No one man will succeed Mao in China. But the similarity of succession in the two big Red nations is likely to end there.

In many western capitals, the big question is: What will Red China be like after the present leaders have passed from the scene? There is the hope — and there is evidence that some foreign policy decisions are based on it — that China will follow the road taken by the Soviet Union from revolutionary fervor to a more moderate stance on world affairs.

Some observers have claimed the same forces that changed the Kremlin—a desire for a better life by the peasant and city dweller, a disappearance of the revolutionary spirit in a younger generation — might be at work in Red China, too.

But Soviet history has been daubed with the blood of purges, punctuated by grim power struggles. China's Communists have been ruled by the same men for four decades, and Red China by the same small group since it became a Communist nation 16 years ago.

Today a Politburo of 16 members whose average age is 66 seems to have been persuaded that it is not immortal, that its members, like other human beings, are going to die.

The Politburo is engaged in a vast campaign which seems aimed at insuring that the Communist Revolution in China will not follow the example of the Russians. The tenor of all this suggests that even should Mao die and his death be announced, there would be little perceptible change in Peking, at least so long as the old men of the Politburo retain their authority.

And the old men seem to be seeking insurance that younger men will affirm that "the anti-imperialist struggle must be fought through to the end."

There has been no evidence of any effort on the leaders' part to raise new and outstanding leaders to places of prominence. The younger generation has been virtually sealed off from the outside world; some apparently have been tainted by Western ideas and ideas emanating from what Peking calls "the modern revisionists" of the Soviet Union.

Young people, the Chinese party has announced, and particularly intellectuals must "rinse away their non-proletarian ideology."

To the Chinese leaders, revisionism means creeping capitalism and various other sorts of wrong-thinking. If this is to be avoided, the party says, young intellectuals from the cities must be sent to the farms and factories to do manual labor and ready themselves for "a long and arduous struggle" to "complete the Socialist Revolution."

The party announces it is determined to stamp out "bourgeois individualism" and promote among young people what it calls "proletarian collectivism."

To do this, they must diligently study Mao's works and be guided in all things by "the glorious flag of Mao Tze-tung's thoughts." Each word of Mao, says the propaganda, is worth 10,000 words from anybody else; each Mao sentence worth 10,000 other sentences. Mao is "the acme of Marxism-Leninism in our time, the peak of creative development of Marxism-Leninism." Mao, in effect, has become a godhead with a cult.

There is no clear evidence now of any struggle for power in Red China. But there is evidence of differences of opinion at lower levels and of party worry about the future role of the armed forces in Chinese politics.

Thus, there is yet another propaganda drive in progress, this one aimed at the armed forces, which is told that the party must always predominate.

China already has changed Communism to fit its own peculiarities.

What the Chinese party has—and what the Soviet party never really had—is a true collective of equals at the top, under Mao. All the top men were with Mao since the early days, served with him through the long march of the mid-1930s and through the revolutionary war against Chiang Kai-Shek.

The Chinese party's last Politburo election was in May, 1958, when the ruling body had 20 members. Now it has 16. Three died, one was dropped. Vacancies will be filled from the 200-member central committee by men in their 50s and 60s. These, too, are removed from the younger generation, and the new blood being infused into the leadership in reality is old blood.

The real rulers of Red China are seven men who make up the "standing committee" or inner circle of the Politburo, headed by Mao. These are Liu Shao Chi, chairman of the government, who is 68; Chu Teh, 80, chairman of the National People's Congress; Premier Chou En-lai, 68, the head of the government; Defense Minister Lin Piao, only 58 and a powerful figure who lays down the law of army subservience to the party, but he is often reported ill; Teng Hsiao-ping, 64, general secretary of the party, and Chen Yun, a vice premier and political watchdog over the army who himself was in trouble in 1958 for opposing the "great leap forward" program.

If the present leadership of the party has its way, the younger generation will have a long wait before it succeeds to power.

People's Daily recently noted that some abroad were hoping that in China there would be the same sort of "peaceful evolution" which was induced in Russia by the "freaks and monsters" who came to power after Stalin.

"Those who are placing their hopes on the younger generation of Chinese," it said, "are daydreaming."

Property Values

Crete—Your editorial "Taxes in the Campaign," (Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star, April 24) has prompted my reply. It appears necessary to question your statements, and I quote:

"The truth is that actual protection of property is one of the very minor functions of government today. This purpose is served by the police and fire protection provided by the local government—actually a small part of the work of the smaller spending segments of government. The real tax-using functions, such as education, have nothing to do with protecting property."

The State Highway Patrol, the courts of justice, the regulation of insurance companies, banks, public utilities and even the Department of Agriculture which regulates quality of many items from gasoline to seeds—all are protectors of property values.

Education is exactly for the purpose of improving the value of property. Any investment in property amidst an illiterate society depreciates very rapidly. This is the real problem in underdeveloped countries.

Even in the United States, property in Harlem or Watts is worth less than in an area surrounded by a well-educated society.

Even certain welfare efforts aid in the protection and enhancement of property values. The object is to erase the blight of slums from our midst—to elevate the value which individuals place on themselves

The concept of property as a standard of judgment has served us well in the past. It should be continued, until we can conceive of a better one.

Government Courses

Crete — In the November 8, 1965, issue of the Lincoln newspapers this statement was printed:

"Our country has too many masters at magnifying the magic of money in government and education, and a shortage of servants who are concerned about the basic needs."

The Sunday Journal and Star (April 10) proves the truth of this statement by heralding "$29½ years of courses" in the Lincoln high schools.

Determination of basic needs is vital to the survival of public education — and taxpayers. Neither state legislatures nor Congress can appropriate sufficient funds to meet demands of the masters, nor to teach everything that pedants will prescribe—nor to teach anything proficiently unless restrictions are placed on the theories of psychology in theories of methodology that are now required study for the qualification of teachers.

With fervent but vain hope that it would be refuted, this statement was likewise printed:

"There are no practical and adequate courses for the study and teaching of government in our grade schools and high schools, and there are few qualified teachers of government."

Nation-wide refutation of that statement is our country's most critical need in education. My research reveals excellence in the teaching of many other subjects within and without our educational institutions.

Superintendents

Hastings—Every spring reports come in of injustices and "unprofessional" supervision when it's time for school teachers to be offered contracts. Much of the trouble is due to an inadequate or incompatible superintendent.

Discipline is a much-vaunted element in our schools. Almost everyone, from teachers down to kindergarteners, subject to it, except the superintendent, often the highest paid of all local public employes.

He stands haughtily above the voters who discipline the county superintendent at election time.

Superintendents often become buddy-buddy with school board members in order that these members shield them from contact and the discipline of dissatisfied patrons and voters.

A Nebraska law permits voters to ballot to "continue" or "change" such highly professionalized and important officials as our district judges. A similar law should permit voters to direct school boards to "continue" or "change" the city superintendent they have employed.

Nebraska's Fourth Estate

Taxation, county consolidation and Communist infiltration caught the editorial eye of Nebraska newspapers this week.

Terming Nebraska's required loyalty oath "a more or less hysterical reaction to the Communist infiltration scare", the Falls City Journal suggests it be done away with.

"The loyalty oath is based on the mistaken premise that it can keep Communists out of teaching," the editorial said. "But from a practical standpoint, no hard-core Communist would have any qualms about taking the oath and ignoring it."

"A careful screening can keep Communists out of teaching professions," the paper concluded. "The so-called loyalty oath can't."

The Keith County News (Ogallala) is "not recommending county mergers", but pointed out that signs of such consolidation are already in evidence.

"Counties are already going together to provide county engineers," the paper noted. "The same could be done with county judges and perhaps other offices . . . qualified prosecutors could be hired to serve several counties—and at less cost than for several individual county attorneys."

County consolidation will be achieved at a slower pace than national integration or Nebraska school consolidation, the paper predicts. "Its advocates will be about as popular as coyotes in a sheep pasture."

The Scottsbluff Star-Herald took issue with the state's household goods tax, saying, "The amount of property overlooked or forgotten at assessment time could be great. Furthermore, not all people approach the assessment task with the same attitude. And, a result is that the state's much-abused goal of equity in taxation is subjected to a severe buffeting."

All of this points to the fact, concluded the editorial, "that we should consider dropping the household goods tax from our tax arsenal."

Transportation Bill

Washington—In theory, a Department of Transportation is a fine idea, but getting from theory to fulfillment is like riding old No. 97. It's a long, long way from Lynchburg to Danville.

This became embarrassingly evident a month ago. Johnson's aides prepared a fine bill, S3010, and sent it up to the Hill for Washington's Warren G. Magnuson to put in the hopper. But when Magnuson presented the bill before the Government Operations Committee, it became clear that the voice was the voice of Jacob, but the hands were the hands of Esau. The senator suggested, not to put too fine a point upon it, that his own bill would need a whole lot of work.

James Kilpatrick on Issues — EDITORIAL FEATURE

The key section of the bill, as introduced, is Section 6. This would transfer to the new Department of Transportation, first off, all those functions under the Department of Commerce that hitherto have been managed chiefly by the Bureau of Public Roads: highway construction in Alaska, the National Driver Register Service, and the Highway Beautification Act of 1965 (a real headache, that one).

Minor Functions

The second sub-section of Section 6 proposes to transfer the Coast Guard, except in time of war, to the new department. The third sub-section would transfer the Federal Aviation Agency, and the fourth, the Civil Aeronautics Board. Under Section 6: (e), the Interstate Commerce Commission would have all its functions, powers, and duties transferred, save only for those which amount to anything, and especially those functions that relate to safety appliances, boiler inspection, block signals, and mail cars.

• • •

The administration's bill then transfers all those functions, powers and duties of the Secretary of the Army under the various Rivers and Harbors Acts, save only, again, for those functions that truly matter; and the bill then moves along to Section 7, authorizing the new secretary of transportation to fix certain "standards and criteria" for the investment of federal funds in transportation projects of the future.

• • •

One of the great moments in the consideration of this bill came a few weeks ago before the House Government Operations Committee, which had been blessed with an identical bill (HR 13200), in the testimony of Lt. Gen. William F. Cassidy, Chief of Engineers, U.S. Army. He sat erect as a plebe at breakfast, stars gleaming, a venetian blind of ribbons on his chest.

Opinion Analysis Of Author

Did you ever see a man literally smiling through his teeth? That was Gen. Cassidy. He thought —grrrr—that a Department of Transportation "would be in the national interest," and the Corps of Engineers would be delighted to yield its authority over the clearance of certain bridges and the fixing of certain tolls. But as for Section 7, the general wanted some understandings on the record.

• • •

Don't Hold Your Breath

So far as navigation projects were concerned, the phrase "standards and criteria" was not to apply to the Corps of Engineers. "At no place in the bill is there language which would transfer to the new department responsibility for evaluating or reporting upon water resource developments." If the bill were enacted, the Corps of Engineers would be pleased to acknowledge the existence of the new department. But the proposed legislation "would give the Department of Transportation no special status in this regard."

• • •

Gen. Cassidy was followed to the stand by William F. McKee, administrator of the FAA, who gritted out a statement of support. Charles L. Schultze, director of the budget, a man with nothing to lose, gave the bill a warm endorsement. John T. Connor, Secretary of Commerce, added his plug. The hearings were a bore.

• • •

For elsewhere on the Hill, the word was going around that the truckers would have to be assured of this, and the barge operators wanted to be assured of that, and the rail carriers asked the simultaneous adoption of various user fees. The airlines were skeptical; the shipowners rather liked the Maritime Commission as it stands; and if the Bureau of Public Roads is to be transferred, its director would have to be guaranteed his independence.

Don't hold your breath on this bill. All that Johnson got in his Department of Housing and Urban Development were four walls, a leaky roof, and a floor. He will be lucky if he gets out of his Department of Transportation one seagoing ship, two barges, three trucks, and a twinkle in Cassidy's eye.

Strategy Change

North Sends Regulars To Fight in Place of VC

Saigon (AP)—Strategists in North Vietnam appear to be exerting more control than ever over Communist conduct of the war in South Vietnam.

While Hanoi's active role in the fighting has been accepted as a fact of life, there is a feeling in high places here that the Viet Cong and its political arm, the National Liberation Front, are being shunted aside more and more.

Some evidence of this is seen in numbers themselves.

There's a belief in Saigon that infiltration of regular North Vietnamese forces into South Vietnam this month may total 7,000 men. Estimates of the monthly rate have been put at 5,500 since the first of the year, an increase of 1,000 men a month over previous months.

American authorities say they are reasonably certain that more than 20,000 North Vietnamese have entered South Vietnam since Jan. 1 to join the fight.

Other evidence of increasing control from the north is found in reports that it is becoming more difficult to distinguish now between regular North Vietnamese units and Viet Cong main force units. The North Vietnamese are shown to be meeting attrition in their ranks by bringing in local recruits. The Viet Cong are known to be including more and more North Vietnamese in their troops.

The loss rate among Communist forces killed and captured in the south is put at 12,000 to 15,000 men a month. Despite this rate American officials say there seems to be no shortage of manpower from North Vietnam.

Intensive efforts are being made to arm the Communist main forces with heavy weapons to make them more of a match for U.S. units. But, once equipped with such armament, the Communist units become less mobile and have greater difficulty in concealing themselves.

However, it is believed that the next few weeks will find the Communists trying for what are termed "substantial initiatives" during the so-called monsoon offensive.

Moonsoon Overrated

There are those who feel too much significance is attached to the effect of the rains. They point out that in earlier years the Communists have launched major offensives in the dry season as well.

American officers concede that the monsoon brings periods when there is difficulty delivering bombs on target and helicopter operations may at times be hampered.

Eggzhausting

WIREPHOTO

Hilda, a nine-month-old while leghorn hen, casts a baleful eye at the super-sized egg she produced, apparently questioning whether it was worth the effort. The egg, held by Hilda's owner in Hagerstown, Md., measures nine inches in circumference and weighs eight ounces. Inside, in addition to a yolk and white, another perfect egg was found.

Hungarians Lose Out

Munich, Germany — If Michael Gyarmati had only stayed home, there would be lovely nudes dancing on every stage in Budapest today.

That was the sad conclusion reached by Radio Budapest in a variety show monitored by Radio Free Europe, which poked satiric fun at Hungarian habits and life under communism.

Lamenting the loss of Hungarians who became famous after emigrating, the program mentioned Gyarmati, founder of the Follies Bergere in Paris.

If a city such as Paris can rake in so many tourist dollars with nude women, said Radio Budapest, "What a shame it is that a country like ours, which is so short of raw materials, surrendered this superb money-maker to the French."

Commissioner Howe: Desegregation Battle Confusing

By JAMES K. BATTEN
Chicago Daily News Special Washington — Harold Howe II was just back from an errand at the White House, and now he puffed on a fat cigar and talked about the angry controversy over school desegregation guidelines.

Yes, he said, he was sure plenty of his Southern friends had spoken harshly of him since he left the Learning Institute of North Carolina last December to take on the sticky assignment as U.S. Commissioner of Education.

Just the same, he said, it is "exciting" to have a hand in helping "reshape a portion of our society" so that "a person's race shall make no difference to his opportunities." And, he added wryly, "you learn a lot about government."

The subject matter for Howe's crash course in government, federal-style, is the political storm stirred by the 1966 school desegregation guidelines issued under his authority by the U.S. Office of Education.

Those guidelines, which require Southern schools to integrate their faculties and step up pupil desegregation, have been denounced by Southern Congressmen on Capitol Hill and by politicians and school officials across the South.

Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), who is campaigning for re-election against a Republican whose segregationist views are equally vehement, has even demanded that Howe be fired.

If all this political heat makes the strapping 47-year-old educator think of backing off, he gives no sign.

"There are many who believe we are taking too long about it (desegregation)," he said. "We get about as much fire back from that direction" as from white Southerners.

Howe points out that the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which forbids use of federal funds to support segregated schools, explicitly stated that "desegregation" did not mean "the assignment of students to public schools in order to overcome racial imbalance."

Howe admits that the probable persistence of the all-Negro school in some areas worries him. But he concedes that the law gives him no weapons to move on this specific problem.

Much of the confusion about the intent of the 1966 guidelines, he explained, stems from the use of percentages to suggest what increases in pupil desegregation might indicate compliances with current federal policy.

For example, the guidelines say that if 8 or 9% of a school system's Negroes transferred out of segregated schools last year, a doubling of that rate "would normally be expected" in 1966.

"As soon as you mention the word 'percentage,' " Howe said, "you automatically raise in people's minds . . . the idea that you require integration in some broad, across-the-board sense, or you are developing some racial balance theory.

"I think it's very easy to confuse this with a theory of forced integration or a theory of racial balance. But I don't think this is what it is."

Actually, Howe continued, the percentages are simply intended to help federal officials and local school officials to recognize situations that should be looked into.

Pentagon Opposes Declaration of War

Washington (UPI)—The Defense Dept. has told Congress it is opposed to any U.S. declaration of war against North Vietnam.

A statement listing six international and two domestic considerations against such a declaration was given to the Senate's Armed Services and Appropriations committees by Defense Sec. Robert S. McNamara. The text of these hearings have just been made public.

The statement argued that such a step was not necessary under law, and that the President could act to fight Communist aggression in Vietnam under his constitutional authority.

But the statement's key points were these:

"To declare war would add a new psychological element to the international situation, since in this century declarations of war have come to imply dedication to the total destruction of the enemy."

It added that "such a declaration would question the continued validity of the President's statements concerning his desire for a peaceful settlement allowing the various nations of the area, including North Vietnam, to live together in economic cooperation, and his reiteration that we do not threaten the existence of North Vietnam.

"On balance a declaration of war—which would be the first since the signing of the United Nations charter—would significantly reduce the flexibility of the United States to seek a solution among extremely complex factors and reduce the chances that our adversary will take a reasoned approach to a solution, when U.S. policy from the beginning has attempted to avoid closing off any possible avenue of resolution and to make the North Vietnamese more rather than less rational in the situation."

The question arose in the hearings when Sen. Milton R. Young, R-N.D., told McNamara he had received much mail on the subject.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has consistently argued that if the United Stats is to have a legal presence in South Vietnam, it should declare formal war on the north.

Shuman, in a speech, said "President Johnson has attempted to meet the needs of a costly war while continuing to greatly expand welfare and other non-defense expenditures, feeding the fires of inflation."

4 Die in Fire

Brockton, Mass. (UPI)—Four persons were killed and six other injured Saturday when a fire of mysterious origin gutted a three-story business and apartment block on the outskirts of the downtown area.

GALLUP POLL

Protestants Favor One Large Church

By GEORGE GALLUP

Discussions begin tomorrow in Dallas of a church merger plan which could lead to the creation of the largest Protestant church in the world.

In an early measurement of the reaction of Protestant men and women across the nation to the plan, the Gallup Poll finds a widespread lack of awareness of the proposed merger. At the same time, opinion leans toward the favorable side among Protestants who have heard or read about the plan.

Favorable reaction is considerably greater (2-to-1) among persons in those denominations now being considered in the merger.

The plan was drafted by a commission headed by the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, general secretary of the World Council of Churches. The proposal is to unite eight major denominations (with 23 million members) into one church in the next five to 13 years.

In addition to the Methodist, United Presbyterian, and Episcopal Churches, these five churches would be included: the Disciples of Christ, United Church of Christ, African Methodist Episcopal Church, Evangelical United Brethren, and the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

The united church, as envisioned in the plan, would initially be a federation of these eight denominations, under a provisional central council. Local churches would have wide freedom to continue their traditional worship practices.

Here is what the Gallup Poll found:

1. Somewhat less than half of all Protestants interviewed—45%—say they have heard or read about the plan.

2. But among those who have, opinion is on the favorable side. Forty-one percent of the Protestant rank-and-file say they would like to see the plan go into effect, against 36% who are opposed. Twenty-three percent reserve judgment at this time.

Of most immediate significance are the views of members of denominations presently being considered in the merger. Here support for the plan is 2-to-1 in favor (55% to 27% opposed, with 18% no opinion.)

Catholics, Jews, and other non-Protestants apparently anticipate no challenge in such a merger, and among those who know of the plan, views are favorable by the ratio of 4-to-1.

3. Sponsors of the plan are hopeful that the proposed merger will go into effect in the next five to 13 years. About one Protestant in five thinks the plan will come about within the next five years. Persons in the denominations being considered in the present plan have approximately the same expectations.

4. Persons who cite advantages of the proposed plan often speak in general terms—"There is strength in unity;" "There is one God, so there should be one church;" "Such a merger would promote better understanding."

Others see certain practical advantages—"a reduction in costs," "better administration."

Persons citing disadvantages hold that "the beliefs of the denominations are too different to permit unification;" that "the individual denominations would lose their distinctiveness;" and that such a union of churches would create "a great deal of bickering and ill-feeling."

Buried Brain Eyes Communist Actions

Birkenfeld, Germany (UPI)—Buried deep under a hill in a heavily-forested area near this German village, a giant electronic brain maintains constant watch to the east for possible Communist attack.

The $100 million installation, whose radar eyes and ears operate within a stone's throw of the Iron Curtain, is a vital key in Western Europe's defense.

Fantastically complex, the computerized "brain" keeps round-the-clock, up-to-the-second tabs on all air activity along the line dividing East and West — Communist and free — Germany.

Any hostile movement of East German or Russian planes or missiles across the West German border would be seen immediately and U.S. Air Force or other NATO planes could be scrambled to intercept the enemy within seconds.

De Gaulle Interested

Even French President Charles de Gaulle is disinclined to pull out of the NATO command under which the warning apparatus operates.

The elaborate sky-scanning unit, known as the "412L Air Weapons Control System," strategically located in the center of NATO's first line of defense running north and south through Germany, is operated by the U.S. 86th Air Defense Division.

Huge radar antennas turn constantly along the Communist border at seven locations, identifying and tracking everything in the air and relaying the data to control center in a never-ending stream.

At central control, Allied Sector 3 at Erbeskopf, Germany near here, the radar signals become aircraft images moving across a massive plexiglass screen. Communist planes show up with red crescents over them.

This close to possible trouble, the tension shows. Alert, no-nonsense security guards check and re-check the identity tags and passes of everyone attempting to enter the underground nerve center.

412L Brain

Once inside, the carefully-screened and rarely-admitted visitor passes through a series of tunnels and rooms humming with elements of the 412L brain and finally stands in the big gallery dominated by the large screen.

Across the political border, a few hundred miles away, a Mig fighter plane rises from an East German air field, heading north and west.

An American Air Force officer points a long, tubular instrument like a king-sized flashlight at the image and pushes a button.

Beneath and to the left of the big screen, a smaller screen becomes illuminated and information about the Mig starts appearing — its identity, its speed, its altitude, where it is from and the direction in which it is headed.

Like a TV election board, the figures keep changing as the image moves across the screen and become updated to within two seconds of actual status.

The Mig moved on up to the south air corridor into Berlin and started shadowing an American airliner flying toward the divided city.

"That's just a normal flight for the Reds," the colonel said. "He may do some harassing but it's routine for the Migs to stay about a quarter-mile behind our planes in the corridor.

Famed Flying Fortress Fights Flames

Seattle (UPI)—The Boeing B17, that "wing and a prayer" bomber which contributed so much to victory in World War II, still hasn't breathed her last.

The Flying Fortress still sees action in fire fighting operations, pest control, aerial surveying, cargo hauling, aerial exhibitions and research and development work.

Bob Sturges of Troutdale, Ore., who rightly could be called the "stepfather of the B17," estimates about 150 of the planes are still flying. At last count he said 25 were in use in the United States.

"The rest are scattered all over the world," he said. "There are about 35 in South America and quite a few in France and northern Africa."

Sturges, 49, operator of Columbia Airmotive, is the main supplier of B17 parts and is in a position to keep track of the trustworthy old four-engine bombers he came to love as a Boeing engineer in the 1940s.

Parts Supply

"I guess I supply about 99% of the parts for them now," Sturges said. "Hardly a day goes by that we don't get an order for something. When we get down to one of any part, then we try to figure out a way to manufacture it. So far we're doing all right.

The plane was developed by the Boeing Co. here in 1935 and later was adopted by the Army Air Corps, predecessor of the Air Force. By the time the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, 60 Forts per month were rolling off the production lines. The air corps made arrangements for Douglas and Vega (now Lockheed) to participate in building the planes and in all, 12,731 of them were turned out.

The airplane was described by Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold as "the backbone of our world-wide aerial offensive."

By present day standards, the Flying Fortress is a relatively small plane, but in its day it was very big indeed, in size and in accomplishment. It has a wingspan of 103 feet and is just under 75 feet long. Its top speed is listed at 350 m.p.h. and its ceiling at 38,000 feet. Nearly 10 tons of bombs could be crammed aboard. However, on bombing missions the planes usually carried about three tons of bombs at about 150 miles an hour and at about 30,000 feet.

Construction Halt Putting Economic Cramp on Lincoln

BY LLOYD MacDOWELL

Lincoln's construction work stoppage is costing the city's economy about $70,000 per week in payroll alone, according to John Miller, president of the Building Construction Employers Assn.

But the economic impact on the community does not stop there, he said. It extends to suppliers—brickyards, gravel companies, lumber dealers, concrete companies—for almost an equal amount.

Most of the projects being held up are buildings being financed by public funds the University of Nebraska's School of Music building, Dental College building and stadium; East High School; Lincoln General Hospital, and the new fire department headquarters at 18th and Q st.

Also being delayed are the Elks Club building, the Norden Laboratories building and the Journal-Star addition.

Miller said if workers are all back on the job in the next week or two there will be no problem in completing the stadium in time for the first NU home football game.

60 Days 'Too Long'

If the work stoppage should continue 60 days, he said, it would be an almost impossible task.

Target date for completion of the East High complex is 15 months away, and Miller declined to speculate on how long the strike could continue without changing that date.

Swimming pools at Woods Park and Belmont are some five or six weeks from completion according to architect John Olson. Scheduled for use the first week in June, delays in construction will postpone opening dates by that much.

The "warm-up" pool at Woods Park is a virtual must for the AAU swimming meet in August, but could be completed in time if the work stoppage ends by July 1.

For unions are currently not working pending further contract negotiations — carpenters, bricklayers, cement masons and operating engineers.

Can't Do Much

Although only the four unions are now off the job, other crafts are unable to do much until work of the four is caught up.

Biggest bone of contention in labor-management negotiations, according to Miller, is the subcontractors clause — sometimes referred to as a "subsidiary" clause — which he says it is impossible for the BCEA to give.

The subcontractors clause would make the prime contractors require that all subcontractors abide by the terms of the prime contractors' agreements.

Miller cited two reasons why the BCEA cannot give in on the matter of the subcontractors clause:

—Subcontract work does not always require the same kind of skill as the prime contract work.

—Bid-letting deadlines seldom allow time for negotiating all the contract details that would be required with subcontractors.

In the matter of kinds of skills, Miller pointed to cement finishing, which would be a different kind of work on the floors of a building done by the prime contractor and on walks or paving done by a subcontractor.

'Couldn't Enforce It'

"We just couldn't enforce such a clause," Miller said.

After a fruitless six-hour session with the carpenters Friday, he said the union and the BCEA were further apart than they had been a week ago.

Although there is speculation that the operating engineers will be back on the job Monday, Miller said the BCEA has no more negotiating meetings now scheduled.

Prospects of bringing the federal government into the local picture appeared with Miller's statement that "The contractors are considering filing an unfair labor practice charge against the carpenters . . ."

". . . If it takes government action to remedy this deplorable situation," he said, "we are prepared to go to the National Labor Relations Board."

Construction on the $350,000 sanctuary at Sheridan Lutheran Church, 37th and Sheridan, is one of the projects held up by labor disputes.

Albion Man Is Victim

Traffic Fatalities	1966	1965

Spalding (#) — A head-on crash west of Spalding took the life of James Foster, 47, of rural Albion, Saturday.

Authorities said Foster was the driver of a car which was in collision on Nebraska Highway 91 with a vehicle driven by Michael F. Haggerty, 18, of Spalding.

Haggerty and a passenger in his car, Dennis Sullivan, 18, of Spalding were listed in fair condition at Grand Island and Spalding hospitals and Foster's wife, Florence, 15, was in fair condition at Spalding.

Nebraska Road Conditions Aren't 'Out of the Mud'

By DEL SNODGRASS

Test question:

"Nebraska has more than 100,000 miles of state highways, county roads and city streets. Some are paved, some are graveled but some are still dirt surfaced. What percentage would you say are still dirt? 10%? 25%? 35%? 50%?"

Go to the head of the class if you said 35%.

Depending on where you live in Nebraska or how much traveling you do on country roads, that percentage (35.2%, to be exact) may sound low or high.

But in a modern age when motorists are demanding more and more paved roads, Nebraska still has a long way to go to get everyone "out of the mud."

Lags Behind

And she has farther to go than the nation as a whole or the six neighboring states taken as a group.

Of the total mileage in South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming, 31.9% is still dirt surfaced. Nationwide, the figure is only 25.1%.

The dirt road mileage doesn't tell the full story, however, since gravel roads also figure in the picture.

In Nebraska, more than half the total mileage (52.3%) is graveled, thus leaving only 12.5% with some form of low or high grade dustless surfacing.

Both the nation and region score better here, too.

County Roads

Nebraska's neighbors have 47.8% of their mileage graveled, 20.3% hard surfaced. The national ratio is 36.3% gravel, 38.6% surfaced.

Obviously, Nebraska's 93 counties which are responsible for nearly 88,000 miles of road in rural areas throughout the state have the most dirt roads.

Of the counties' total mileage, 40.5% is still dirt surfaced. Well over half the miles (57.1%) are graveled, thus leaving only 2.4% hard surfaced.

Nebraska cities and towns have only 8% of their nearly 5,500 miles dirt surfaced, but another 40% are graveled, thus leaving only 52% paved.

Even the state at the beginning of 1965 still had 44 miles of dirt road, but that was only one-half of 1% of the 9,400 miles on the state system.

One Category

But on the same date, another 15.4% was still gravel, thus leaving 84.1% hard surfaced.

Despite these and other recent statistics showing Nebraska behind the region and nation in highway matters, however, Nebraska excels slightly in at least one category.

The State Roads Department's 84.1% hard surfaced mileage (excluding park roads) is better than the nationwide average of 83.9% for the same state highways. How the department compares with highway departments in the neighboring states could not be immediately determined from available statistics.

Nebraska's county and municipal governments have not done so well, however.

County governments have paved only 2% of their roads in comparison with the national average of nearly 21%. And while Nebraska towns have paved 52% of their streets, the nationwide figure is nearly 63%.

Loss of Human Capital Weakens State Growth

By DICK HERMAN

Measured unemotionally by the national growth yardstick, Nebraska "has a very sick economy."

Year by year the gap between national and Nebraska income and population growth widens.

If depressing trends persistent since 1890 are not reversed the state could someday become something of an "economic colony," an undeveloped, exploited region.

"And the saddest thing, the most tragic thing, is that the people of the state refuse to really recognize their problems."

So says Ronald A. Wykstra, a University of Nebraska economics instructor currently completing academic work for his doctorate.

Wykstra's thesis is in the final stages of preparation. It traces "Economic Growth and Manpower Development in Nebraska" from 1890 to 1963, the first such study of its type about the state.

Published in 1967

Not until the summer of 1967 will the dissertation become publicly available.

Nebraska has experienced both population and income growth in the 20th Century, Wykstra found. But that growth looks attractive only if seen in isolation.

Scaled against contemporary national devlcopment Nebraska is shown falling further and further behind sister states, placing ever-greater reliance upon agriculture. And agriculture nationally is a shrinking direct source of income and employment.

In one sense Wykstra's over-all findings—slow population growth, a population more weighted to dependency groups, modest personal and per capita income improvement—are not revolutionary.

What the study does is place fresh urgency upon public understanding of Nebraska's economic problems "in hopes it will augment . . . formulation for action programs."

Job For Leaders

This, Wykstra says, is the job of Nebraska's political leadership. To it falls the task, the researcher believes, of sharply changing state attitudes.

Wkystra's comments roughly parallel those made in a speech recently by Lincoln businessman Roger Dickeson.

He asked if Nebraska's attitudes toward public spending, low wages, anti-unionism, anti-public debt and taxation are sound, "Why ain't we rich?"

Wykstra does not necessarily think Nebraska has permanently missed the economic growth boat. Yet a tacit indication of his confidence in Nebraska's leadership is demonstrated by Wykstra's personal decision to reject a faculty appointment at NU for a post at Western Michigan University next year.

The dissertation's data suggests Nebraska's relatively small industrial development since 1940 may have been substantially influenced by the labors of low-salaried women.

Men 'Replaced'

Relying upon Census Bureau statistics, the researcher discovered Nebraska's prime male labor force actually declined 3.1% (or 12,300 workers rose 6.5%, from 100,600 trasted with a national increase of almost 20%.

During the very time men were becoming less of a factor in Nebraska's labor force the number of women workers rose 67.5%, from 100,600 to 168,500.

Males in the state's labor force dropped from 400,000 in 1940 to 388,100 two full decades later.

Nebraska cannot hope to improve itself economically until this loss of human capital is halted, Wykstra says. Like other Great Plains and Midwestern states, Nebraska is contributing more to economic growth elsewhere — through supply of people and expanded agricultural production — than the nation is returning.

"Analysis of the population growth in categories over 14 does not present as optimistic a picture as the analysis of data for the total population in Nebraska," Wykstra writes

"While past trends are unfavorable, the potential labor force and population is enhanced by the fact there are a substantial number of persons under the age of 14 in the state.

(The 1960 census shows 30.1% of Nebraska's population was 14 and under, compared to 31.1% for the nation.)

Halt Out-Migration

"One critical problem for Nebraska," Wykstra stressed, "is preventing the out-migration of this potential human capital."

Using U.S. Census data and demographic studies, Wykstra calculates the net out-migration from Nebraska from 1890 to 1960 at 785,000. Of these persons 15 to 44, the prime work-age group, comprised over two-thirds—69.4%.

If one further regards the natural population increase attributable to the 785,000 net out-migrants, Nebraska's total population loss over the

Morrison Pushes Fund for Disasters

BY DON WALTON

Gov. Frank Morrison is expected to recommend to the National Governors Conference in Los Angeles in July that each state appropriate stand-by emergency funds to be used to meet the needs of natural disaster.

Morrison has been assigned to prepare a report on the state's responsibility in natural disaster for submission to the national governors meeting.

The governor assigned Maj. Gen. Lyle Welch to represent him at a meeting of the natural resources committee of the National Governors Conference in Nevada last weekend.

Welch this week presented to Morrison a list of recommendations which are likely to serve as the crux of the governor's report next summer. They include:

—Those states which have not done so take immediate steps to enact legislation clearly defining their responsibilities in natural disaster.

—State and local Civil Defense agencies be given responsibility for administering natural disaster programs in each of the 50 states.

—The state Civil Defense director be designated as coordinator of all activities relating to catastrophes of natural origin.

—Each state should provide its coordinator with a central protected operations center or emergency operating center.

—Each state legislature should appropriate emergency funds for the governor's use in meeting natural disasters.

Natural disasters take an average toll of 500 to 600 lives in the U.S. each year, with economic loss ranging between $11 billion and $15 billion annually.

The governors are particularly concerned with the problems therein involved since the national plan for emergency preparedness does not provide a peacetime natural disaster program and the federal Civil Defense act is only directed at protecting life and property from enemy attack.

Some 15 reports are scheduled to be submitted to the governors conference from its natural resources committee, headed by Gov. Edward Breathitt of Kentucky.

Morrison plans to talk with other governors before completing the recommendations which he will include in his report.

McCook Corps Adds 30 Boys

McCook (UPI)—Thirty Job Corps candidates arrived here this week, according to Center Director Clem Griffin.

It was the largest group to arrive at one time since the center opened in late 1965 at the World War II bomber base north of here.

Griffin said many of the new boys are from Texas. Enrolees now total 125, highest since the center opened. A capacity of 224 is expected by mid-May with a staff of 51. The staff is now 42.

Barn Sign Illegal?

High Court May Get Case

Does a barn with advertising on the roof constitute a billboard banned on Nebraska's interstate highway?

That question is before Buffalo County District Court at Kearney and could be headed for the State Supreme Court.

District Judge S. S. Sidner ruled recently that the barn and sign northeast of the Minden interchange were not within the area where billboards are banned.

But the state attorney general's office, which was the loser in the lower court, has filed a motion for a new trial. The hearing is scheduled for May 13 at Kearney.

Whether the District Court decision will be appealed to the Supreme Court, according to Asst. Atty. Gen. Harold Salter, remains to be seen

The state contended the barn and sign advertising Pioneer Village at Minden are illegal because they are within 660 feet of an access road to the interstate even though they are farther than 660 feet from the interstate itself.

Judge Sidner decided against the state. He ruled advertising restrictions should be measured from the center of the interstate, not from access roads.

Bill to Remove Picket Restrictions to House

Sunday Journal & Star Special

Washington—In 1951 the U S. Supreme Court ruled that it was unlawful for a union to throw a picketline around a construction site, if the picketline keeps other unions, not directly involved in the dispute, off the job.

Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy, and Johnson have supported legislation to reverse this ruling.

In the words of Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz the Supreme Court interpretation of the Taft-Hartley Act places "inequitable restriction on the right of strike and picket peacefully."

Although a bill to reverse this ruling has been often proposed, it has always been bottled up in the House Rules Committee It has never come to the floor for a vote.

It has been granted a rule this session, and will come before the House next week. The bill would remove picketing restrictions on unions involved in construction jobs. It would for example give the plumbers when they go on strike, the right to keep the carpenters, bricklayers, and other workers off the job. Congressman Clair Callan has not announced how he will vote.

The Johnson administration is expected to bring pressure on freshman Democratic congressmen to vote for the bill. There are rumors of a revolt among this group, many of whom were hurt politically when the administration directed them to vote for the repeal of section 14B of the Taft Hartley Act last year

Rep. Cunningham, R-2nd, of Omaha, where the building trade unions are strong, is also uncommitted.

Rep. Dave Martin, R-3rd, has announced that he will vote against the measure.

Builders Ask LBJ's Aid in Money Pinch

The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB), whose members are feeling the pinch of tight money, has urged President Johnson to set up a mechanism through which credit-controlling agencies of the federal government would consult with each other before taking any significant action.

The NAHB policy statement, made in Washington, D.C. by that group's board of directors, was reported by two Lincoln home builders who attended the Washington session. They are Clarence C. Krueger, Nebraska national representative of the NAHB, and Robert E. Peterson, immediate past president of the Home Builders Association of Lincoln.

Krueger and Peterson said the Board is concerned over the shortage and increasing cost of money that has produced a critical situation for the home building industry at a time when all other sectors of the economy are expanding.

The policy statement adopted by the Board, which governs a 46,000 member trade association, said:

Credit Continues

"Home buyers, particularly those of modest means, are inordinately affected by the burden of 'tight money.' Meanwhile, credit continues, without visible impairment, to flow in record-breaking amounts into industrial expansion and into shorter term and higher yielding consumer loans.

"Irreparable damage to the home building industry, to other small business and to the nation must inevitably follow if credit is available only to those who can afford to pay a high price."

The Board urged the President to set up some means whereby the significant actions of the Federal Reserve Board, Home Loan Bank Board, comptroller of the currency, secretary of the treasury, secretary of housing and urban development, and the Council of Economic Advisors are considered and discussed in joint consultation, in order to determine the impact of any action on all elements of the economy.

The Board also urged that the President give assurance that the views of the Department of Housing and Urban Development on the current monetary crisis be clearly presented to the government's fiscal and monetary instrumentalities.

The NAHB Builders' Economic Council made a spring survey which showed that the percentage of builders paying more than 6% interest for construction money increased from 11% last September to 40% in March.

The survey also showed that the percentage of builders paying 2% or more in fees for construction money increased from 17% to 25% in the same period.

A Lincoln savings and loan executive, who asked not be named, said that so far in Lincoln "we have not had to refuse loans that we consider good. But what's ahead, we can't say for sure. Money is starting to get tight"

The executive said, however, that there is a steady flow of repayment money which is staying in the home mortgage market The loan official predicted that:

—In the future, "borderline" loans (those for which a prospective borrower barely qualifies) will probably not be taken.

—People are paying more for money now, due to tight money and recent increases in the FHA loan rate, but "they're paying more for groceries too."

Another loan executive noted that current loan rates are running 6¼% and 6½%, and "leaning toward the higher rate."

"There is definitely not as much money available as there was a year ago," he said, "and it is more expensive. But it is available to qualified borrowers."

He noted that the Lincoln area has been fortunate in the past in always having adequate capital for building, but sees this picture as changing as the money supply dwindles.

"Lenders will ration the available money by reducing the amounts they are willing to loan on a given property, by being more choosy about whom they will grant loans to, and by raising interest rates," he said. Still, he pointed out the interest rate situation is not much worse now than it was in the 1959-60 period.

Callan Aide Will Not Leave Job

Dr. Eugene Wiegman says a Nebraska report he will resign as Rep. Clair Callan's administrative assistant July 1 to join a new federal food and education program "is not true."

But, Dr. Wiegman says "that doesn't mean I wouldn't be interested in the program eventually. It offers opportunities for great service."

Dr. Wiegman

Reports heard in Nebraska this week linked the congressman's top Washington lieutenant with the proposed Food for Freedom program.

This Johnson Administration program is still working its way through congressional committees, reasonably assured of passage.

Food for Freedom, under the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, would concentrate on teaching nationals of other countries skills in raising their own foodstuffs.

Food for Freedom is distinguished from the better-known Food for Peace operation. The latter program, under the State Dept., focuses upon distribution of surplus American commodities.

On the faculty of Concordia Teachers College before joining Callan's staff, Dr. Wiegman reported he has turned down opportunities to return to college teaching.

"My plan is to remain with the congressman, through the campaign, anyway," Wiegman commented.

Miss Lincoln of 1966

Pattie Van Horne, a University of Nebraska student, was named 1966 winner of the Miss Lincoln Scholarship Pageant in ceremonies at the Student Union. Selected from a final list of 10 candidates, the 19-year-old coed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Van Horne of San Rafael, Calif., was also selected as Miss Congeniality. She will next compete in the Miss Nebraska Pageant at York.

Papers Given By Students

Sixty-five Nebraska high school students from Fremont, Columbus, Falls City and Lincoln presented papers at the 1966 Nebraska Junior Academy of Sciences here Saturday.

The papers, in addition to various displays, were given at the University of Nebraska, with Dr. James Rutledge, professor of secondary education at the University, the program coordinator.

Among those presenting papers and displays were:

—Kathy Hilger, Columbus Catholic, study of blood.

—David Davies, Falls City High, gas plasma.

—Roger Moody, Fremont Bergan, enzyme activity.

—Sue Cronin, Columbus Junior High, harmonograph.

—Larry Luchtel, Columbus Junior High, display of probability.

Ex-Lincolnite Drowns In Minnesota

Sandstone, Minn. (AP) — A young school teacher told how a rapids-shooting outing turned to tragedy Saturday when three canoes capsized and two persons drowned.

Dead in the Kettel River accident were Marian Gustin, 28, a St. Paul public school teacher and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gustin of Lincoln, Neb., and Will Lindgren, about 20, of Esko, a University of Minnesota-Duluth student.

Miss Gustin

Four other young St. Paul teachers were along on the outing, which was to have been a repeat of a rapid-shooting outing last fall.

"We put the canoes in the river about a mile and half above the rapids," said Sandra Keplinger, 25. "The rapids were very high."

The first canoe, carrying Miss Gustin and Don Poeschl, 35, topped over soon after entering the rapids.

"Don held onto Marian trying to keep her up. He was hanging onto the canoe and they went down the rapids," said Miss Keplinger. "She was too weak to help him pull to shore. Then she got away from him."

A canoe carrying Miss Keplinger and Dave Whitney, 23, and one carrying Lingdren and Larry Kjeldeth, 23, capsized in the icy water in quick succession.

Salary Survey On Board Agend

The Lincoln board of education will meet Monday at 8:30 a.m.

Principal business will be consideration of approval of four federally-funded programs.

Also on the agenda are a salary, survey, information about the aerospace project and assignment of board members to promotion and commencement exercises.

Nebraska's 100th Birthday

State Party Will Have Festive Air

Birthday presents ranging from cook books to new forests are planned for Nebraska's year-long birthday party, but the recipients are likely to be the state's people and its tourists.

The programs now being mapped out by the 26 committees of the Nebraska Centennial Commission are slanted at toasting the state's 1000th year.

But from the list of tentative activities, it looks like there'll be something for everyone.

Special events — including contests, tours, exhibits, pageants and barbecues — will account for much of the festivities in 1967. But in the meantime, other tributes in the forms of books, plays, films and commemorative medals are being prepared.

The centennial cookbook committee is preparing a collection of recipes from the wives of all governors, senators and congressmen, ambassadors and cabinet members. Also to be included are several pioneer recipes and favorites of presidents' wives.

Centennial Gimmicks

All official Centennial items will have the Centennial seal incorporated into the item. Paraphernalia such as sweat-shirts, T-shirts, jackets, necktie sets, red western N '67 hat, will be sold throughout the state.

Paper products including napkins, place mats, cups, stationery will be sold. Other items include an official Centennial seal pin, jewelry, dairy and gift mugs, plastic utility items, fireworks and a "limited edition" (only 2,500 available at $100 each) centennial rifle.

A pictorial history book, "Once in a Hundred Years," published by the Nebraska State Historical Society and University Press of Lincoln, is expected to be finished this November.

A comprehensive publication covering all the institutions of higher learning in Nebraska is being prepared by the educational committee. Other projects of the committee include the development of a format for a centennial pageant or play for all Nebraska schools and a reunion invitation to be used by all interested high schools.

Films on agriculture and native grasslands are in preparation by agricultural and native grasses committees.

The state Centennial Queen pageant will be held in Lincoln in early December, following county-level Miss Centennial contests.

Cultural Promotions

An ambitious roster of projects scheduled by the cultural committee include a playwriting competition, centennial song contest, sculpture invitational exhibit, centennial issues of the "Prairie Schooner," traveling book exhibit, art shows at Joslyn, Sheldon, State Historical Society and school art departments and the commissioning and performance of special orchestral work.

Youth activities will include a statewide essay contest through high schools on "Opportunities for Youth in Nebraska." Youth day programs, from banquets to barbecues, will be held in Lincoln, Omaha, Ft. McPherson and in Madison County.

The commemorative stamp committee has scheduled a stamp design contest, a pony express re-run, a reenactment of the first night air mail flight from North Platte to Omaha and unveiling ceremonies, at Lincoln, of the commemorative stamp design.

The Nebraska Territorial Troops will be available for participation in centennial celebrations on the community, county and state levels, according to the military affairs committee which is also sponsoring a military historical display.

The tree planting committee will present wall plaques for paintings of one acre or more, bronze plaques for Centennial memorial forests (five acres or more).

Tree Planting

The Arbor Day committee will sponsor a tree planting ceremony—one tree from each state—on the Capitol lawn.

An intra-ethnic pageant, highlighting ethnic migration to Nebraska is tentatively set for Omaha by the nationality groups committee.

Also at work in various stages of planning are the Commission's 13 other officially approved committees. These include: college alumni, pioneer recognition, Q.S.L. (amateur radio), educational television, betterment, conventions, religious, sirloin and pork promotions, exhibits, tourism and recreation and Canada-Alaska-Nebraska (which will work out a promotion with Canada and Alaska, both of which are also celebrating 1967 centennials).

Nebraska Votes In Washington

Washington (AP) — Nebraska members of Congress were recorded voting on recent roll calls as follows:

Doane Treasurer

Crete — Ardythe Zucker, Deshler, a freshman at Doane College, was elected treasurer of the Student Council for the 1966-67 school year.

She has participated in dramatic productions at Doane and her name has appeared on the dean's scholarship list.

'Mechanical Brains' Hike Efficiency Of Business, Industry Operations

By LLOYD MacDOWELL

Fifteen years ago there were no more than five automatic date processing (ADP) machines in the United States.

Today, according to a local spokesman for a manufacturer of the "mechanical brains," there are more than 25,000 in operation, and the number doubles every five years.

The spokesman estimated there are more than 40 in Lincoln now with several more due to be installed soon.

Although various branches and agencies of government are big users of ADP systems, they are probably outnumbered in this area at least by business and industry.

ADP use is generally divided into research and commercial functions. All the systems have the capacity to store huge quantities of information and give it out when it is needed.

Disks, Tapes

The information is stored either on disks or on tapes. Some machines use both methods.

Basically, all ADP systems are sequential. That is, each piece of information is added on to what has preceded it.

With a strictly sequential system, it is necessary to run an entire tape or disk or perhaps an entire day's input to extract a specific bit of information.

An insurance company, for example, might have inquiries about certain policies that had been recorded during one day. At the end of the day, someone would run that day's file and pick out the needed information.

In some cases, however, it is necessary or desirable to get the specific information at a moment's notice. This process requires a "random access" adaptation, which is available for any ADP system.

Random access equipment may put out the desired information in any of a number of ways.

Almost Instantly

The commonest methods now in use are the typewriter, audible response, graphic display and video response.

With the first method, a question is typed out on a special keyboard attached to the ADP system. Almost instantly the answer is typed back.

Mrs. James Sabin at controls of Bankers Life Nebraska's video-response random access computer system.

Going to move soon? Be sure to notify the Circulation Department, giving both your old and new address.

Board Commits Mental Cases

The Lancaster County mental health board held eight hearings this week on complaints against five men and three women.

All eight were committed to hospitals after the hearings. None were represented by legal counsel.

The cases:

Male, 20, found to be suffering from a scosiopathic personality, committed to the Lincoln State Hospital.

Male, 34, found to be suffering from a chronic brain syndrome, the result of an accident suffered in the service, committed to Veterans Hospital.

Male, 37, found to be suffering from incipient paranoid schizophrenia, committed to Lincoln State Hospital.

Female, 47, found to be suffering from paranoid schizophrenia, committed to Lincoln State Hospital

State Equalization Board Will Hold Railroad Property Tax Assessment Hearings This Week

Spokesmen for six railroads with major operations in Nebaska, as well as five "smaller" roads make their annual appearance before the State Board of Equalization Monday.

The carriers will present their case for 1966 property tax assessments.

And if history follows its course, the railroads will seek valuation reductions.

George Holdrege, counsel for the Union Pacific Railroad, disclosed the UP will not renew its plea for an income capitalization rate higher than the present 7%.

But Holdrege said some modification of factors going into the State Board's three-part formula for assessing rail lines will be sought.

Followed Formupa

Since the Nebraska Supreme Court in 1959 laid down the formula, State Board members have followed it, although granting capitalization rate increases in 1960, 1961 and 1962.

As rates of capitalization go up, net assessments for tax purposes retreat.

Nebraska ranchers have been hammering at capitalization rates of 2.5% used in recent Sandhills real estate reappraisals.

(A 4% rate has been urged upon the State Board by the stockmen.)

Property tax assessments of the six railroads have dropped every year since 1957, although some carriers experienced occasional raises in the nine-year period.

In 1957, the six railroads' composite valuation for Nebraska tax purposes was $136,782,989.

This was down 36%, or $50.7 million, to $86,074,466 in 1965.

Annual Review

The formula used by the State Board to assess railroads weighs the five-year average value of the carrier's stocks and bonds, the five-year net income of a line capitalized at 7% and a use factor including traffic units, gross earning, trackage in Nebraska and car and locomotive miles.

Following is a year-by-year review of State Board-approved railroad valuations in Nebraska:

It's All Aboard and Down Memory Lane at Old-time Railroaders Meet

One-time Burlington engineer O. C. Wheeler looked over the strong-voiced crowd in the Welfare Hall basement. "They are," he announced, "all buddies."

Over refreshments and the makings of a banquet, the 350 retired railroaders looked every bit like buddies.

They represented the Rock Island, Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Chicago Northwest and Burlington lines, but their old rivalry evidently retired the same day they did.

Ranging in age up to their late 80s, the rail clerks, firemen, conductors, trainmen, switchmen and engineers were gathering for the 11th annual old-time Railroaders Convention here.

Why? "To see the old buddies they worked with," Wheeler, program chairman, said. A half-dozen business-suited senior citizens agreed, and the word "buddy" liberally flavored each answer they gave for meeting.

50 Years

"I came to meet old buddies I worked with for the last 50 years," said former Burlington conductor W. C. Manske of Lincoln.

"It's better to gather here than to meet at the mortuary," added Wheeler. "Before this, the only time we saw each other was when we were called to be pallbearers."

Conversations may occasionally have drifted to what men have done in recent years, but they quickly headed back to reminisces.

Frank Coffman, for one, noted, "There's something about a steam engine that still appeals more than a diesel—I don't know why. There's something about a steam engine that's almost human."

Engine to Park

When he began on the Burlington — at $1.50 for a 10-hour day — in 1905, Coffman said, the pride of the line and the biggest passenger engine was a steam engine that since has also retired — to Pioneers Park in Lincoln.

Oliver Magner Jr. of Hastings, catching only half the conversation through the noise, said he had worked on that K-10 (a small model) engine about 1940 as a Clay Center engine-herder.

He cleaned its fire irons, heated the fire for the water boiler and kept water in the heater until it was ready to go the next morning. If he hadn't, the engine would have froze.

The engine he described, though, is now an attraction of Minden's Pioneer Village, not Pioneers Park.

First Lady of Theater Terms a 'Perfectionist'

BY BILL TILLINGHAST

Helen Hayes, America's First Lady of the theater is likened to baseball's Willie Mays by Jack Manning, her current director.

"Like him, she's a perfectionist who gives all she's got every minute," he said.

Miss Hayes appears in Lincoln tonight in Somerset Maugham's "The Circle," a Lincoln Broadway League attraction at the Stuart Theater.

Although the veteran of 60 years theatre productions was resting up Saturday evening for the performance, director Manning and associate producer Frances Ann Smith fielded questions ranging from comparing midwest culture to that of Broadway to how it feels to work with the grand dame of the U. S. theater.

Miss Hayes, said Manning, is performing with the Helen Hayes Repertory Co. for two main reasons: To bring top-notch theater to areas where the important things in the theater are now being done, such as university communities, and to achieve a solid financial backing for the repertory company in becoming a resident company with a performing arts center in New Jersey.

"She's performing for just the cost of her expenses," he said.

"She puts everybody at ease," said Miss Smith, recalling the first day of rehearsals. Noting that "The Circle" required a British accent for all performers, Miss Hayes said she was going to try an experiment, pronouncing r's as w's such as in "sowwy" and "adowable," an affectation she believed the character Lady Kitty would have.

"By being the one to do something new she put the rest of the cast at ease," said Miss Smith.

Because Lincoln is a University and culturally-centered community it was added to the list of cities on company's tour, said Manning. Miss Smith added that it also fit nicely in their touring schedule.

Although the company's continual state of performing one night and then driving all day to the next town is quite exhausting to the cast, Manning said the actors have remarked that Miss Hayes is as active as the rest and, even more, appears "to be the youngest of the cast" in terms of activity

"She's been staying backstage for as much as an hour after performances autographing copies of her book and talking to fans," he said.

Law College Honors Judge at Birthday

The University of Nebraska College of Law will celebrate the 75th year of its founding Friday by honoring one of Nebraska's grand old men of the law, the Honorable Harvey M. Johnsen, senior judge of the United States Court of Appeals, 8th circuit.

Judge Johnsen

The anniversary of the college and formal recognition of Judge Johnsen of Omaha, will be observed at the annual Law Day banquet at 6:30 p.m. in the Hotel Cornhusker.

More than 400 Nebraska attorneys, students and dignitaries are expected to attend.

Judge Johnsen, 70, was born in Hastings and spent his early boyhood in Fremont. He received both his A.B. and LL.B. degrees from the University of Nebraska

His career has been marked by unusual success in law. He is a former Nebraska Supreme Court justice; served on the law faculty of Creighton University for four years; was first president of the integrated Nebraska Bar Association; was appointed to the federal bench in 1940 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt; and received honorary doctor of laws degrees from the University of Nebraska and Creighton University.

Judge Johnsen has played a number of important roles in decision making processes involving such varying problems as the Starkweather case, the Little Rock (Ark.) school desegregation case, and voting apportionment.

Judge Johnsen got his start in law by serving as secretary to Chief Justice Morrissey of the Nebraska Supreme Court. From 1920 to 1938 he practiced law in Omaha.

Following the recognition of Judge Johnsen, outstanding law students will be recognized for scholarship, legal writing and appellate competition.

Nebraska Writers Featured

Guild Meets In Lincoln

Outstanding Nebraska writers were featured at the annual spring meeting of the Nebraska Writers Guild held at the Cornhusker Hotel Saturday.

Guild president Mrs. P. R. Kneifl of Omaha stated that outstanding writers from across the national are usually featured speakers for the Guild's annual meeting but because of the approaching Nebraska Centennial, only Nebraska writers were speakers this year.

A discussion of "Opus No. 1" was presented by the Rev. Darrel E. Berg of Trinity Methodist Church. He also related his experiences in publication of his first book, "A Piece of Blue Sky," a series of studies of the Old Testament patriarch, Abraham.

Luncheon speaker was Prof. Robert Beum, assistant professor of English at Nebraska Wesleyan University (Prof. Beum was incorrectly identified with Creighton University of Omaha in a story in the Apr. 24 FOCUS section of the Sunday Journal and Star). Cited in 1962 as "one of the better American poets under 40," Prof. Beum read and discussed some of his poetry.

Prof. Bernice Slote of the University of Nebraska English department, spoke on "Writers in Print" at the afternoon session. Miss Slote is a past recipient of the Explicator prize, an award given for the best book of literary analysis in English or American literature.

Mrs. Kneifl explained to more than 50 Guild members attending the meeting that the Guild would sponsor an out-state summer workshop at Wayne State College for the first time this July. The workshop is open to members, non-members of the Guild and students. In order to qualify for membership in the Guild a writer must have had a paid publication.

Indian Culture Festival Slated

The Spring Cultural Festival of the University of Nebraska India Association will be held Sunday in the East Campus Union ballroom at 7:30 p.m.

Highlight of the festival will be the performance of a typical Indian wedding ceremony and also dances, songs and a fashion display.

Midland Meeting

Fremont—Midland College is host to the spring meeting of the Nebraska Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers here May 6.

The day-long event is scheduled in the new science complex.

Terry Schaaf Elected President Of Associated Students of University

One group of Nebraska politicians have already campaigned, watched election tallies, and won or lost—those vying for offices in Associated Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN), elections.

Unofficial vote tallies show Terry Schaaf won over one-half of the votes cast in the student election to become the organization's new president. Roger Doerr, was elected first vice president and Bob Samuelson second vice president. A total of 35 ASUN senators were elected.

An amendment for the creation of the office of second vice president was overwhelmingly passed.

ASUN is a relatively new addition to the campus scene, and in its first year of existence it has been an active segment of campus life.

In its one-year history organization has taken on such controversial subjects as:

—Tuition increase. ASUN opposed the slated $40 tuition hike to cover budgetary problems and requested a special session of the Legislature. It wasn't called but the tuition wasn't raised either.

—Faculty evaluation. ASUN proposed publication of a booklet in which students would evaluate faculty members and their courses. Some form of evaluation is still pending.

—Foreign student housing. Schaaf spearheaded a public affairs committee drive which requested the University and the City Council implement minimum housing standards so that many foreign students are not relegated to living in what was termed deplorable living conditions.

—No-test, non-attendance day. ASUN supported proposal for guaranteed no-test and no penalty for non-attendance of classes on first day of school following the Orange Bowl. Although not officially recognized, part of the faculty complied with the request.

—Tassels hassle. First student court test of ASUN constitutional powers. The court found for Tassels, saying that ASUN acted unconstitutionally in assuming control of interviewing candidates and the election of the home coming queen. Denied, however, was a Tassels request that ASUN be barred from disturbing a "right" write-in into a student organization constitution.

ASUN came into being in April, 1965, specifically designed to correct the representational imbalance—organizational rather than college — and in line with the "one man, one vote" concept currently troubling state legislatures across the nation.

ASUN is the third major government to evolve on the NU campus. The first came in 1917 in the form of a Student Council composed of juniors and seniors with each college having one vote.

STATEHOUSE LETTER

There is a theory, rather widely espoused, that if voters in November knock out the state income tax and also constitutionally exile the state property tax the only thing left is a sales tax.

If that's to be the case, Nebraskans should prepare themselves for a sales tax having a minimum rate of not less than 3%, more probably 3½% and maybe even 4%—WITHOUT ANY EXEMPTIONS.

University of Nebraska economists last month estimated the state's 1965 retail sales at $2.1 billion. With that as a base, every full percentage of tax should produce about $20 million.

Present state property taxes are almost $50 million yearly. Mathematically, then, a rate of 2½% would be necessary right now just to replace lost property tax revenue.

Informed sources look for annual state revenue demands close to $60 million just ahead. So there's your 3% rate, with no margin of safety. And no exemptions

Political Notes

Having observed both the Republicans' Founders Day and the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson Day events, a newsman finds several characteristics indigenous to both parties:

Overdressed women carrying cigarets as smoking lances, hotel elevators filled with bad air and too many passengers, glazed eyes, false congeniality, blatant misuse of superlatives and, now and then, straight talk—but usually not for direct attribution.

Still, politics has humorous aspects.

Gene Budig, the governor's administrative assistant, accompanied Massachusetts Sen. Edward Kennedy on his flight from Washington to Lincoln for the J-J Day dinner.

At the Washington airport, a woman approached Budig, thinking him a member of Kennedy's staff, and requested help in securing the senator's autograph. The Nebraskan explained Kennedy was on an exceedingly tight schedule and couldn't comply.

Budig then turned to walk to the plane—and BAM! The unhappy dame belted Budig across the head with her large purse.

Back home, people writing handouts for office-seekers stumbled over words.

One drum beater last week suggested tax relief can be realized "by initiating economics" in government

The prize, though, was the statement from one hopeful's camp accusing other candidates of swiping their man's issues. They are, the release grandly declared, "trying to steal his plunder."

Touching Bases

Administrative Services Director Willard Townsend says "absolutely" department heads are not to pressure state workers into signing up for U.S. savings bond deductions. It's purely voluntarily. Townsend would like to know if coercion has taken place.

All five state railway commissioners are agreed on one thing: "Employes will be docked in salary for unexcused time from their official duties."

Evaluation Of Mental Health Set

Study Affects 17 Counties

A mental health resources and services evaluation in the 17-county southeast Nebraska region will be made Friday at the Nebraska Center.

The group making this review is the 1965 organization which compiled needs and recommendations for this region as part of a statewide comprehensive mental health program underwritten by federal funds.

At that time the group voted not to disband so it could meet from time to time to review mental health service progress.

The morning session will be devoted to a discussion on how a community mental health plan in Region V (the 17 southeast Nebraska counties) may be implemented at state level.

E. Patrick Okura, acting community services director at Nebraska Psychiatric Institute in Omaha and coordinator of the state mental health study plan, will lead the discussion.

Delegates from a dozen different institutions, agencies and services offering mental health programs will report during the afternoon session. They are:

Dr. Edwin Coates, representing the Lincoln State Hospital; Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, Lincoln Veterans Hospital; Dr. Max Magnuson, Child Guidance Clinic; the Rev. Edward Tuchek, Catholic Social Services; Mrs. Mary Hepburn, Southeast Psychiatric Clinic; Elmer Wyant, Beatrice State Home; Fred Novak, state vocational rehabilitation; Dr. Marshall Hiskey, University of Nebraska Education Psychological Clinic; Mrs Helen Sulek, University of Nebraska Child Development Laboratory; Donald Best, Girls Training School at Geneva; George Kalley, Family Services and Dr. David Levine, University of Nebraska Psychological Clinic.

Economic Outlook for Britain Dim

Chicago Daily News Special

London—A dismaying collection of grim facts and prognostications about Britain's economic prospects has been dished up by the British press following publication of the latest trade figures.

Britain's trade deficit had jumped from $165,200,000 in February to $215,600,000 in March and the average monthly trade gap during the first months of 1966 was $67,200,000 compared with $61,600,000 during the same period last year.

Although these figures are not conclusive and there are certain signs of improvement, the failure of Britain to do better during the first quarter has led to the conviction that she stands little or no possibility of balancing payments by the end of the year.

Campaign Trails

Tiemann Stresses Need For Continued Ag Research

Omaha — Norbert T. Tiemann carried his campaign to Southeast Nebraska Saturday with stops at Plattsmouth, Nebraska City, Auburn, and Falls City.

The candidate for the Republican nomination for governor stressed the need for continued agricultural research in the state and pledged his support to the state colleges and the University of Nebraska.

"We must have a pool of trained people in Nebraska if we are to attract industries to our state," he said. " . . . New industries will help ease the tax burden on the Nebraska tax payers."

Denney Raps Congress Voting

Norfolk—Robert V. Denney said Saturday the current membership of Congress operates "like ants being guided by a Queen Bee'

Campaigning for the Republican nomination for First District Congressman, he said, "A Congress that is willing to stand on its own feet and do its own arm-twisting is the great need of 1966."

A Congressman "shouldn't vote against everything simply because it was suggested by the opposition party,"

Denney agreed, "but neither should he vote for most bills submitted by the President of his party to attract rewards from the White House."

Kuhlmann: Tax Power Misused

One of the "most flagrant invasions of human liberty" in America is the government's "arrogant misuse of the taxing power," Republi- Henry Kuhlmann of Grand Island said in a statement Saturday.

He said a strong set of rules based on the Constitution, must be enforced by the people as a "rein upon the government" so power and money can be returned to the individual.

Norfolk to Host Young Demos

Wayne—The Nebraska Young Democrats Club will meet in Norfolk Friday and Saturday for their state convention, including selection of officers.

Burbach Tells Need for Laws

Ogallala (AP)—State Sen. J. W. Burbach, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, says Nebraska needs laws making it mandatory to help mentally retarded children who can be educated.

Previously, he said here, "legislative laws have been enacted on a premissive basis, but now we see that this should be mandatory action to help the parents of these children acquire for them education near the home environment."

Wide Range of Responsibilities, Duties Face Lancaster Sheriff

By HAROLD SIMMONS

The sheriff's office is the chief investigative force in Lancaster County with many duties other than criminal investigation normally associated with the office.

Five men are vying for the post this year, including the incumbent, who has been in office more than 15 years. Whoever is finally elected will have a wide range of duties and responsibilities.

Sheriff Merle Karnopp heads a 28-man staff, divided into four sections — criminal, civil, tax collection and trailer court investigation.

The office is run on a $28,200 operating budget. Another $131,500 is budgeted for salaries.

This staff is responsible for investigating all criminal complaints, maintaining the county jail, collecting delinquent taxes, handling sales in tax and mortgage foreclosures, transporting and guarding prisoners and patients, serving legal papers and patroling the county.

800 Square Miles

The sheriff's office patrols an area of more than 800 square miles.

The towns of Waverly, Hallam and Bennet have town marshals but are included in the patrol area.

"They seldom patrol all night," a sheriff's office spokesman said. "We do."

The criminal division is composed of five deputies and one policewoman who are on duty during the day but on 24-hour call.

The five deputies are responsible for investigating all criminal activity and complaints, transporting prisoners and mental patients, attending court proceedings, aiding the coroner, investigating traffic accidents and processing prisoners.

The only criminal laboratory equipment this division has at its disposal in the sheriff's office is a "lie detector." However, it may use the Lincoln police and state Safety Patrol facilities in addition to those of the FBI.

Complaints Tripled

Sheriff Karnopp said criminal complaints handled by this division have tripled during the last five years.

The civil division is composed of three deputies who are responsible for sales in tax and mortgage foreclosures, serving writs, subpoenas, garnishments and other legal papers for law suits and court actions and various attachments.

Karnopp said the three deputies are kept busy full-time with their duties. When he became sheriff 15 years ago, Karnopp said, it was not even a full-time job for one man to do what it now takes the three to do.

The men in the civil division are also trained to aid and relieve the men in the criminal division, Karnopp said.

One deputy takes care of collecting delinquent taxes and he has a secretary and bookkeeper for help.

Night Patrols

In addition to the deputies in the various divisions, there are another six who are responsible for patroling the county nightly.

The sheriff has two cars with two deputies per car on nightly shifts of 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. and 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. A third patrol car is kept at the Courthouse for emergencies.

There are also three jailers for the county jail and the sheriff's wife is in charge of feeding the prisoners. As in all counties in Nebraska, except Douglas, the sheriff receives a flat fee for feeding the prisoners.

The money received for feeding prisoners in Lancaster County must buy the food plus pay the salaries of two people who help prepare and work with the food.

The sheriff's office, by law, receives set fees for performing various duties such as serving legal papers.

In General Fund

The fees, which totaled more than $71,000 in 1965, are all put into the county general fund.

The only fee received by the sheriff or any of his deputies is mileage when they use their own cars for serving papers. The mileage fees are set by law.

Recreation Road Outlay Expected To Set a Record

The State Department of Roads has almost $2 million on hand to put into recreation road projects, the agency's latest "Financial-Gram" discloses.

From July 1, 1965, to Apr. 1, 1966, the department banked $2,271,599 in its recreational road fund, spending only $233,224.

But before the current biennium ends in another 14 months the department plans to either have spent or obligated a total of $3,219,833 for recreational roads—a record sum.

Estimated still available after that $3.2 million outlay will be an unobligated balance of $677,340

That sum can be either carried over into the 1967-69 biennium or invested in additional recreational road projects, subject to gubernatorial approval.

seven decades was 1,601,000, Wykstra says.

That sum exceeds the state's official 1960 population of 1,411,000.

In 1890, when Nebraska's population was 1,059,000 men, women and children, it had 1.69% of the country's total population.

Even with the absolute gain of 352,000 individuals, Nebraska's 1960 share of the national population had dwindled to 0.78%.

Lost Potential

Between 1945 and 1963 Wykstra concludes the net out-migration from Nebraska was 154,000 individuals, plus another 100,000 of lost human potential.

Approximately 50% of all net out-migrants between 1950 and 1960 were in the 25 to 44 age group and another 27% under 15 years of age.

This has resulted in an ever-larger share of Nebraska's population falling into the non-productive years of 65 and above.

"The age structure of the state's population cannot help being affected adversely by out-migration such as Nebraska has experienced in recent years," the NU instructor asserts.

(Subsequent Sunday Journal and Star articles based on Wykstra's research will deal with gross and per capita income findings, as well as population shifts within and without the state.)

The following table shows estimated net out-migration from Nebraska from 1890 to 1960, in thousands of persons:

	Net out migrants	Out-migration Per 100 Population	Cumulative Out-migrants
1890-00	137	17.6	137
1900-10	33	3.4	233
1910-20	43	3.4	276
1920-30	92	6.9	367

Indian Cave Park Drive Is Moving

Falls City (UPI) — Representatives of the State Game Commission reported this week that the drive to get the necessary land for Indian Cave State Park 18 miles northeast of Falls City is ready to move into the final stage.

Frank Foote, who is in charge of land acquisition, indicated the Commission has contacted four or five owners during the past few days and will be opening negotiations with others soon.

The state has acquired 1,000 acres of land at prices ranging from $30 to $40 an acre and has a goal of about 3,000 acres for the natural wood land park in the Missouri River bluffs.

"We may have to move by condemnation in some cases," Foote said. The department has the authority to condemn land needed for the park.

Development of the park is part of a 10-year program inaugurated in 1963. The state expects to spend more than a million dollars in development of the park.

Silver Keys Awarded

'Journalism Exciting, Satisfying'

By JOHN ODGAARD

The field of journalism is "the most satisfying career possible to man."

Keith Fuller, assistant general manager of the Associated Press told that to nearly 100 high school journalists attending the annual High School Journalism banquet and contest.

Fuller, a veteran journalist, was guest speaker for the program sponsored by the Nebraska High School Press Assn. at the University of Nebraska School of Journalism Saturday.

The news executive told journalism award winners and participants that there is "nothing more satisfying, exciting, and challenging in the world today than the field of journalism."

Fuller told of his early experiences in the field of news work. "There's never a dull moment in journalism," he said.

Pearl Harbor

He told about his experience during the bombing of Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, while working on a Texas paper.

Later, as Denver Bureau chief of the AP, he spent four sleepless days during a mass prison riot in Montana, in which a 24-year-old prison psychiatrist was singled out for his courage.

Fuller now refers to himself as "an ivory tower newsman." But, he said that the years in which he built his career were fascinating.

"The job wasn't all front page writing," he said, referring to the early years as a reporter. "But it was always exciting," he said.

Plenty of Room

Speaking of opportunities in the news field today, Fuller said that "there is plenty of room for the best minds in our country in journalism."

Dr. William E. Hall, director of the NU school of journalism, was master of ceremonies for the awards banquet.

Awards were presented to outstanding high school journalists and school publication staffs.

High schools which were named overall sweepstakes winners at the preceding district contests, were: Norfolk, class A; University High, Class B; and Winside, Class C.

First place winners were presented Silver Key awards by Joe R. Seacrest, managing editor of the Lincoln Journal, on behalf of the Lincoln Journal-Star Printing Co.

Radio news writing and announcing—Allan Soshnik, Lincoln Southeast; Mike Sehestedt, Fremont; Jerry Hutchins, North Platte.

Yearbook layout—Jan McGill, University High; Sue Leaver, Alvo-Eagle; Carol Senff, York.

Yearbook copyreading and editing—Linda Sines, McCook; Carol Schaffer, Norfolk; Diana Tillwick, Omaha North.

Newspaper layout—Terri Jurgens, Hastings; Jan Schultz, Grand Island; Roxie Langer, Superior.

Advertising —Barbara Basley, Grand Island; Sherri Richard, Omaha Westside; Connie Klein, University High.

Sports writing—Kenneth Jones, Omaha North; John Munn, Waverly; Del Rice, Fremont.

Newspaper copyreading and editing—Leanne Hazlett, Omaha Westside; Lynda Inman, Lincoln Southeast; Pam Hansen, Fremont.

Editorial writing—Dave Buntain, Lincoln Southeast; Janice Hutzell, Omaha North; Julie Cunningham, Scottsbluff.

Liberty Bell Signals 1966 Bond Campaign

The ringing of Nebraska's one-ton replica of the Liberty Bell Monday morning will signal the start of the U.S. Savings Bond Payroll Deduction Plan 1966 campaign.

The ceremonies will be held at 9 a.m. in the north State Capitol entrance.

Both Gov. Frank Morrison and Marvin Oberg, state volunteer chairman will ring the Liberty Bell, and Gen. Lyle A Welch of the Nebraska National Guard will preside. The National Guard will furnish color guard.

The Lincoln High Band will provide the music, and Gov. Morrison will present a merit award from the U.S. Treasury Department to W. B. Millard Jr., chairman of the board of Omaha National Bank and past state bonds chairman.

The Nebraska program coincides with the 25th savings bonds anniversary. Bonds have proved of great importance in financing World War II the Korean War, and are now expected to play a role in financing the Vietnam conflict, Mr. Oberg said.

The Liberty Bell replica was given in 1950 and has rested in the lower rotunda of the State Capitol. It was one of 49 cast in France and is identical to the original bell in Parliament Hall in Philadelphia.

For the first time, the Nebraska bond campaign will permit state employes to purchase savings bonds through payroll deductions.

Volunteer chairman of the local drive is Ted A. Sick, chairman of the board of Security Mutual Life Insurance Company, and Bennett (Abe) S. Martin, president of Martin Enterprises, vice chairman.

Marriage and Divorce Laws Session Topic

Nebraska's marriage and divorce laws will be discussed at a public meeting of the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth May 13 at the Lincoln Hotel.

Marriage laws will be discussed at the morning session with Chaplain George Edgar, chairman of the "Marriage and Divorce Laws and Conciliaton Services" study committee, moderating the discussion.

The afternoon session will consider state divorce laws. The principal suggestion will be for Nebraska to adopt a "nonfault" ground. Presently laws consider one person at fault and the other innocent in a family disagreement.

The public discussion will be the first in a series of programs held before the 1967 Nebraska Unicameral convenes.

Doctors Going to Have Day In Court at Meeting Here

By BESS JENKINS

The 500 or so physicians attending the 98th annual Nebraska State Medical Assn. meeting starting Monday at the Cornhusker are going to have their day in court.

So will members of the Nebraska State Bar Assn., who are co-sponsoring an all-day symposium on medical-legal problems Thursday.

Five attorneys and a physician, recognized as authorities in the medical-legal field, will appear on this first-time event in the medical association's 98-year history.

One is attorney Philip Corboy of Chicago, who appeared at a similar AMA-ABA sponsored national medical-legal symposium in Las Vegas, attended by Past State Medical President Dr. Richard Garlinghouse and Lincoln attorney Flavel Wright. Dr. Garlinghouse is program chairman this year.

Other legal profession participants are Superior Court Judge Reginald Bauder of Los Angeles, St. Louis attorney John R. Dixon, Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Judge John R. Brown of Houston and Laurens Williams, Washington, D.C., attorney and former Nebraska State Bar Assn. president.

Dr. Alan Moritz, professor of pathology and provost of Western Reserve University, will represent the medical profession.

Scientific medical sessions beginning Tuesday will include talks by about 20 members of the profession from all parts of the nation.

Four, including Dr. Moritz, are University of Nebraska College of Medicine graduates: Dr. Horner of the University of Colorado School of Medicine obstetrics faculty, Dr. Wayne Slaughter, Loyola University professor of surgery in Chicago, and Dr. Austin Vickery of Harvard Medical School's pathology department.

The first annual distinguished Nebraska lecture, sponsored by the Nebraska Medical Foundation, will be presented by Dr. I. S. Ravdin of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine. The veteran surgeon has been on this faculty since receiving his medical degree there in 1918.

Presidents will be prominent at the official opening Tuesday morning session. Retiring state president Dr. Willis Wright of Omaha will speak. Dr. Dan Nye of Kearney will be installed as new state president, and Dr. James Appel of Lancaster, Pa., president of the American Medical Assn., will give the address.

Twenty physicians, two of them women, will be honored at the annual banquet Wednesday night as 50-year practitioners. They are Drs. Wilmar McGrath, Grand Island; George W Hoffmeister, Mesa, Ariz.; Carl Gouldman, Ingleside; Raymond S. Johnston, Kearney; Sidney Reese, Ruth Warner and A. H. Webb, all of Lincoln; Charles Zimmerer, Nebraska City; Arthur Brown, Lyman J. Cook, J. D. McCarthy, Friedrich Niehaus, A. J. Offerman, J. J. O'Hearn, A. C. Pruner, A. S. Rubnitz, William Shearer, Lyle Roberts and Marcia Young, all of Omaha, and L. Morrow of Tekamah.

Mere Mention

Minister Honored—Dr. William C. Bavis, pastor of the Community Church at Bennet, was named minister of the year for town and country at the annual convention of the Nebraska Fellowship of Christian Churches in North Platte.

Officers Selected—The Holdrege Junior Chamber of Commerce elected Ron Cummings president; John Titus, internal vice president, and John Schroeder, external vice president.

Agents Convene — About 700 life insurance agents met in Kearney Friday for a two-day sales congress of the Nebraska Association of Underwriters.

Veterans Meet — The Nebraska Disabled American Veterans and auxiliary will hold their state conventions May 13-15 in Omaha at Hotel Paxton.

Officials Named — William Zobel was named mayor of West Point, with Dal Benne re-elected as president at an organizational meeting of the city council.

Scientist Travels—NU emeritus professor biochemistry and nutrition, R. M. Sandstedt, has been invited by European cereal chemists to present some of his research work at their May meetings in Sweden, Germany and Austria.

Concordia Workshops — Seward's Concordia College will hold 10 workshops this summer. Subjects include modern math, theology, youth counseling, the theater and the elementary classroom and origami (the art of paperfolding and cutting).

NU Dean Speaks — Dr. Charles Miller, dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska, will speak on "New Programs in Education for Business and Economics" at the monthly meeting of the Society Tuesday at the Hotel Lincoln.

Parker Appeal Request Before Supreme Court

The Nebraska Supreme Court will hear an appeal Monday by convicted wife-slayer Darrel F. Parker, seeking a new trial.

His appeal under a new law was denied Dec. 13 by the Lancaster County District Court.

The new law provides a post-conviction remedy for prisoners seeking release on grounds their rights under federal and state constitutions have been violated.

Parker, a former city forester, was convicted of killing his wife on Dec. 14, 1955 at their Antelope Park cottage.

Frost Funeral In California

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Edna M. Frost at her home in Berkeley, Calif.

The widow of Romie J. Frost, she was born in Nebraska but had lived in California since 1918. She was a lifelong member of Electa Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, in Lincoln.

Survivors include a son, Richard W. Frost of El Cerrito, Calif., and daughter, Mrs. Barbara Koch of San Jose, Calif. Services and burial were in Berkeley.

Laboratory Procedures Is Topic

Technologists Meeting Here

Medical technologists, a member of today's laboratory fact-finding teams, will meet Friday and Saturday at the Nebraska Center for the Nebraska Society of Medical Technologists' annual convention.

The meeting primarily will be a school for this paramedical group as more than a dozen demonstrations of new laboratory detecting procedures are presented.

One will show how photofluorometry can be used in laboratory analysis, especially in screening positive PKU tests. Most hospitals today routinely test newborn to detect PKU, a metabolic imbalance causing mental retardation if not handled by a special diet.

State President Gladys Jeurink of the Bryan Memorial laboratory said increasing responsibilities given to medical technologists demand continuing education.

Medical technologists today do twice the variety of tests done a decade ago and about four times as much in volume.

Mrs. Jeurink uses Bryan's laboratory to illustrate growth in this paramedical field: there were four medical technologists and two students 10 years ago, compared with 17 medical technologists and 12 students today.

Nebraska has about 600 medical technologists, the nation nearly 32,000.

The society has invited 165 Nebraska freshman, sophomore and junior class high school students interested in medical technology careers to a 7 p.m. Friday program entitled "A Day in the Life of a Medical Technology Student." It will feature students from the School of Medical Technology at the University of Nebraska.

The Society will elect Don Ossentowski of the York Medical Laboratory or Doris Johnson, bacteriology supervisor at Lincoln General Hospital, as president succeeding Mrs. Jeurink.

Lincoln Bar Will Honor Deceased

The Lincoln Bar Assn. will hold a memorial service Friday morning in Lancaster County District Courtroom No. 1, for members of the Lincoln Bar who have died during the past two years.

Seventeen attorneys will be honored at the service. The memorial is usually held every year but this is the first in two years.

Those to be honored:

Fred J. Cassidy	Franz C. Radke
Lloyd E. Chapman	Mardelene C. Radke
Donald E. De Vries	Harold J. Requartte
Allen W. Field	Carl H. Rohman
Leon. T. Fleetwood	Carl E. Sanden
Ernest D. Gerne	Elwin W. Sherrard
D. L. Jouvenat	Merlin L. Springer
Sterling S. Mutz	Frank B. Sidles
C. Petrus Peterson

Southeast Group Wants Director

Humboldt (UPI) — The Southeast Nebraska Community Action Council will make an application for a federal grant of $12,725, according to Mrs. Guy Cooper of Humboldt, Council president

The grant will be used largely to finance hiring a technical director to conduct preliminary studies of the needs and potentialities of the area.

Counties included on the Council are Richardson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Johnson.

Dr. Lau (from left) briefs Bryan interns, Drs. Douglas Decker, Ronald Stephens and Kenneth Johannsen on their role in processing temporal bone bequests to hearing research work.

Sertoma Tests Reveal Many Losing Hearing

Today's record of 18 million Americans suffering from hearing loss will grow a little from results of Nebraska Sertoma Hearing Project, Inc. work this past year.

Of 3,834 children and adults tested by special equipment in 10 cities, about 4% or 150 had some abnormal hearing.

Other year-end findings prior to the Lincoln Sertoma luncheon for the Hearing Project Thursday noon at the Lincoln Hotel show:

—About 4 to 5% of the children tested had abnormal hearing.

—Approximately 20% of adults tested showed abnormal hearing. Most adults seemed to be aware of some hearing loss prior to tests.

In addition to the 3,834 conventional hearing tests, another 1,250 were made in the same period by a "dial-a-hearing" test established by the Grand Island Sertoma Club in cooperation with the telephone company.

Many Bequests

Lincoln pharmacist Norman Leuthauser, president of Nebraska Sertoma Hearing Project, said the year brought bequests from many hearing handicapped people for the nation's Temporal Bone Banks.

These banks are not like nerve or eye banks where healthy parts are stored and later transplanted to the living. They are ear research laboratories where bequeathed inner ear structures are studied, together with donors' medical and hearing records.

To make bequests easier to carry out, Nebraska Sertoma Hearing Project has worked this year to help inform young physicians like Bryan Memorial Hospital's interns how to process the human organ gifts.

This has been coordinated through Dr. Glen Lau, chairman of the Lincoln Sertoma Club hearing and speech committee chairman, and Dr. Leonard Lee, Bryan's medical education director.

The Lincoln Sertoma sponsorship luncheon Thursday in recognition of the hard of hearing program will include a talk by J. Dennis Ortiz of Kansas City. He is executive director of the Hearing and Speech Center at the Kansas City General Hospital and Medical Center.

Northwest Bancorporation Earnings Up

Northwest Bancorporation, a Minneapolis-based bank holding company with four banks in Nebraska, reports consolidated net earnings of $5,166,903, a record high, for the first quarter of 1966, up 7% from the $4,826,867 reported for the first quarter of 1965.

Earnings were equal to 92c per share of common stock, based on 5,608,618 shares outstanding Mar. 31, 1966, compared with 86c for the first quarter of 1965 on 5,588,900 shares.

Gross operating earnings, $36,499,313, were up 13.5% from the $32,160,387 for the first three months of 1965.

Northwest Bancorporation owns the majority of the outstanding stock in 78 affiliated banks, including 77 full-service commercial banks with 103 banking offices in Minnesota, Nebraska, Montana, Iowa, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, and an international bank in New York.

Board members are Mrs. Deloras Fees, Fremont; Mrs. Sharon Ingham, Lincoln; Mrs. Lucille Meadows, Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Mrs. Marlene Grunke, Norfolk.

The dental assistants met in Omaha in connection with the meeting of the Nebraska Dental Association and its auxiliary.

Mrs. D. W. Edwards of Lincoln heads the incoming slate of auxiliary officers.

Retarded Loan OKd

State Unit To Hire Director

Fremont — The Nebraska State Association for Retarded Children has been approved for a loan of $10,000 from the National Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Willis C. Sewall, a member of the board of directors of NARC, made the presentation at the annual state convention in Fremont

The money is being loaned to the state association to employ a full time executive director. Several applications for the position have already been received.

The loan will be matched by funds solicited from member units of the state association. As a surprise move, one unit, with only a month's notice, collected and presented their contribution to the convention.

The Saturday luncheon speaker, Crozier Duplantier, a consultant on the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, reminded members that retarded children are entitled to participate in community activities, ranging from religious services to employment opportunities.

In other business, Irvin Peterson of Grand Island was elected president of the state association for 1967. Other officers include first vice president, Charles Lowrey of Colombus; second vice president, Rev. William Hinkle of Kearney; secretary, Mrs. Rollin K. Braun of Grand Island; and treasurer, Bill Wills of Omaha

Lincoln has been chosen as the site for the 1967 convention, with Grand Island holding the meeting in 1968. The North Central Regional meeting, encompassing states from Indiana to Colorado, will also be held in Lincoln next year.

NU Second In Hearst

New York (AP)—The University of Nebraska School of Journalism took second place honors in the sixth annual journalism awards program of the William Randolph Hearst Foundation, it was announced Saturday.

Nebraska was runnerup to first place winner University of Indiana. Third place went to the University of North Carolina.

Other universities finishing in the top 10 were: Ohio State University, Kansas State University, University of Florida, Pennsylvania State University, San Jose State College, University of Oregon and the University of Texas.

Copple Relates Of Team Effort

Professor R. Neale Copple, director designate of the Nebraska School of Journalism, and head of the depth reporting classes, where the contest entries orginated, commented on the schools high national placement. He said:

"The most significant point about the University's students performance in the Hearst contest this year is that this was truly a team effort. Despite their very high placement in the contest, not one of our students placed in the top 10 more than once during the school year.

"And the team effort went beyond that, in this fifth year of high placement in the Hearst contest. Such persons as Mrs. Emily Trickey, research assistant in the depth reporting project, gave many additional hours to the students. And one of the most marvelous points in the whole depth project is that none of this could have been done if we had not had this state's press as a member of our team."

12 Legionnaires Back Galbraith

Twelve Nebraska American Legion members left Saturday for Indianapolis, Ind., to promote the 1967 Centennial celebration and the candidacy of Beemer Legionnaire Willie E. Galbraith for national Legion commander.

They will urge the Legion's National Americanism Commission to hold its 1967 national high school oratorical contest in Lincoln and its regional Legion baseball tournament in Hastings.

Making the trip were Galbraith, chairman of the State Centennial Commission and national Legion vice commander, Jim Harrison of Morrill, Orville Dudden of Venango, Eugene Kurkowski of Grant, Bob Lowry of Cairo, Jerry Henn of Petersburg, Ray Steffensmeier of Beemer, John Keriakedes of Omaha, Bob Corn of Papillion and Warren Baker, Ray Oltman, Loran Cottrell and Roy Sheaff, all of Lincoln.

NPA President

Dr. Joseph Hillson, chief psychologist at Norfolk State Hospital, was installed as the new president of the Nebraska Psychological Association.

Dr. M. G. Magnussen, director of the child guidance center in Lincoln, was named president-elect.

BEGINS WITH OUR COUPON!
If you'd like to write your own paycheck, start by filling in the coupon below and we'll furnish you with the details on AAMCO America's Largest Transmission Specialists with over 200 franchised shops coast to coast. We'll show you that AAMCO shops across the country are averaging an annual gross of $100,000 (best shops gross over $250,000), making possible personal incomes of $20,000 to $50,000 per year. We'll show you that after a partly financeable investment of $12,500 to $21,000, depending on size and territory, you will be trained thoroughly in the most advanced merchandising and management techniques, and with no need for automotive experience. And finally, we'll show you that AAMCO profits begin the first week of operation and continue for 52 weeks a year, unaffected by seasonal slumps or recessions. If you'd like to learn more about one of the world's most wanted franchises, if you're not afraid to work hard, then don't delay any longer and send in the coupon right now.

Are you willing to go as low as $1595* for a new VW?

We don't sell status.

Just a car. One that gets about 29 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.

Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

Are you willing to go as low as $1595* for a new VW?

Just a car. One that gets about 29 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.
Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

1966 SHRINE BOWL TEAMS SELECTED

South Power Matched Against North Speed

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Speed looms as the major North weapon as it seeks to trim the South's 5-2 series advantage in the eighth annual Shrine Bowl game at Memorial Stadium Aug. 20.

Rosters for the high school all-star contest announced Saturday by Robert C. Russell, president of Shrine Bowl of Nebraska, Inc., show that North coach Dell Miller of Columbus will have the makings of one of the swiftest backefields ever assembled for the game.

Omaha Technical's David Green, state Class A 100-yard dash champion as a sophomore; Omaha Central's Joe Orduna, fastest high hurdler in Nebraska prep history; and eight-man product Ken Beatty of Sutherland, Class D 100 and 220 champ as a junior, head the list of speed merchants at the North coaching staff's disposal.

Bellevue's Bill James, head coach of the South team, admits that the opposition will have a decided edge in raw speed.

"We won't be able to match them in speed, but I think we have come up with a solid team," the South boss indicates.

The emphasis in the South camp is likely to be on power and a strong defense. One area the South all-stars aren't lacking in is size—this department headed by rugged linemen Scott Barker of Bellevue, Mike Burdic of Omaha Westside, Bob Mawhiney of Pawnee City and Robert Buss of Cozad

Twenty-four of the 66 players selected by the respective coaching staffs earned Sunday Journal and Star all-state honors.

Bohaty, Pius X — Stephenson, Pius X — Wheeler, Pius X — Campbell, Northeast — Topliff, Northeast — Splichal, Southeast — Galusha, Lincoln High — Lyons, Lincoln High

Each squad draws from all four classes of 11-man play and the eight-man ranks.

Miller's North team included Beatty and Meadow Grove's big Gayle Williams from the eight-man division. Western's Dennis Bartels is the eight-man representative on the South team.

Class D players tabbed for action in the charity contest are Mike Pfeifer of Spalding Academy and Gregg Wibbels of Wolbach from the North and Dennis Sealey of Polk in the South.

Class C players chosen include Bertrand's Roger Sand and Pawnee City's Mawhiney in the South and Randy Cordes of Scribner in the North.

The South team again draws heavily on Lincoln talent with Pius X supplying nearly its whole backfield for the August encounter.

Mike Bohaty, Dana Stephenson and Kim Wheeler of the Thunderbolts will be joined in the South camp at Doane College in Crete by Northeast's Doug Campbell and Paul Topliff, Lincoln High's Larry Lyons and Jack Galusha and Southeast's Dick Splichal.

An unusually large number of Class B representatives will report to the North camp at Midland College in Fremont when drills open Aug. 8.

The Class B contingent is led by two-time all-stater Reggie Smith of West Point Central Catholic. Ten others, five backs and five linemen, from the Class B ranks are on the North roster.

This year's game increases to 522 boys, representing 124 schools, the number of players who have participated in the Shrine Bowl game.

Nine schools—Albion, Bertrand, Geneva, Grand Island Central Catholic, Meadow Grove, Scribner, Spalding Academy, Western and Wolbach—will be represented in the Shrine Bowl for the first time.

The dividing line for talent is highway 30-30A. Players from schools on the dividing line are apportioned equally between the two teams.

Miller's assistants on the North coaching staff are Allen Bellinger of Ord, Merlin Van Newkirk of Gering and Lou Wewel of Fremont Bergan.

James' South staff aides are Ted Weldon of Beatrice, Ray Huggett of Central City and Henry Meeker of McCook.

The selection of the two 33-player squads represents five months of screening by the coaching staffs, who started their selection processes at the conclusion of the 1965 football season.

NU Wins Mile Relay

By HAL BROWN

Des Moines, Iowa — Nebraska's Dave Crook pulled an 11th hour salvation job here Saturday afternoon in the 57th annual Drake Relays to keep an 11-year record intact for Husker coach Frank Sevigne.

A record of having coached at least one relay winners on the Grand Circuit of the Texas-Kansas-Drake Relays was within the final event of ending here for Sevigne when Crook, a bespectacled runner from Bellevue took the baton on the final leg of the mile relay.

The Huskers had been unable to pick up a relay victory at either Texas or Kansas and had run into misfortune in royal events here early Saturday afternoon.

The mile relay was the last chance and with Crook taking the baton for the final leg while trailing Central, Ohio, State's Martin McGrady by four yards, chances for a win were dim.

Crook kept pace with McGrady, who holds the American record in the 600 at 1:09.0 until they started out of the final curve when the Nebraskan made his move.

He edged past the Central State runner a few yards from the finish line and there was less than one-tenth second between the two of them as they crossed the line.

Both teams were clocked in 3:09.9, but Crook's anchor leg of :45.8 put him inches ahead of McGrady and the Sevigne string was saved.

The Huskers had sent four relay teams into Saturday's finals, but a spill in the shuttle hurdle relay and a pulled muscle for the sprint medley wiped out their chances in two of them.

Nebraska's hurdlers were en route to a national collegiate record in the shuttle relay event when anchorman Ray Harvey sprawled on the track after hitting the final hurdle and Michigan State came up with the record.

WIREPHOTO

NU's Greene breaks tape well ahead of Drake 100 field.

Dave Kudron, running the third leg, made up a five-yard deficit and gave anchorman Harvey a four-yard lead when he ran a :14.0.

After Harvey picked up another couple of yards, he began knocking down hurdles and finally fell after hitting the final barrier.

As Harvey sprawled on the track, Michigan State moved across the finish line in :57.4, erasing the Drake record of :57.9 which they set a year ago. The :57.4 also was one-tenth of a second under the NCAA record set by Winston-Salem in 1959, and tied by Rice a year ago at the Penn. Relays.

Nebraska's hopes for a win in the sprint medley relay were wiped out when Charlie Greene pulled up lame after finishing second by a yard in the 440 relay, won by Southern Methodist in :40.9.

With Greene sidelined, Sevigne scratched his team from the sprint medley, which Oklahoma State won in 3:18.2.

This left only the mile relay to keep the Sevigne skein intact and Crook provided the spark. Dennis Walker opened the mile relay with a :48.3 and Kudron followed with a :48.0 and Les Helbusch ran :47.8 before Crook's anchor leg gave the Huskers a 3:09.9, seven-tenths of a second over the record set by Nebraska in 1964.

Greene won the 100-yard dash for the second year in a row here with a wind-aided :09.3 putting him across the finish line five yards ahead of his nearest

Tatman's Attitude Is Typical

By CURT MOSHER

National rankings . . . conference championships . . . bowl trips . all-Americans

It's enough to baloon a man's head, take away his initiative, destroy his ambition.

Possible, but it hasn't happened to the Nebraska football team which is moving in on the homestretch of the spring practice, hopeful it will pave the way for another great season in the fall.

Typical of the attitude is Pete Tatman, a coming senior who is experimenting at end after playing at fullback for his first two seasons.

"I like it," Pete says, "but I've got a lot to learn. I really don't care where I play."

It's making the spring drills a little extra work for Pete, something which isn't the normal case for seniors. The work is learning what to do.

"It's a lot different blocking a tackle," he says, comparing it to blocking from the fullback position.

And Pete knows the trip at end may not be a permanent one. Coach Bob Devaney is hopeful of making a decision on Tatman at end shortly, perhaps next week. In fact, he's eager to get all of the experimenting accomplished this spring so when the club reports in the fall each player will be able to concentrate on one area.

Tatman's attitude is not unusual on the Cornhusker squad and Davaney paused a moment Saturday afternoon to reflect on this outstanding feature of the spring session.

"This spring the squad has had terrific attitude. It's been real good from the veterans and all. And this is encouraging. We've made a lot of mistakes and we've got a lot to do, but this has been excellent.

"The older players have been hustling and hitting hard. And this is good for squad morale. Without exception the seniors have been hustling. We haven't had to push anybody."

Saturday, the Huskers went "live" about half the time and the defense had slightly the better end of things as the coaches allowed the defense to stunt and use several alignments.

But Devaney felt that Wayne Weber and Frank Patrick did a good job of throwing the football.

"Weber showed a lot of poise," Devaney noted.

Depending on the weather, the Huskers can wrap up their spring practice just about on schedule. The spring game is scheduled for May 14 at Seacrest Field.

Devaney said the team likely would stay out of Memorial Stadium all spring, giving the turf a chance to get a good hold.

Reichardt Gets Two Homers Same Inning

By Associated Press

Rick Reichardt, the $175,000 bonus baby from the University of Wisconsin, tied a major league record by hitting two homers in one inning as the California Angels erupted for 12 runs in the eighth and defeated Boston 16-9 Saturday.

Reichardt unloaded a two-run blow against starter Earl Wilson and came back with his sixth homer, another two-run blast, off reliever Dan Osinski, the fourth and last pitcher in the inning.

The young slugger is the 11th player to hit two homers in an inning in the majors. Joe Pepitone of the New York Yankees was the last to do it, in 1962.

Jim Fregosi triggered the rally that wiped out a 9-3 Boston lead with a bunt single and later socked a three-run double that put the Angels ahead 10-9. Bobby Knoop, with a double and a two-run homer, and Joe Adcock, with a single and a triple, also had two hits in the inning.

In other afternoon games Philadelphia crushed the Chicago Cubs, 12-0, San Francisco whipped St. Louis, 6-1, the New York Yankees blanked Kansas City, 6-0, and Baltimore edged Detroit, 3-2, for its ninth straight victory. Rain washed out New York at Pittsburgh, Minnesota at Washington and Chicago at Cleveland.

Cris Short retired the first 16 Cubs he faced and wound up with a three-hitter. Don Kessinger was the first baserunner against the Phillie southpaw, beating out an infield singlein the sixth. The Phillies put the game away with seven runs in the fifth, three coming on Tony Taylor's homer.

Bob Bolin stopped the Cardinals on six hits while Orlando Cepeda hit a two-run homer in the third for San Francisco. Willie Mays again failed ot hit this 512th homer which would make him the all-time home run leader in the National League.

Mel Stottlemeyer led the Yankees to only their third victory in 14 games, pitching a six-hitter against Kansas City. Two of New York's runs came on double steals, Roy White stealing home in the third inning and Jake Gibbs scoring the same way in the fourth.

The Orioles gained their 11th victory in 12 games with the help of two home runs from Dave Johnson and one from Curt Blefary. Mickey Stanley drove in both of Detroit's runs with a double and a single.

In night games, the Cincinnati Reds edged Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1, on a two-run single by Tommy Helms in the eighth inning and Leo Cardenas' ninth inning homer while the Houston Astros nipped the Atlanta Braves 5-4 on John Bateman's run-scoring single in the ninth.

16 May Enter Field

Graustark Favored to Win 92nd Kentucky Derby Run

Louisville, Ky. (AP) —The Kentucky Derby, America's most colorful horse race, will be run for the 92nd time at Churchill Downs Saturday with Graustark the favorite to win in a field that may number as many as 16 three-year-olds.

Until three days ago, the long striding son of unbeaten Italian stallion, Ribot, figured to be the shortest priced favorite since Citation won the 1¼-mile Run for the Roses in 1948 and returned a mere $2.80 for $2.

But the previously unbeaten chestnut colt from John Galbreath's Darby Dan Farm, an easy winner of his three starts last year and four this season, lost by a nose to stretch running Abe's Hope in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland.

The oddsmakers quickly readjusted their figures, while owners and trainers took another look at their eligibles and calculated that anything can happen when the field breaks from the barrier at 3:45 p.m., CST before the usual packed house, annually estimated by Downs' officials as in excess of 100,000. The race will be televised in color by CBS from 3-4 p.m.

The rise of Abe's Hope, an Illinois-bred son of Better Bee from the Chicago-owned Grand Prix stable of John Bartell and Robert Byfield, and the threat of such top flight performers as Kauai King, and Amberoid, may make Graustark no more than even-money at post time.

Abe's Hope, who preceded his Blue Grass triumph with eye-opening showings in the Flamingo at Hialeah Park and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park, figures to be

A wag offers that Ryun wasn't bothered by the traffic between Lawrence, Kan., site of last week's Kansas Relays where he ran a 3:55.8 mile, and a gathering in Topeka. "He walked down the river between the two cities," a writer suggests.

Reporters a Problem

Still on the subject of Ryun, his coach, Bob Timmons, has indicated he may do something about hounding reporters bothering his star pupil.

Ryun did not show up for Friday's session of the Drake Relays and Kansas officials explained he was staying in his hotel room because of a slight cold.

"He didn't get much rest, however," Timmons complained, "because he kept getting phone calls from newsmen. If this keeps up, we may have to start hiding him at these big meets."

Ryun had to run here without his "rabbit", Tom Yergovich, to set the pace for him. Yergovich paced Ryun to his 3:55.8 mile last week at the Kansas Relays and the Kansas freshman showed his appreciation by giving Yergovich the watch he won for winning the mile.

Big 8 Tops Big 10

Mickey Holmes, tub thumper for the Big Eight office in Kansas City, points out that the Big Eight holds a superior edge over the Big 10 in track.

"Of the 21 events in which both conferences compete, the Big Eight has the best performance in all of them," Holmes boasts. "And in 12 of them, the top time in the Big 10 could not even make our listings."

The listings to which Holmes refers are the top seven or eight performances in each event.

Even Happens to Officials

Have you ever left for a sports event or the theater and found upon your arrival that you had apparently left your tickets on the bedroom dresser?

Well, it can happen to anyone. Big Eight Commissioner Wayne Duke showed up at the Drake Relays here Friday with his ticket for Saturday and had to wait outside until someone came up with a Friday ducat for him.

And Wilber Evans of the Southwest Conference, who was the main speaker at Friday night's dinner, left his ticket in the hotel room and had to wait just as Duke did.

Nearly Missed Finals

Southern University, which came within one-tenth of a second of the world record in the 880 relay with a 1:22.7 clocking, came within a decision reversal of missing the race.

Southern was disqualified after winning its heat of the 880 trials, but after the officials conferred, the disqualification was lifted and they were allowed in the finals.

One official disqualified them for failing to get the baton exchanged within the passing zone, but another official disagreed. When the first official admitted he wasn't sure, they took the word of the second official, who claimed he was sure it had been a legal exchange.

Double-Duty Disqualifies

Iowa State was disqualified from the shuttle hurdle relay after qualifying for the finals Saturday morning because one of its hurdlers did double-duty.

When Iowa State's third runner approached the end of his leg, the fourth runner, Darryl Green, was not on the scene, so a quick thinking John Adams, who had run the lead-off leg, grabbed the baton and also ran the anchor.

An official thought he had seen Adams run before and a check later showed he was right. Iowa State was then disqualified.

Green, who was supposed to run, was in the fieldhouse.

Husker Netters Lose Double Dual

Ames, Iowa — Iowa State and Missouri each defeated Nebraska's tennis team by 6-1 scores in a two-day double dual completed Saturday. Missouri stopped Iowa State, 5-2.

Saturday's results:

DOUBLES

Bill O'Hern-Skip Spensely, Iowa State, def. Ted Sanko-Dale Johnson, Nebraska, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Don Spilker-Ron Oxenhandler, Missouri, def. Roger Galloway-Tom Tipton, Nebraska, 6-1, 6-0.

competitor, Jim Hines of Texas Southern who was clocked in :09.4.

Greene's bid for a record was foiled by the wind for the second time in two years. A year ago his :09.4 matched the Drake record and his :09.3 Saturday bettered it, but a 10¼ miles an hour wind prevented it from going into the books as a record.

Nebraska also picked up strong performances from shot putter Jim Beltzer and miler Orlando Martinez.

Beltzer threw the shot 57-7¼ to finish third as Randy Matson of Texas A & M boosted his relays record to 65-3¾ and Martinez finished fourth in the University and college division mile run with a personal career best of 4:10.3 as Tom Von Ruden of Oklahoma State won with a relays record of 4:06.6.

The records by Matson and Von Ruden were among nine relays records and one NCAA record set during Saturday's events, run in chilly 46 degree temperatures, but under clear skies after an all-night rain Friday night.

The record-setting started on the opening event of the day when Abilene Christian rain 9:41.6 in the distance medley to erase the mark of 9:50.4 set by Kansas in 1954.

And it didn't end until Wichita's Fred Burton had cleared 16-6, long after writers had started their stories on the previous records.

Typewriters went silent as Burton tried the bar at 16-8, the NCAA record. Only after he had missed on his three attempts were writers able to resume their stories without rewriting.

Burton's 16-6 took the old mark of 15-9¼ by Missouri's Bill Younger off the books after being there since 1964.

Other relays records were set in the 440 relay college division by Texas Southern at :40.2, the shuttle hurdle relays by Michigan Satte, the two-mile by Southern Illinois' Oscar Moore at 8:46.9, the high jump by Texas Southern's John Hartfield at 6-10¼ and the college sprint medley by Southern University at 3:19.2.

But a record which many in the crowd of 18,000 were expecting to see fall was still on the books Saturday night.

Kansas freshman Jim Ryun, who had run a 3:55.8 a week ago at the Kansas Relays barely finished ahead of Emporia State's John Camien in a slow (for Ryun) 4:05.6.

Spahn Considers Baseball Offer

Milwaukee (AP) — Warren Spahn, the winningest lefthander in baseball history, said Saturday night he is considering an offer to pitch in the Texas League.

"I've been watching television, and I think I can do as well as some of those guys," said the 45-year-old Spahn, who was released by the San Francisco Giants after the 1965 season.

"In fact," Spahn said, "Chuck Tanner, who is manager of the El Paso team in the Texas League, called me recently and offered me a job. I just might go there to show people I can still get them out."

Columbia, Mo. (UPI)—Missouri converted 11 hits into two shutout victories over Nebraska Saturday in a Big Eight baseball doubleheader.

Orville Hollrah got the 3-0 win in the opener on a four-hit performance and Terry L'Ange allowed the same number of safeties in the 1-0 second tilt.

Nebraska used pitchers Bob Stickels and Charlie Green in the first game with Stickels taking the loss.

Bob Hergenrader and Wayne Kissler drew mound duty for the Cornhuskers in the second game. Hergenrader was the loser.

Missouri's record went to 4-5 and Nebraska dropped to 6-6.

Midwest Speedway Opens

Moment of Truth Arrives For Lincoln Car Builders

A small army of Lincoln car builders will reach the moment of truth tonight at Midwest Speedway.

Gerdes Biskup

Co-owners Jerry Gerdes and Jerry Biskup will launch their third season of racing at the 4600 No. 27th St. location.

A lot of questions remain unanswered as usual as newcomers move in to challenge some perennial leaders in the fast moving world of auto racing.

And as is customary every year there will be a wholesale amount of shuffling among drivers in different cars.

He drew fierce competition from always dangerous Lloyd Beckmann and in at least one show Beckmann even drove Car No. 24 when John was out of town.

Veteran builder Bill Smith reportedly will have two cars in competition this year. Undoubtedly one of them will don the familiar No. 4X.

Little Joe Saldana has spent another part of his winter on the west coast and the youngster is eyeing his best season ahead with hopes of reaching the big-time.

One familiar face will be missing. Roy McCain, the 'Roarin' Rebel' and his car No. 75, are out of business. The year 1965 was a sad one for this crowd favorite.

First, co-owner Guy Hollamon was severely injured in a freak accident when hit in the pit area at Eagle Raceway on May 1.

Hollamon was on the critical list for many weeks. Then about the time he was able to leave the hospital in late summer, McCain was injured on one of the State Fair programs.

Both men will be around the track this season, but not as a owner-driver combination. McCain will work periodically for Midwest Speedway as a roving announcer with a microphone in the pit area for on the spot interviews with drivers.

The Midwest programs will be moved ahead to 7:30 p.m. for the early part of the season. Racing will be conducted at the plant every Sunday of the Summer plus some holiday activity.

The drivers represent the Nebraska Super Modified Racing Association. Chris Ravins is the new club president and also the new 1966 flagman. Pete Leikam will continue as director of racing.

2 Share Lead In Shreveport Golf Tourney

Shreveport, La. (AP)—Kathy Whitworth and Sandra Haynie carded par 72s Saturday for the first round lead in the Shreveport Kiwanis Invitational Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament.

The two Texans were the only players to chalk up a par round on the rain-soaked Palmetto Country Club course. Rain washed out scheduled first round play Friday.

CFL Franchise To New York

New York (AP)—The Continental Football League filled out its 10-team roster Saturday by awarding a franchise to a group of 10 New York businessmen, who promptly labeled the club the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A spokesman for the league said the club hopes to play four of its seven home games in Shea Stadium, home of the New York Mets of baseball's National League and the New York Jets of the American Football League.

Patrick Pulls Out Villanova

Philadelphia (AP)—Villanova led by power-striding Dave Patrick, and Florida A&M's spring flashes, shared the major honors in the Penn Relays Saturday by capturing two of the relay championships in miserable weather at Franklin Field.

A crowd of 24,252 watched in the cold and rain as Patrick unreeled another come-from-behind anchor leg to pace Villanova's quartet of sophomores to a two-yard victory over Georgetown in the two-mile rally in 7:39.3, and Florida A&M swept the 440 yards and 880 yards relays Saturday.

The other winners of the eight premier relays of the meet which drew 6,000 track and field athletes were Kentucky State in the college mile sprint medley in 3:24.5; Tennessee, 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay, 59.5; Georgetown, four-mile relay 17:06.3, and Maryland State by five yards over Morgan State in the one-mile relay.

It was the first relay victories here for Tennessee and Florida A&M. The Floridians broke the ice in the quarter-mile with a two-yard edge over Morgan State in 41.6. Then they finished second to Maryland State in the half-mile but were awarded first when the Marylanders were disqualified for passing too soon on the exchange between the second and third men. Florida A&M's time was 1:26.9.

Villanova, trailing badly after two legs of the four mile relay, pulled out at the start of the third mile to save Ian Hamilton and Patrick for the two-mile relay later.

It paid off for the Wildcats, who had copped the distance medley relay Friday on Patrick's sizzling 4:04.6 anchor mile.

Hamilton, running third, moved Villanova within three yards of pace-setting Georgetown, and then the 19-year-old Patrick overhauled Rick Urbina and scored by two yards in a blazing finish.

Urbina had run the third mile leg in helping Georgetown to its four-mile triumph, the first relay victory for the Hoyas in 15 years at the Penn carnival.

Jumbo Elliott's Wildcats, winners of at least one relay for the last 12 years, now have copped 27 in 12 years. Villanova, which has dominated the meet for the last 10 years, wasn't expected to do much this year following the wholesale graduation of its star-studded 1965 team.

Patrick was named the meet's outstanding athlete.

Only two meet records were bettered in the two days because of the weather.

Maryland bagged three individual titles on the final day. Frank Costello retained his jump crown at 6-9, Ed Marks won the triple jump with 48-8¼, and Dick Dull copped the javelin with 219-8.

Other college individual winners were Jack Harvey, Michigan, shot put, 58-7½; Peter Chen, American U. pole vault, 15-0; William Reilly, Penn State, 3,000 meter steeplechase, 9:19.8; Leon Coleman, Winston-Salem College, 120-yard high hurdles, 14.0, and Sam Perry of Fordham in the 100 yard dash, 9.8.

Ak-Sar-Ben Opening Friday

Omaha — Two outstanding $10,000 races will be in the limelight as the 1966 Ak-Sar-Ben race meeting gets underway this weekend.

Friday's opening day card will feature the $10,000 Beef State Handicap for three-year-olds and up at six furlongs. It will attract some outstanding Thoroughbreds.

On Saturday the $10,000 Ak-Sar-Ben Princess Handicap at five and one-half furlongs will bring together what is expected to be an excellent group of three-year-olds.

This will be Ak-Sar-Ben's 30th years in Thoroughbred racing since the state legalized pari-mutuel wagering in 1935. Only interruptions came in 1942 and 1943 during World War II.

The 42-day meeting which runs from Friday through Monday, July 4, will attract over half a million fans. Last year's attendance was 552,000.

There will be nine races each day with no racing on Sundays or Mondays except holiday Mondays, May 30 and July 4. There will be no racing on Tuesdays, May 10 and May 31.

Post time each day will be 2:00 p.m. with twilight racing on Thursdays at 3:00 p.m. Ladies Days will be Tuesdays and Fridays. All parking (for over 10,000 cars) is free. No persons under 21 are admitted.

Ak-Sar-Ben's racing will reach its highest stature this year with the inauguration of the $50,000 added Cornhusker Handicap (June 25) and the $35,000 added Omaha Cup (July 2).

Ak-Sar-Ben Racing Secretary Harry Krovitz is expecting an unusually talented field for both the Beef State and the Princess. Last year the Beef State was run in two divisions with Old Rivers winning the first half and Peppy Cadet the second. Irish Bull won the 1965 Princess.

Horsemen will be offered an all-time high of over $1,500,000 in purses this year with a minimum purse of $2,500 and a daily feature of at least $5,000.

This attractive purse distribution has attracted fine stables from all over the country and Krovitz has confirmed stall applications for a fine array of horses.

Display Today

Some interesting exhibition races have been lined up by Racing Secretary Harry Krovitz for Ak-Sar-Ben's open house today.

The open house, which will offer patrons an opportunity to inspect the completely remodeled plant, will run from 10:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. The races will be held at 2:00 p.m.

Krovitz has arranged two two-year-old races, two three-year-old races and two races for older horses.

Turf Garden

Ak-Sar-Ben will provide all races on closed circuit television on the 30-foot screen in the Coliseum again this year. This was a notable first at Ak-Sar-Ben last year.

The Turf Garden in the Coliseum proved so popular with fans and horsemen that it has been enlarged in the completely remodeled Coliseum.

All races will also be shown on 24 smaller monitors throughout the plant.

Mrs. Frank Morrison (left) crowns queen Jeannette Dillon who reigns over this year's Capital City Horse and Pony Club show currently in progress at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Miss Dillon Pony Queen

Sixteen-year-old Jeannette Dillon was crowned queen of the third annual Capital City Horse and Pony Club show Saturday night by Mrs. Frank Morrison, wife of Nebraska's governor.

Jeannette is a sophomore at Waverly High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linus Dillon. She is active in various school activities and an honor student.

The queen's attendants were Judy Emery and Nancy Cook. Jeannette assumed the crown from her cousin, Mary Jo Dillon, the 1965 queen.

$125,000 Goes to Winner In Second Richest Classic

the strong second choice. He had the Flamingo won only to bow in the final stride to the now sidelined Buckpasser, the 1965 2-year-old champion. He finished first in the Florida Derby but was set back to fourth for interference.

Kauai King, Michael Ford's Nebraska-owned son of the great Native Dancer, and Amberoid, a come-from-behind stylist representing Reginald Webster, should battle for third place on the odds board.

Kauai King, who as a two-year-old was handled by Loyd Gentry, now trainer of Graustark, won the Governor's Gold Cup at Bowie. Amberoid, a son of Count Amber, was a surprise winner of the Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Graustark, who had been sidelined last year with sore shins and again early this year by an ankle injury, threw a scare into his handlers last Wednesday. He took a few unusual steps after a workout. But an examination showed no more than a slight infection in his left fore foot caused by an improperly placed nail in his shoe.

The big colt caused even more concern Friday when further infection was found in the hoof.

Trainer Loyd Gentry said at the time, however that the injury would not change anything.

"We are going to ship to Louisville as scheduled," he said. "No change in plans."

With 16 starters, the Derby will be the second richest in the history of the classic which began in 1875 with Aristides earning a mere $2,850. It'll be worth $165,000 with $125,000 going to the winner. Needles won $123,450 in 1956. Second place will pay $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $5,000.

Old Bag Captures Feature

Louisville, Ky. (AP) — Old Bag came through on the rail Saturday to whip three Kentucky Derby hopefuls in the $6,000 Stepping Stone Purse at Churchill Downs, one of the last preps for the May 7 classic.

Old Bag, ineligible for the Derby, nipped Mary D. Kiem's Sean E Indian by one-half length. Padget and Grant's Blue Skyer was another three-quarters behind.

Sean E Indian, Blue Skyer and Clear Springs Stable's Beau Sub, last in the five-horse field, are eligible for the $125,000-added Derby.

Sean E Indian and Blue Skyer may have earned Derby starts but the poor finish by Beau Sub all but ruled him out of the Derby.

Sean E Indian, with Earlie Fires in the saddle, set the early pace while Old Bag, on the rail, and Blue Skyer, on the outside, challenged in the final quarter of a mile.

Old Bag, ridden by Willie Shoemaker and owned by P. & R. Schleicher and S. M. Rieser, was timed in 1:25 1-5 for the seven furlongs over a sloppy track.

The winner returned $11.40, $4.20 and $2.40. Sean E Indian paid $3.20 and $2.20. Blue Skyer, the favorite, paid $2.20.

I May Be Wrong

By Curt Mosher
Sunday Sports Columnist

Seldom in the annals of wrestling, perhaps not since the night the Masked Marvel was defrocked and revealed to be the Little Ole Lady from Pasadena, has such a stir been created in the sport as there was last week

Wade Stinson, Kansas athletic director and a renowned long hitter off the golf tee, told writers at the KU relays the collegiate wresting program there would be suspended.

Who cares?, you ask. Well, a lot of folks around the Big Eight Conference care. Particul rly so among us do-gooders who have the goofy idea that when you're a part of something you should go with the group.

Why, the first thing you know, they won't swim at Colorado or have gymnastics at Iowa State. They might even give up football at Kansas State or basketball at Oklahoma.

Almost 100 Per Cent

Kansas only recently joined the wrestling schools in the Big Eight, starting off with a "club" arrangement which did not have a coach as such. Then Gary Duff, a wrestler and football place kicker, took the job on a part time arrangement. He is no longer available.

About the same time Kansas began wrestling, Missouri also joined the league in that area, making it a full eight-team complement.

The same thing happened in swimming. For a time Oklahoma State and Missouri did not compete. But the Cowboys got in the swim a year ago and Missouri took it up this past season.

In gymnastics, Missouri and Oklahoma State have formed clubs and NU coach Jack Geier says he understands both will compete on a regular basis in the near future. That would make all schools in all sports operated within the league.

Tippy Agrees

Nebraska athletic director feels that complete programs are the only thing.

"That's the program we've been working toward in the Big Eight," Tippy says, "that all schools be involved in all sports. You don't like to put a guy (Stinson) on the spot. But if they drop out of something it leaves the door open for some other school to drop something."

Any athletic director is conscious of the problems of paying the bills and Tippy is no exception. For this reason, Tippy adds.

"This could all sound like sour grapes coming from me since we are making money on our football program."

Football is the only money maker in collegiate athletics. For this reason it carries a terrific burden. Kansas has added 7,000 football seats which is being paid for by the students. The athletic department, however, must pay the interest on the financing.

Stepping Along

"There's a time and place for everything," Stinson says "And this isn't the time. If you're going to compete in something you ought to try to win it. For us to compete in wrestling in our own conference you have to compete with the best in the nation."

Granted. The Oklahoma State, Iowa State and Oklahoma programs in wrestling are the best in the nation.

"We're proud we have teams like this in our conference," is Tippy's view.

This has been one of the major pluses of the Big Eight. It has strength everywhere. National titles have come in almost all sports.

Tippy says the budget in all sports has been increased in all sports every year since he's been on the scene. It takes money for scholarships to improve in collegiate athletics. NU is trying. Everyone in the Big Eight should.

Extra Pointers Re-Elect Head

Jack Andrews of Lincoln has been re-elected president of the University of Nebraska Extra Point Club

Andrews, a Lincoln business executive, served as president last year when the Cornhusker booster club contributed a record $7,000 to the University of Nebraska athletic grant-in-aid program.

Bud Wiederspan is the new vice president of the Extra Point Club, while Bill Woltemade is the new secretary.

Nebraska assistant athletic director Jim Pittenger and Lou Roper continue as co-treasurers.

Littler Has Texas Golf Margin

San Antonio, Tex. (AP) — Gene Littler surged from a tie for third place to take the lead Saturday with a three-round total of 202 in the $80,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Littler shot a three-under-par 67 and was eight strokes under par for the three rounds.

"I hope I can have another just like that one," he said.

The second round leaders, Phil Rodgers and Jim Ferrier shot two-over-par 72s to drop into a tie for fourth place with five others at 205.

Jerry Edwards, 29-year-old tour regular from Fort Worth, Tex., shot a 67 to go with two earlier 68 rounds for sole possession of second place with 203.

BuffsRomp In Relays

Boulder, Colo. (AP)—Colorado ran off with an easy victory at its own relays Saturday, but a pair of high jumpers from Fort Hays State of Kansas shared record-breaking honors with Colorado pole vaulter Chuck Gardner.

Gardner vaulted 16 feet 5 inches on his first try, breaking the meet record of 15-1 set by Roger Olander of CU in 1963, and the stadium record of 15-10¼ set by George Davies of Oklahoma State in 1961.

The oldest record in the Colorado Relays fell to the Fort Hays duo of Rod Williams and Bob Schmidt. Both cleared 6 feet 10¾ inches in the high jump, with Williams taking first on fewer misses. The previous record was 6-8½ set by CU's Gil Cruter in 1938.

Colorado finished with 22 points, followed by Colorado State University with 11, Fort Hays with 8, Adams State College and Wyoming 7, Denver 5, Southern Colorado State 4 and Kearney, Neb State 1.

Green Leads Tech To Title In Metro Meet

Omaha—Jim Hunter's four first places weren't enough as Omaha Tech unseated Omaha Central as Metropolitan Conference track champion Saturday.

Leading Tech to its winning total of 61½ points was sprinter David Green, who flashed to clockings of :09.6 in the 100 and :21.9 in the 220. The wind-aided marks are the fastest reported in the state this year.

Hunter won the high hurdles, 440, broad jump and triple jump. His broad jump mark of 22-10¾ is the best reported outdoors this year.

Other sparklers were Central miler Bobby Allen, who clocked 4:26 and Westside 880 star Warren Whitter who ran 1:57.5.

Central, running without Joe Orduna, was runnerup with 50 points and Westside third at 37.

100—David Green, Tech, :09.6; 220—Green, Tech, :21.9; 440—Jim Hunter, Central, :50.5; 120 H.H.—Hunter, Central, :14.5; 880—Warren Whitter, Westside, 1:57.5; 180 L.H.—George Hicks, North, :19.7; Two-mile relay—Abraham Lincoln, 8:25.6; Mile—Bobby Allen, O. Central, 4:26; 880 relay—Tech, 1:30.6; Mile relay—Tech, 3:29.

Discus—Hardt, O. Westside, 162-3; Polle vault—Randy Reeves, O. Benson, 12-6; Broad jump—Jim Hunter, 22-10¾; Shot put—John Olson, Benson, 51-4½; Triple jump—Hunter, Central, 4[illegible]; High jump—Muller, Creighton Prep, 6-2¼.

Fireballers Frowned Upon In the Egg Lobbing League

By TOM HENDERSON

Football scouts interested in a quarterback who can pass with a "soft touch" should have taken a gander at the prospects at Pioneers Park Friday afternoon.

That was where hundreds of engineering students from the University of Nebraska gathered for a field day, capping E-Week.

The engineers competed in several events, but there was one which would have tested even a professional passing tandem's ability.

That was the egg throw. The object of the game was for a two-man team to play catch with a raw egg, standing as far apart as they could without letting it break.

But these fellas didn't mess around! The first team to try connected for about 30 yards, and the second bettered that by five.

Dozens of eggs splattered on shirts, pants and hands, and when the yolk cleared a pair of architectural students were kings of the roost with a winning heave of nearly 75 yards.

Another event, every, bit as messy, was the cross-country run.

The race started out simply enough with the runners carrying batons through the park picnic area toward the concession stand.

Even the second leg of the event conformed with the traditional cross country style. But runners on the third leg found the going tougher, splashing through the lake in the center of the park where the fourth leg started.

The hill leading to the Indian statue proved amply steep for the fourth runner, who had to make the journey with a concrete block on his back. A fifth team member skampered down the hill to the finish line.

As it turned out, the cross-country run, the final event of the afternoon, determined the winner of the field day, the mechanical engineers picking up seven points for a first-place finish to score a narrow 72-71 victory over the civil engineers who failed to add any points in the race.

Plymouth Captures Rebel 400

Darlington, S.C. (AP) — Richard Petty put his hemipowered Plymouth in front at the start and ran away from the field Saturday in winning the $65,000 Rebel 400 mile stock car race at Darlington International Raceway

The 28-year-old Petty made it look easy as he finished more than three laps ahead of another veteran Plymouth driver, Paul Goldsmith of Munster, Ind.

His average speed for the 291 laps around the 1⅜ mile oval was 131.585 miles per hour, a record for this event. The old mark of 130.013 m.p.h. was set by Fred Lorenzen in 1964 when the race was run at 300 miles.

Petty picked up $12,000 for his second major victory of the season as about 18,000 watched under overcast skies that produced occasional rain. He won the Daytona 500 in February.

Finishing third behind Goldsmith, who won $6,570, was David Pearson, driving a 1965 Dodge, who got $4,080. Fourth was G. C. Spencer, in a 1965 Plymouth, and fifth was Bunkie Blackburn, in a 1965 Dodge.

Park Cabins Open May 15 At 4 Sites

Visitors who like Nebraska's scenic state parks so well they would like to stay, may do so beginning May 15.

That is the date for official opening of cabins and other facilities at Chadron, Niobrara, and Ponca State Parks, the Game Commission announced.

Cabin facilities were made available April 22 at Fort Robinson as a convenience to spring turkey hunters and will remain open. Major state park facilities include cabins, camping picnicking, and horseback riding.

State historical parks at Fort Kearny and Scouts Rest Ranch are open year-round. State recreation areas are open to visitation unless otherwise posted. Victoria Springs State Recreation Area cabin and camping facilities will also be available May 15. Arbor Lodge State Historical Park opened on April 15.

Kearney — Western powers Grant and Sutherland galloped off with the Class C and D championships as the 56th annual Kearney Invitational was concluded on a chilly afternoon Saturday.

There was never much doubt about Grant's win in Class C as Bill Ramsey's troupe nearly doubled the score on runnerup Cambridge, but Sutherland didn't nail down its title until the final event.

Defending Class D 100 and 220-yard champion Ken Beatty came through with a swift :21.6 anchor leg to help the Sailors in the 880 relay and overcome Overton, which had gone in front after the mile relay.

Beatty had earlier turned in gold medal times in the dashes, winning the 100 in :10.0 and the 220 in :22.3.

He had to share the 100-yard dash lead with Henderson's Ken Janzen, however. Janzen, who has established himself as the man to beat in the Class C sprints, won both dashes to complete a sweep in the Doane, Hastings and Kearney invitationals.

The Class C 220, which brought out this division's top speed merchants, highlighted the Saturday portion of the two-day meet.

Janzen had the narrowest of margins over Sumner's Mick Jeffery, who won the 440, and Wauneta's Larry Kitt. All three were clocked in :22.4, with Grant's Marlin Terwilliger right behind at :24.5.

Terwilliger, also fourth in the 100, was Grant's top performer. The versatile junior won the broad jump and triple jump and anchored the gold medal 880 relay team.

Adding punch to the Grant attack was miler Cliff Colglazier, another junior, who trimmed his own record to 4:30.7 without the benefit of much opposition.

Larry Ommert of Cambridge and Doug Carey of Franklin hooked up in a pair of photo-finish hurdles duels. Ommert won the highs in :15.1 and Carey came back to take the lows in :20.6.

One of the top efforts, although not a record-breaking performance, was the 162-9 discus toss by Ansley's Doug Shada. He became the fifth to top 160 feet this spring.

Joining Beatty as double winners in Class D were Dorchester's Dale Feeken and Ken Meyers of Wilcox.

Feeken rambled to easy wins in the hurdles with efforts of :15.1 and :21.3.

Meyers hiked the Class D pole vault mark to 12-5¾ and posted the gold medal high jump mark of 6-1. He also scored in both sprints and finished second to Superior's Doug Anderson in the pentathlon competition. He bettered Anderson's 1965 record, but couldn't match the 5,247 total Doug compiled Friday.

Winner of the Bert Wallace Memorial Trophy which annually goes to the meet's top performer was Kearney's Ernie Cary.

Prep Parade

By Don Forsythe
Staff Sports Writer

Bits of this and that collected from the prep front while wondering which day in August South Shrine Bowl coach Bill James will call up North Coach Dell Meller and ask him to bring a few boys down for a basketball game.

James could put together quite a team from the ranks of his Shrine Bowl squad. How about a lineup like this: Bob Gratopp of Geneva, Ken Geddes of Boys Town, Paul Topliff of Northeast, Mike Bohaty of Pius X and Ray Harr of McCook

And for bench strength James could select from the likes of Dana Stephenson of Pius X, Roger Sand of Bertrand, Dennis Sealey of Pork, and Bob Mawhiney of Pawnee City.

Miller, if he were to accept such a proposal, would build around Gering's Larry Rice and the Omaha Benson duo of Mike Graham and Randy Reeves.

All of this merely points out the versatility of the 66 seniors selected for Shrine Bowl play. Most of them competed successfully in one or more other sports.

Try Gymnastics

Youngsters hoping to become successful pole vaulters might be well advised to spend their winters competing in gymnastics. Lincoln Northeast coach Max Hester thinks that there is no other winter activity which can match it.

He credits much of the success of junior Mike Henninger to gymnastics work during the past winter. Hester sees two big advantages for prospective vaulters competing in gymnastics.

"It is a good way for them to build up their shoulders and it also helps them develop body control," he says. Max points out that his best vaulters at Northeast have been Jim Inness, Dennis Van Landingham and Henninger. Inness was a state side horse champ and Van Ladigham a champion in the rope climb.

Another former rope climber who has had better than average success in vaulting is state record holder Randy Reeves of Omaha Benson. Reeves was runnerup to Van Landingham in the rope climb event in the 1964 state gymnastics meet.

Musical Chairs

The tempo of the annual game of coaching musical chairs is picking up. Among the switches being made this year are the following:

Gene Torczon has entered his resignation after five years as Schuyler basketball coach, having been accepted as coach at Sidney.

Pawnee City's Clyde Volz has resigned after three years of football coaching there to take a similar post at Pender.

Delynn Kienker has followed Auburn superintendent Ross Speece to Hastings, where he will be an assistant basketball coach. Taking over his head job at Auburn will be Larry Dankenbring, who has been on the Auburn staff for several years, and is currently serving as track coach.

Gary Engelbart is moving from Walthill to Hooper to take over the basketball job. Named to fill the Walthill posts are Dennis Spurgeon in basketball and Roger Stafford in football.

Additions to the David City staff are Gene Hruza, Tobias coach who will take over the wrestling job, and Bob Sterner, Nebraska City native who will succeed Gary Welton as track coach.

Air Force Adds Heat To Field

Air Force Academy, Colo. (AP)—The Air Force Academy is installing a heating system under its football stadium to prolong the grass growing season.

An academy spokesman said 16.4 miles of electric wires were being interlaced seven inches under the playing field. Heat will be used to keep the grass growing throughout the football season.

Nebraska Ranks Last in Road Funds Received

Nebraska ranks last in the region in federal road funds received, the Bureau of Roads said. This includes Interstate funds.

Nebraska was slightly higher for primary and secondary roads funds and for urban highways.

As the report was issued, the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce was urging the state to emphasize more urban streets rather than rural streets and roads.

A four-point suggestion included a request to enlarge and reorganize the State Roads Dept, planning and urban division and the State Highway Commission, to give urban interests a greater voice.

Lincoln in Brief

Prof. R. Neale Copple was named director of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism . . . Dr. Leland D. Arnot, 65, Lincoln dentist and former state Dental Assn. president, was found guilty on four counts of income tax evasion . . . Lincoln Airport Authority approved a $518,832 operating budget for 1966-67, a nearly $40,000 increase . . . Danish Prime Minister Jens Otto Krag termed America the prime creator of modern Western society at a Lincoln meeting . . . Nanci Shook, a Lincoln coed, was named Miss University of Nebraska . . . Randall Varilek, 19, pleaded innocent to charges of leaving an accident scene after a three-year-old boy was injured . . . Five Lincoln residents watched an unidentified flying object at different locations on April 20 for 5 minutes . . . A West O cleanup project was termed successful.

Operation Outdoors

by Chuck Roberts

Spring like weather and warming water temperatures thawed out the black bass last week as Lincoln and Southeast Nebraska anglers scored with bag limits on many area lakes

A couple of indications that the annual spring feeding spree was underway occurred last week before the "Norther" blew in rain and colder temperatures on Wednesday.

Dennis Unruh of Lincoln and I gave the "South Lake" at Hickman (dam No. 9) a whirl on Monday and boated 17 near-keeper northerns and 10 1½-2 pound bass.

Artificials Win Favor

Lincolnite Walt Somerhiser, the next day, left the minnow bucket at home in favor of artificials and brought home three bass around two pounds and released some 20 northerns just under 24 inches. He fished about three hours.

The majority of the bass and northerns being caught in the lake just southwest of Hickman aren't being hooked on live bait. They're being fooled with a type of lure that for some time has been responsible for record catches in Arkansas, Texas and Oklahoma.

It's a lead-head jig bait with a rubber or hair skirt and a large spinner on the end of a wire jutting out from the head of the lure. There are a couple dozen manufacturers of the bait but anything that looks like a "Scorpian," "Bush-whacker" or "Hog Caller" will do the trick.

There's a reason. On this lure, like any jig-type bait, the hook rides up. This in itself won't catch you nay more fish, but the fact that you can throw it into a "forest" and retrieve it with reasonable certainty that you won't get hung up, breeds a lot of confidence that you can fish where the fish are — in the weeds and brush. The protruding wire with spinner helps also.

Yellow-black, black and dark-grey seem to be the best colors. It might be because all the fish I've seen caught this spring were full of crawdads. It might be because fish just like it If you can't find any crawdads and live-bait fishing appeals more than lure throwing, try minnow-dunking Better yet, try it at dam No. 14 (Pawnee Lake) just north of Emerald

Bag Limits of Bass

Conservation Officer Dale Bruha has Pawnee Lake in his area and he reports bag limits of small bass being taken there regularly. Dale says the "northwest portion of the lake seems to be producing the most bass" but didn't say there was any particular area where the one-pound bullheads were being taken. He just said a lot of them were being caught on worms.

For those of you anxious to launch a boat into this 740 acre lake, forget it and go somewhere else until the lake comes up another foot and a half.

"There's two and half feet of water at the boat ramp now," Bruha reported, "but we need four feet before it's safe for all types of boats." Any way you look at it, waiting for the lake to come up is cheaper than a major repair job on a boat hull.

The boat ramp at Dam No. 2 (Olive Creek Lake) close to Kramer is open but the road isn't paved. Don't try it when it's raining or has been. We know someone who did. The lake is full of bass.

Chuck Roberts (left) and Dennis Unruh, both of Lincoln, show some two-pounders, indications that the annual spring feeding spree on black bass is getting into full swing on Salt-Wahoo reservoirs.

Like Gavins Point

Travelers Need Permits In Federal Rec Areas

Omaha—Nebraskans headed for fishing or picknicking at Gavins Point near Yankton, S.D., this summer will have to buy a new federal recreation permit.

Cost of the permit ranges from 50 cents to $7 depending on how long the individual remains in the area.

The permits are required by legislation, the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, passed by the 1965 Congress.

According to the Army Corps of Engineers district office here, a permit will be required at Gavins Point in the downstream area, including the Tailwaters, Pierson Ranch, Cottonwood, Training Dike and Overlook Picnic units.

Permits also will be required at other recreation areas in the Dakotas and Montana—Fort Randall, Big Bend, Oahe, Garrison and Fort Peck.

Permits are required from Memorial Day through Labor Day.

Permits authorizing access into 7,000. federal recreation areas throughout the U.S. until Mar. 31, 1967, will be available beginning May 9 at the Corps' Omaha office. The cost is $7.

Limited permits may be purchased at the recreation sites. A 50-cent permit admits an individual to any designated area for one day only.

A $1 permit admits the buyer and those in his car to any area for one day. A $1.50 permit covers one individual for a 30-day period at one area, while a $3 permit is valid for 30 consecutive days at one site only and admits the buyer and all who accompany him in his car.

Income from the permits will go into a special fund administered by the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. Of the fund, 40% will buy additional federal recreation areas and 60% will go to the states on a matching basis.

Each state will share equally in 2/5ths of the 60% while the other 3/5ths will be allocated on an "as-needed" basis.

Heritage Sunday June 19

Sunday, June 19 will be Nebraska Heritage Sunday, a special state-wide observance to cap off NEBRASKAland Days.

Heritage Sunday will call attention to Nebraska's religious and western background. It will pay tribute to the many religious groups and missionaries, as well as all the other frontier men and women who helped tame the west.

Handling arrangements for the event is a committee of three Lincoln ministers. They are Rev. Richard Easterday, Rev. Carroll Lemon, and Rev. Raymond Hain. As with all NEBRASKAland Days activities, June 12 through 19, the Game Commission is acting as co-ordinating agency.

Churches throughout the state are being invited to participate in Heritage Sunday with special church services of their own.

In Lincoln, an old-time "camp meeting" will feature three religious services on the final day of NEBRASKAland Days.

Catholic Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. with interdenominational Protestant services at 8 a.m. and 11 a.m. All three will be held at Pinewood Bowl.

A free pancake feed in the picnic area west of the Bowl will precede each church service. Boy Scouts and members of various civic organizations will be dishing up flapjacks for all from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m.

Other events during Heritage Sunday will be the NEBRASKAland Championship Rodeo Finals at 2 p.m., and the closing flag ceremony on the steps of the State Capitol at sundown. The lowering of the flag, a minister's benediction, and the firing of a canon more than a week jamnon will ring down the curtain packed with activity.

NEBRASKAland Days will be chock-full of parades, rodeo, shows, contests, beauty pageants, free feeds, powwows, camp outs, and Wild West wing-dings of all kinds.

National Ike Official Tells Of New Enlistment Program

By RICK AKIN

Columbus—With the interest in wildlife conservation increasing all through the country, the National Izaak Walton League is embarking on a different recruiting program, the information director and editor of the organization's magazine said Saturday.

"There are undoubtedly thousands of people who want to do something (for conservation)," Royal McClelland, here for the state Izaak Walton convention. "And this drive is an attempt to get them to do something."

The enlistment drive is aimed at professional and business people, who may never attend an Ike meeting but can contribute through writing letters to congressmen, etc, in hopes of advancing conservation's progress.

"It's my theory that people are more interested in outdoor recreation than ever before," McClelland said. "This has been shown by the government entering so many more programs such as water pollution.

"And I think this reflected the attitudes of the people in general."

So, naturally, there are more people who would jump in and help out.

The national organization experimented with its new attitude in recruiting in northern Wisconsin where inembership is not what McClelland thinks it should be.

The response has been encouraging. A banker in Superior, Wis., for instance, has helped the Explorers develop a wilderness area which had been invaded by private business and started it on its way to being a permanent retreat for the Boy Scout group, McClelland said.

Concerning Nebraska Izaak Walton League chapters, McClelland said: "Nebraska has fairly good membership. There are certain areas where we hope it will increase, however. We hope to find some way of developing organized groups where we have no present organization."

He said there are 13 Nebraska towns with 5,000 or more population and five towns with 10,000 or more population which at this time have no chapter.

Nebraska currently has 28 chapters and 1696 members.

"Nebraska is not among the top most states in membership but they always give very strong support to national programs," he said.

The meeting concludes here Sunday with Dan Saults, the information director for U.S. Bureau Land Management the featured speaker.

Highlights From Home

MAIL-AWAY EDITION — WEEK OF APRIL 24-APRIL 30

Huskers' Greene Captures Drake 100; Mile Relay Comes Through

Nebraska's Charlie Greene won the 100-yard dash at the Drake Relays with a wind-aided :09.3

The mile relay team also won which kept a 10 year string intact. During coach Frank Sevigne's decade at the Husker helm, his thinclads have presented him with a relay win at the Texas, Drake or Kansas Relays each year. No relay team won at the Texas or Drake.

Henninger — Heimbuch

Grand Island Track Winner

Grand Island ran up a total of 90½ points to easily win the Trans-Nebraska Conference Track meet at Nebraska Wesleyan

Rod Heimbuch of the Islanders was the meet star, working for three individual first places—the 100-yard dash, the 220 and the broad jump. His :10.3 time was a new record

Kearney Wins Own Invite

Kearney rolled up 191 points and Lexington got 61 to win the Class A and B titles, respectively, at the Kearney Invitational.

Tom Housel ran a 4:29.2 mile for Lexington as the individual standout.

Class C and D athletes also had good marks. Sutherland's Ken Beatty and Henderson's Ken Janzen each logged :10.0 times in the 100.

Beatty's work helped his team win the Class D title. Grant won the Class C crown behind Marlin Terwilliger and Cliff Colglazier, a pair of juniors. Colglazier trimmed his mile time to 4:30.7 in the meet.

Rocket Sets City Record

Mike Henninger of Northeast pole vaulted 13-7½ in a dual with Southeast for the best jump ever by a Lincoln vaulter. The vault placed the junior at the top of the Nebraska charts this spring.

NU Footballers Continue Drills

Nebraska's football team, the defending Big Eight champion, was again stymied by rainy weather early in the week, but got in some good work on the warm, sunny days that followed.

Coach Bob Devaney said that the squad morale was terrific.

Giles to Post

Bill Giles, former Nebraska baseball and football star was named assistant football coach and head baseball coach at the new four year College, Hiram Scott, located in Scottsbluff.

Dick Beechner, former Lincoln High assistant, was named the head football coach a few weeks ago.

NU Budget Up Over $2 Million

The University of Nebraska approved a $27.7 million budget, a $2 million increase over current spending, for the year beginning July 1.

About 70% of the increase is for instruction, and 20% for research and other programs.

Funds for adding some 90 full-time faculty are included.

The budget is based on projected enrolment of 17,200, an increase of about 2,000 over last fall.

SOLUNAR TABLES

WHEN TO FISH OR HUNT

by John Alden Knight and Richard Alden Knight

The schedule of solunar periods for the following week as printed below has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your day so that you will be fishing good territory, hunting good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport that each has to offer. The tables are not a guarantee you will catch fish or see game during the period, however.

The major periods begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter, and are in black face type. The minor periods are somewhat shorter in duration.

Merging of Pennsy, Central Might Mean Rail Fare Cut

New York (AP) — A new era in eastern railroading dawned last week with Interstate Commerce Commission approval of the merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroads.

The combination was the largest corporate merger in history and it will create the world's largest privately owned railroad system.

It will mean, according to the heads of the two rail systems, improved passenger and freight service and possibly lower rates and fares.

The marriage of the Central and the Pennsy has been nine years in the making. It has been hanging fire since the initial proposal by the late Robert Young, chairman of Central, in 1957.

The merger, which becomes effective in June, will create a system with assets of more than $4.1 billion and 40,912 miles of track. It would have 4,506 locomotives, 205,224 freight cars and 5,717 passenger cars.

$80 Million

Officials of the two lines have estimated that annual savings in operations of $80 million can be effected within five years.

The combined system—to be known as the Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co.—will link 14 states, the District of Columbia and portions of Canada.

The ICC directed that the Penn-Central assume operation of the freight and passenger service of the bankrupt New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad through 1966. Executives of Pennsy and Central said they saw no difficulties in doing so.

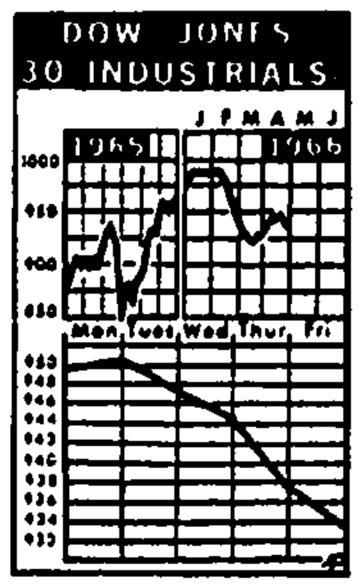
A key business barometer, the demand for machine tools, is strong and gaining steadily, according to the National Machine Tool Builders Assn.

The total of net new orders for machine tools of all types in March was valued at $184.3 million, compared with $165.95 million in February.

Retail store sales last week totaled $5,639,000,000, the Census Bureau estimated, up 1% from the previous week and up 7% from a year earlier.

New York (UPI) — Pressure on a few key blue chips brought the Dow Jones industrial average tumbling down last week for its biggest loss since a 20-point slide in the first week of March.

Most of the daily declines in the indicator were comparatively modest but a plunge of more than 7 points on Thursday made up a large part of the weekly loss.



Dow Jones industrials off 16.15 points in week.

James Seacrest Joins Newspaper At North Platte

North Platte — James C. Seacrest, 28, of Lincoln has joined the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin as treasurer of the North Platte Publishing Corp.

Seacrest ended a two-year tour of duty, including a year in Korea, as a U.S. Army first lieutenant in February. Previously he was a member of the Burlington Railroad public relations staff in Chicago and had worked in the advertising department of the Journal-Star Printing Co. in Lincoln.

Seacrest and his wife, the former Paula Warner of Columbus, are graduates of the University of Nebraska. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Seacrest of Lincoln. Joe W. Seacrest has had an interest in the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin since 1946.

Unit Organized

The local chapter of Administrative Management Society, an international organization, has recently formed a collegiate chapter at Nebraska Wesleyan University, with Ken Nelson named president; Gary Sandsted, vice president; and Doug Dorland, secretary.

Cattle Price Drop Blamed on 'Eater'

Omaha (UPI) — The Omaha Livestock Foundation has blamed "a strong wave of consumer resistance" for what it termed "the sharpest downturn in live cattle prices since January of 1963."

The weekly livestock summary issued by the foundation said the consumer resistance "played havoc with the dressed meat trade" at Omaha last week.

Feed steers finished the week 75-1.50 lower with the better kinds under the most pressure. Fat heifers were 1.00-1.25 lower.

The week's steer top was 27.75 paid on the opening session for an outstanding offering. The week's heifer top was 26.50.

The butcher hog market also was affected by a declining dressed market, the report said. Barrows and gilts sold 25-1.00 lower, with the full decline on weights over 240 lbs. Sows were 25-75 lower. The week's top on butchers was 23.50; the sow top 19.25.

Lambs Steady

Old crop wooled lambs and spring lambs closed steady to strong, shorn lambs steady to 50 lower. Wooled lambs to 25.00, shorn to 24.50, and spring lambs to 27.00.

There were a number of steer sales at 26.50-27.25 with the inside price taking the best of them toward the close. Choice steers 25.00-26.15. Holsteins sold 22.50-23.50.

Several sales of heifers at 25.75-26.25; choice heifers 24.25-25.25.

Average price of slaughter steers last week at Omaha, as computed by the USDA, figured 25.39 compared to 26.06 the previous week and 23.71 a year ago.

Replacement cattle and calves numbered 3,000 last week. Demand was narrow, trade slow and prices were steady to 50 lower. Choice 1,018 to 1,050 pound two-way steers went out at 24.50-24.75.

Opening Boom

New York (UPI) — The same cannon that boomed the close of New York's World's Fair of 1964-65 will signal the opening of EXPO '67, Montreal's World's Fair of 1967. The Fair, marking Canada's centennial, will be open from April 28 to Oct. 27, 1967. The American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA), trade association for travel agents in the United States and Canada, says EXPO '67 expects 30 million admissions.

Soyas Up, Oats and Rye Down

Chicago (UPI) — Soybeans were substantially higher; rye substantially lower; oats lower; wheat irregularly lower and corn fractionally lower last week on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Soybean futures were higher last week, passing the $3 mark for three old crop contracts.

Corn prices stayed within narrow trading limits. Net change for the week was relatively small.

Wheat prices were lower until Friday when a rally saw prices advance on May.

Rye and oats were featureless.

A Robe May Be an Honor, but Who Cut It So Long?

SUNDAY JOURNAL AND STAR STAFF COLORPHOTO BY BOB GORHAM

Rebecca Sorensen tries on a Mortar Board outfit and Julie Overcash holds up an Innocents robe for Tim Donlan.

Most little girls like to play "grown up." And they seem to love dressing the part — parading around in their mothers' clothes and high heels.

'Tisn't necessarily true that little boys like this kind of amusement.

At least, that's the way it looked when children in the court of the University of Nebraska's 77th observance of Ivy Day tried on the robes worn by members of Mortar Board and Innocents, women's and men's senior honoraries.

Were the youngsters a few years older, they would have great pride in those robes had they been elected to those societies. Children in this year's court are Tim Donlan, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Donlan; Rebecca Sorensen, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sorensen; and Julie Overcash, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Overcash. The mothers of the children are Mortar Board alumnae.

In the Ivy Day court and presentation of the May Queen and her maid of honor, the youngsters have a distinct honor. They precede the royalty, scattering rose petals along the processional path.

The May Queen, whose identity is kept secret until her appearance in the procession, reigns over Ivy Day—slated for Saturday. Activities begin at 10:45 a.m. and will be held on the lawn west of Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery.

Candidates for the 1966 May Queen are Cheryll Crosier of Lincoln, Susie Cunningham of Lincoln, Lynne Irish of Kirkwood, Mo., Karen Johnson of Lincoln, Di Kosman of Scottsbluff, Susie Moore of York, Linda Muff of Sioux Falls, S.D., Mary Kay Rakow of Ponca, Susan Stuckey of Lexington and Susie Young of Oakland.

The traditional planting of the ivy will be done by Shirley Voss of Norfolk, president of Mortar Board, and Brian Soiref of Women Head Up the Dog World

By KAYE OLLENBURG

Women officers are not new to the Nebraska Dog and Hunt Club. Six years ago there was a woman president.

The male members of the organization have again decided women have more spare time to devote to the club—especially where red tape is involved. And now busy cutting through red tape are Mmes. Claus Johnson, president, and Walter Somerhiser, vice president.

Mrs. Johnson also spends that valuable spare time with her amateur field champion Tony, a Labrador. Four years ago she embarked on her new-found hobby of training retrievers.

Two pups from the same litter as Tony were being trained and were showing some good promise as retrievers. "So I got the idea that maybe Tony could do it, as he was the best pup in the litter," said Mrs. Johnson.

On Foot

With book in hand and Jetstone Muscles of Claymar (Tony) at her side, she began the task of teaching him to remember such commands as "stay, heel, mark and back."

"This training involved several miles of walking a day and I've since become an avid walker," she said. "Formerly, if I could get there faster by car, that's how I went."

Until he was two, Mrs. Johnson ran Tony in derbies. A derby is a trial based on the fundamentals of style and retrieving.

"When he finished in this class, I didn't want to stop and yet didn't know the way to teach blind retrieving, which involves whistle and hand signals. With the help of a friend, I accomplished this training," she explained.

Weekend Trials

Now on many weekends the two are off to a trial run somewhere in the United States earning more trophies and qualifying points. At present, 37 trophies are on display at the Johnson home and Tony has 49 qualifying points.

Mrs. Johnson is getting ready to take Tony to the National Amateur in Spokane in June. "To compete in the competition a dog needs a first place and seven qualifying points," says Mrs. Johnson.

"I think Tony enjoys the hobby as much as I do. He is always eager to be out working and is very spirited. He also enjoys coming into the house for an evening's nap on the couch," laughed Mrs. Johnson.

Would she ever sell Tony?

"No, I don't want to sell him. We have too much fun working together and since he is as much a pet as a trained retriever, I couldn't part with him."

Tony marks the pigeon that Mrs. Claus Johnson throws for him to retrieve.

May Day Changing With Years

By NORMAN M. DAVIS

May Day has gathered some surprising traditions, names and meanings in the last 3,000 years. It's still gathering them.

In most places, May Day means children dancing around an improvised Maypole. But today a few cities, either because of May Day or by happy coincidence, have special celebrations.

Boston, for instance, is barring traffic from several blocks of its "art alley," Newbury Street, while people enjoy Sunday open house at more than 20 art galleries.

Some cities' celebrations are of a different sort.

Moscow, Peking and Havana usually schedule large military displays and windy anti-U.S. speeches. Still, there could be surprises—Moscow's last May Day parade featured gymnasts, Olympic athletes and dancers.

Loyalty Day

Today is also Loyalty Day in the U.S. The late President Kennedy urged the setting aside of May 1 to declare "unceasing devotion and loyalty to this nation."

Yet May Day is neither American nor modern—its traditions date back to ancient Egypt's spring festivals, when farmers thanked the gods for the land's renewed fertility.

The Romans had their own traditional spring festival, the Floralia, from Apr. 28 to May 3. It began a month dedicated to Flora, goddess of flowers.

On May 1, Romans gathered spring flowers as offerings to her. Children made tiny, flower-decorated images of Flora.

Introduced in Britain

When the Romans invaded Britain, they took the Floralia along. There its meaning gradually changed until it became a Druid festival.

And the Druids celebrated as nobody else did.

On Beltane Eve (May Day Eve) they put out all fires. Just before dawn they climbed to a hilltop and kindled new fires.

They set cakes called Beltane cakes on hot stones to bake; later they broke these cakes into as many

NWU May Fete, Honors on Friday

Traditional May Fete and Honors Convocation programs are scheduled for Friday at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Both programs will be in the Auditorium-Fine Arts Center. Honors Convocation is scheduled for 10 a.m., and May Fete at 3:15 p.m.

Highlight of the Honors Convocation includes an award by the American Association of University Women to the outstanding senior woman.

Other special awards are the Kappa Delta Pi award to the outstanding education student, the Alpha Mu Gamma award for the outstanding foreign language student and the Wall Street Journal award to the most promising business student. Members of all honor societies will be recognized.

Dr. Mary Smith, associate professor of English at NWU, will address the convocation. Her topic is "Holy Computer Facility, Batman," an inspection of the dehumanizing effect of computer facilities on modern life.

May Fete ceremonies include the crowning of the May Queen and Student Prince, all-school song contest, tapping of new members of Cardinal Key and Blue Key, women's and men's national service organization and announcement of the May Fete poetry contest winner.

Exalted Elks Ruler, Officers Honored at Inaugural Ba

The Exalted Ruler of the Elks and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Spahnle, and other officers were honored at the Elk's Inaugural Ball at the Cornhusker Hotel.

A tinge of the Orient—specifically Japan—filled the Lincoln Country Club as members of the Monday Night Dance Club met for a dinner-dance and the announcement of new officers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill were honored as the club's new presidents and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stiner were announced as new secretaries. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cunningham were chairmen.

'Dutch Treat'

Members of the Faculty Dance Club met for the last dinner-dance of their social season with the theme "Dutch Treat."

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Flowerday were chairmen of the event at the Lincoln Hotel.

The evening of dining and dancing were coordinated with an "airplane" theme.

The Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Spahnle, were honored at the Inaugural Ball (left inset) and Mr. and Mrs. James Crabill were feted as new presidents of the Monday Night Dance Club Saturday night.

Theater enthusiasts had a "heyday" in Lincoln Saturday evening. Two high school musicials were presented — Lincoln Northeast, "The King and I" and University High, "The Music Man."

For drama, many traveled to the University of Nebraska campus for "Mother Courage" and others spent the evening at Pershing Auditorium hearing comedian Bill Cosby and the Brandywine Singers.

Some smaller groups dined together. The Latvian student group met at the Lincoln Hotel and the Knights of Pythias at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Fairburians' Son Engaged

West Vancouver, B.C. — Mr. and Mrs. Stuart A. McGillivray announce the engagement of their daughter Sandra Jean to Donivan Dean Ortgies of Kincheloe Air Force Base, Mich., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ortgies of Fairbury, Neb.

The couple plans a May 7 wedding.

Mrs. John Stephenson Jr.
(Miss Vicki Wall)

Lindermans Say Vows

Mrs. Jim Linderman
(Miss Marlene Swanda)

Miss Marlene Swanda and Jim J. Linderman of Fairbury were married in an 8 p.m. Saturday ceremony at the East Lincoln Christian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Swanda of Brainard and Mr. Linderman is the son of Mrs. Clara Linderman of Fairbury.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother-in-law Norman Kavan of Colon, wore a street-length gown of taffeta peau. Lace appliques appeared on the bodice which was styled with a bateau neckline and long bridal point sleeves. A Watteau panel graced the back of the gown.

Delbert Hurds Mark Jubilee

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Hurd of 402 So. 29th will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary on Tuesday.

They have a son Alan of Lincoln.

Miss Wall Is Bride

Miss Vicki Lynn Wall and John R. Stephenson Jr. exchanged wedding vows in a 3 p.m. Saturday ceremony at Northeast Community Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey O. Wall and Col. and Mrs. John R. Stephenson.

The bride's lace and organza gown was styled with a sabrina neckline enriched with iridescents and pearls and had bridal-point sleeves. The skirt of organza over taffeta was completed with a detachable Watteau train.

A cluster of organza petals and miniature roses held her veil. She carried a cascade of Amazon lilies.

Best man was Dennis Lee. Ushers were Jan Wall of Humboldt and Richard Woods.

Kristen J. Lind Bride Of Dennis C. Carlson

Eastridge Presbyterian Church was the setting for the 7 p.m. Saturday wedding of Miss Kristen Jane Lind and Dennis Charles Carlson of Richfield, Minn.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Leonard P. Carlson of Richfield and Ray V. Lind.

Candlelight peau fashioned the bride's floor-length gown. The bodice was styled with a portrait neckline and elbow sleeves. Re-embroidered lace accented the bodice and chapel train graced the back of the gown.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Thomas R. Pansing Jr. and Miss Susan Cunningham was maid of honor. The Misses Sarah Meier of Minden, Cheryl Carlson of Richfield and Karen Beggs were bridesmaids and Mrs. William Ludwick was bridesmatron.

The attendants wore gowns of china blue crepe. The bodice was adorned with velvet appliques and a moss green velvet ribbon ending in a back bow highlighted the Empire waistline of each gown.

They carried modern Empire bouquets of green pompon chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Dennis Carlson
(Miss Kristen Lind)

Leonard P Carlson Jr. of Crystal, Minn., served as best man. Groomsmen were Bill Haug and Tim Osberg, both of Minneapolis, Minn.; Richard Coleman of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Jim Mitchell of Richfield, and Bruce Wright.

Ushers were Arnold Peterson of Walla Walla, Wash., John Dury and Bob Lary, both of Richfield.

A Busy, 'Hair-Curling' Life

By HOLLY SPENCE

Quite literally, Miss J. Lillian Anderson has been "in the hair" of Lincoln women for many a year.

Miss Anderson, who has been involved in hairdressing and cosmetology all of her adult life, now owns two salons in Lincoln.

"I love my work, because practicing cosmetology is a form of art expression," she said. "I also feel that I have helped to fulfill the needs of others in good grooming and psychological areas."

Activities related to her profession have filled her spare time. She is the immediate past president of the Nebraska Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn. Miss Anderson is also past regional chairman of the national association.

Miss Anderson's duties on the state level involve the setting up of seminars in conjunction with the universities as the chairman of advanced cosmetology.

Legislative Interests

She is also active on the legislative and educational state committee which submits amendments to the statutes at the state sessions.

Miss Anderson's spare time seems to be at a premium, for her salon management claims six days every week.

But all of Miss Anderson's activities haven't been "hair-curling experiences," for she is past vice president of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

As chairman of many Chamber committees, she says that her work on the industrial development committee was "the most interesting."

Volunteer Work

But the list of activities does not end there. She devotes time to Altrusa International, Beta Sigma Phi and the Volunteer Bureau.

Volunteer Bureau is one of her "favorites" and she keeps busy as a member of the board of directors and publicity chairman.

Hobbies? Miss Anderson is never too busy to say she doesn't have favorite pastimes. Gardening and bridge fill those few hours of leisure time.

"Anything that is out-of-doors, I enjoy," she said, "fishing and hunting included."

Having grown up with a father who was a hunting enthusiast, Miss Anderson has always had an interest in hunting both fowl and animal.

"My biggest catch was bagging a deer near Crawford," she said. Now the mounted head of that prize is hanging on her wall.

Sketch May Be Picasso's

By LLOYD GREEN
Chicago Sun-Times Special

Chicago—Mr. and Mrs. Ronald M. Johnson have an original work by famed artist Pablo Picasso.

Or at least they think they do.

Several months ago, Johnson, a medical student, and his attractive wife Pamela, a nurse in a doctor's office, were looking over their slim budget.

They have been trying to furnish their second-floor apartment with odds and ends, but somehow it didn't seem to have much character.

"What we need is some original paintings to hang on the walls," said Mrs. Johnson.

'They're Nice . . . But'

"Well, sure, they're nice. But you know what I mean. We need some works of famous painters."

Since both the Johnsons are 22 and full of daring, they decided to see what they could do

Johnson sat down and wrote a letter to Picasso, including a check for $25.

"I'd heard he was an eccentric and had filled some odd requests, so we didn't know what to expect.

"I told him that my wife and I had always admired his work and wondered if he'd make a small sketch for us, since we couldn't afford his full-size originals.

"I said that if he thought the enclosed $25 was not enough he should just forget the whole thing."

Nearly Forgotten

Weeks and months went by. Johnson all but forgot the letter as he attended classes daily at the University of Illinois Medical School.

Finally, a letter postmarked at Cannes, France, arrived.

The Johnsons opened it and saw that their check was inside. Picasso's name and Johnson's signature had been scratched out but a small figure had been drawn on the front of the check.

On turning the check over, they gave a shout of delight. A clown's head was drawn in green ink, in what Johnson said appears to be Picasso's unique style. There was no signature.

"It's not very big," said Johnson, "but if we get a big frame, it will look nice."

Sheldon to Open Print Exhibit by NYC Artist

An exhibit of 25 prints by Michael Ponce De Leon of New York City will open at Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery Tuesday and will continue during the month of May.

Collage-intaglio is Ponce De Leon's preferred medium. He selected the print as his field because, he said, "If the creative act in the other arts is full of mystery and wonderment, then printmaking — where the image refuses to reveal itself until the final union of paper, ink, and idea takes form — is magic itself."

Ponce De Leon teaches art at Hunter College and Pratt Graphic Art Center. He has studied at several universities and art academies and was awarded two Tiffany fellowships and a Fulbright grant.

He has presented many national and international exhibitions.

DEAR DIARY

Roxanna Tische, 10 has a reputation in her family for being a good fisherman

A couple of years ago, when the Jim Tisches were on vacation in Texas, Roxanna caught the largest fish taken by anyone on the trip And last summer, Roxanna continued her fishing hobby, and her reputation grew.

But last weekend things were a bit different when the Tisches we fishing in the Merritt Dam area near Valentin.. For the first three hours, Roxanna didn't even have a nibble on her line.

Then lady luck smiled, and Roxanna snagged a trout. She let the neighborhood know about it—in a voice loud and clear.

A friendly woman congratulated Roxanna on her catch, and Roxanna's response was:

EAT . . . and Now!

Dinner wasn't ready yet but Cristopher, nearly 2, was very hungry.

Thinking he'd take the toddler's mind off food, Dad started a game.

"What does the cow say?" Dad asked.

"Mooo," Christopher promptly answered. The game proceeded happily through an assortment of animals and answers, without another thought of supper—till Dad asked, "And what does Chris say?

"EAT!" said Chris.

For Short Skirts

One professional man has a great idea for a patent—one which might solve the modesty problem of wearers of the new very short tight skirts

"You see, they look great when a woman is standing or walking—it's only when she sits and then squirms and pulls and tugs to get her dress down that the modesty bit bothers me.

"I think that a tuck, either zipped or snapped at the top of the skirt, and one that goes down the side is the answer.

"The wearer could keep the tucks closed while standing or walking—then quickly let them out when she sits," he explained.

Language Barrier

Occasionally, grandmothers must learn a new meaning for words. One asked her visiting grandchildren—ages 3 and 4—what kind of eggs they would like for breakfast.

"Yellow," the pair replied in unison.

It took a minute—but grandmother came up with the right answer—scrambled.

Fremont Girl Wed

Miss Nicholas Mraz
(Miss Connie Moyer)
of Omaha

Fremont — Miss Connie Raye Moyer and Nicholas Frank Mraz of Omaha exchanged wedding vows in a 2 p.m. Saturday ceremony at the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. Frank J. Mraz of Omaha and Lyle H. Moyer.

The bride's gown of lace over taffeta had a lace bolero jacket with tapered bridal point sleeves and a semi full skirt. A crown of lace and pearls held her veil. She carried gold roses and stephanotis on a white Bible.

Miss Beverly Bohaty of Lincoln was maid of honor. Larry Tank was best man and Robert Reed of Omaha was usher.

Lincolnites Visit In Yorkton, Va.

Mrs. Paul Bolton and her daughter, Mrs. Don Weller, are in Yorkton, Va., visiting Capt. and Mrs. Richard L. Houlette.

On Saturday they attended the commissioning and reception of the Coast Guard cutter Courier. Capt. Houlette, Mrs. Bolton's nephew, is the commanding officer.

Before returning, the women will spend time in Williamsburg, Va., and Washington, D.C.

Opti-Mrs. Group To Meet Friday

The Lincoln Opti-Mrs. will meet at 12:45 p.m. Friday for a luncheon with Mrs. D. J. Kroeger, 3400 Grimsby Lane.

Officers installed at the meeting will be Mmes. Al J. Brady, president; Richard Hansen, vice president; Cy Borland, secretary; and Howard Spahnle, treasurer.

Organ selections will be provided by Doug Kroger.

Miss Stephanie Beltz

Stephanie Beltz Engaged to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Beltz amounce the engagement of their daughter Stephanie Andrea to Rick Allgood, son of Mrs. Marcella Allgood and R. P. Allgood.

Miss Beltz attended the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Allgood is a student at the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, N Club and Phi Epsilon Kappa.

Miss Smith Is Bride

Sacred Heart Church was the setting for the noon wedding of Miss Linda Lou Smith and John Stephen DePriest.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Wayne Smith. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don DePriest.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Wayne Smith of Scottsbluff, wore a gown of lace fashioned with a sabrina neckline and bouffant skirt extending to a chapel train.

A tulip petal cap of lace held her veil. She carried an orchid encircled with carnations and roses.

Maid of honor was Miss Marsha Ann Wedberg. Bridesmaids were the Misses Linda Jacobson and Vikl Sildmets.

Best man was Ronald Smith. Tru Connealy and John Atkins were ushers.

The couple will live in Lincoln.

Mrs. John DePriest
(Miss Linda Smith)

Pair Wed At Bennet

Bennet—Miss Judith Ann House of Mead and Dennis Lee Wilson were married in an 8 p.m. Saturday ceremony at the Community Church.

Parents of the couple are Messrs. and Mmes. W. C. House of Mead and Kenneth Wilson.

The bride's floor-length gown of matte-finish satin featured a front panel that fell from the sabrina neckline to the hem. Lace appliques adorned the gown which had bridal-point sleeves.

A crown of pearls and crystals held her veil and she carried an orchid on a pearlized Bible.

Mrs. Robert Hannan of Grand Island was matron of honor and Mrs. Larry Jensen of Lincoln and Miss Barbara Wilson were the bride's attendants.

Don Wilson of Lincoln was best man and Larry Jensen of Lincoln and Steve Wilson were groomsmen. Wayne Wilson of Firth, Robert Hannan of Grand Island, Leonard Ringland and Glen Ringland seated the guests.

The couple will live at 2049 Worthington in Lincoln.

Male Modes: Shoes Without Heels Have Built-in Heel

The nation's economy has always been a good guide to the type of clothes the men would be wearing. If the present or near-future looked less-than-bright men would start wearing dark and drab, outdated and worn apparel. It was sort of a status symbol to look as if you "had not bought anything lately"

But from the looks of business in the men's wear stores of the country, and from the looks of their customers in the smartest and newest fashions, the economic future seems mighty bright!

Sartorial Star of the Week—Hollywood's Hugh O'Brian, whose overwhelming interest in clothes caused him to add many of his own color ideas to his own wardrobe. His outstandingly good taste, and his ability to wear clothes, has made him much more than just a well-groomed man—he has become an "example" who has been followed by an ever-increasing number of men throughout this country.

Care of Clothes: To pack anything breakable or crushable, for traveling, wrap items in tissue paper and fit into extra shoes . . . A very bad scuff on a pair of shoes can be made more sightly if several layers of shellac are applied after the shoes are polished . . . Ink spots from ball-point pens can be removed from shirts by a quick rinse with clear water and washing in soapsuds. If it's a permanent ink, rinse, treat with lemon juice and re-rinse.

The Mail Bag: "I keep hearing more about cuffless trousers being the current style. Is it wrong to wear cuffs?" Absolutely not. Throughout the years, efforts have been made to banish the cuffs—but many men prefer them. We'd look as smart with straight bottoms on our trousers—it simply is a matter of personal taste, says the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear.

In the Stores: A new shoe construction being shown appears to be a heel-less slip-on—but it has the same balance and support as regular shoes, due to the fact that the heel section is built up inside the shoe . . . Novel and heavy-looking textures in Shetland sweaters—but, for the first time, made in America to be sold at popular prices. These bulky full-fashioneds come in pullover and cardigan models.

Dress Tips: Steady alternation of shoes is advised for all-year 'round. It's good in warm weather. It's good for the health of your feet—as well as the shoes! . . . As the weather gets warmer, try strapping your wristwatch over the cuff of your shirt sleeve. It will keep the watch from irritating your skin, and keep the watch free from moisture.

Odd Items: Color for Types—Men with red hair, brown hair or even blondes look well in brown clothing or in any of the brown-mixtures now available . . . female viewpoint from Angie Dickinson—"One of the wonders of today is how Marlon Brando overcame that 'torn sweatshirt image' and became one of the industry's best-dressed men!" . . . Quote from screen director George Cukor, "Men's clothes are among the world's greatest inventions. They give you dignity—and conceal things. At my age, I find them quite important."

Li Adapting to Language, Climate

By JANET DAVIDSON

" I cannot get used to the climate here in Lincoln," said Ligia Quiros.

"In Costa Rica it does not get below 40 degrees or over 80 degrees. The language, of course, is also strange for me "

Ligia is a senior at University High School and a participant in the American Field Service exchange student program. A native of San Jose, the capital of Costa Rica, Ligia has three sisters. Her father is the owner of a small furniture factory.

In Costa Rica, Ligia was president of her class for four years. Last year, she was elected school president. She was active in her school's International Club, serving as president, and was also a representative to an intra-city social problems group in San Jose.

She has always had an active interest in others, and she often spent her time visiting the poor and sick people in her city. She likes talking to her friends, "especially about deep subjects," she explained. "I enjoy writing letters," she smiled, "and it's lucky, because here I get lots of practice." Reading also uses up Ligia's spare time as she enjoys realistic novels dealing with social problems.

Li, as she is known at Uni, finds school life in the United States much different than in Costa Rica. In her all-girls school in San Jose, everyone must wear uniforms.

She studied 17 courses. Her classes were thirty-five minutes long. The biggest difference, she felt, was the opportunity of students in the United States to select subjects, whereas Costa Rican students must take required courses. Students in Costa Rica must study hard, because if they fail any of the subjects, they are required to repeat all the courses of that year, she said.

Social life is also quite different in Li's country. There are no dates as in the United States, she said, parties are attended in a group or with a chaperone. Teen-age girls do have boyfriends, but they are never alone together. Tuesdays, Saturdays and Sundays are especially reserved for visits by beaux.

The 15th birthday is an important event for a Costa Rican girl, for it is then that she is introduced into society and a large party is held honoring her. For relaxation, the youth in Li's community enjoy movies, picnics and watching television.

Life in the United States has kept Ligia busy, too. Since last August, she has been a member of the Robert Gilmour family. "I feel like another child of the Gilmours." Li stated. "They are so wonderful." At University High, Li is a member of International Club, Pep Club, Student Council and Chorus.

As an American Field Service student, Li will have much to tell her friends when she returns home. "I will never forget the day we arrived in Miami," she said. "We had to buy tickets and the ticket seller did not understand us. There were 10 people trying to help us before we got our tickets."

Li will leave Lincoln at the end of June, and will tour part of the United States by bus with other AFS students.

When she returns to Costa Rica in July, Ligia will finish her high school studies and begin university next year. She plans to major in economics.

"American Field Service is a wonderful opportunity," Li concluded. "To me, the greatest benefit is to know people, because by living with them, you can understand how they really are. You learn that people in different countries have goals and feelings like people at home."

Smooth Away Dry Wrinkles

Wrinkles are really "river-beds" of dry cells caused by the plasma colloids (water carriers of the skin) drying out through the passage of time and harsh weather. Cherish the true beauty of your skin and smooth away surface wrinkle-dryness by asking your druggist for a little oil of Olay and using it on the face and neck before applying make-up. This tropical moist oil will protect the loveliness of your complexion, giving it a delightful, dewy bloom.

THREAT: Students Asked to Think

Two University of Nebraska campus pastors, "sick of giving out piety points," have become partners to challenge students to "discussion and thought—and hopefully action."

The ministers, the Rev. Hudson B. (Bill) Phillips Jr. of United Campus Christian Fellowship and the Rev. Bruce K McSpadden of Wesley Foundation, produced one issue of already-controversial "Threat."

In its first issue, "Threat", a six-page mimeographed bulletin, carried a sermon on Vietnam.

The two men, both associate pastors, will write in other issues on topics from the death of God to racism.

Controversy has largely centered on language used in a cover paragraph explaining "Threat," the Rev. Mr. McSpadden said. Part of that reads:

"We are tired of waiting for you to wake up. We are frightened by the indifference and apathy of much of the campus to many key issues confronting the University and the world.

"Therefore, we think it is time to ask you as a student or a faculty member at the University of Nebraska, 'Who in the hell do you think you are?' and to tell you who in the hell we think we are."

The first issue appeared a month ago. The second may be printed—at the minsters' expense—this week.

The ministers hope it creates as much controversy—and attention—as the first.

"We feel if the Christian faith is taken seriously, it brings us face to face with the major issues of society," the Rev. Mr. McSpadden said.

The Rev. Mr. McSpadden . . . it's not the ordinary sort of church newsletter.

Eight Church Bodies Planning Dallas Meet; Will Study Proposal for Protestant Merger

Church leaders have unveiled a proposed union plan for eight Protestant denominations with 24 million members.

Five-year-old merger talks reach a high point this week in Dallas, Tex. with consideration of the proposal.

Involved are the United Presbyterian and Southern Presbyterian Churches, Methodist, Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal, Disciples of Christ, Evangelical United Brethren and United Church of Christ.

Dr. Eugene Carlson Blake, World Council of Churches head, initiated merger talks in 1960.

Faith

The Bible would be "the norm of its (Church's) total life." Apostles' and Nicene creeds would be accepted. These could be supplemented with new statements in the future.

Worship

Each church could use present forms and rites. Experimentation with other traditions would be encouraged eventually to create worship forms expressive of the "enriched new tradition of the United Church itself."

Sacraments

Baptism would be by either immersion or sprinkling. Infants could be baptized, but in later years must by "a subsequent solemn act" of confirmation "accept their personal responsibility as a Christian and make the affirmations appropriate to membership in the Church."

Holy communion could be celebrated with any rites now used. Only an ordained minister could celebrate it, but laymen should "assist in appropriate ways."

Ministry

The Church would have bishops, elders and deacons. Bishops would be chief pastors of districts, with their acts generally subject to a representative council's approval.

There would be full-time professionals trained in theology and qualified to be pastors, and non-professionals supporting themselves in other jobs, performing other pastoral duties.

The diaconate would be a distinctive ministry not regarded as a preliminary to ordination as an elder.

Organization

One unit would be the familiar parish setup to serve a geographical area. The other would be a "task force" united py similarity of vocation or concern. Decisions would be democratically-made by elected representatives or the congregation as a whole.

The district would be administered by a bishop and a council.

Regional units comparable to synods would be between local units and national conventions that meet every four years. At the top would be a presiding bishop and council.

Unification

The Church would be a loose federation for a generation or more. When mutual trust developed, an attempt would be made to draft a constitution to replace present structures.

The proposal envisions five to 15 years before union.

CHURCH NOTES

Methodist Men Host Mehl

Ernest Mehl, sports projects editor for the Kansas City Star and sports editor 15 years, will address Lincoln District Methodist laymen today.

Mehl

More than 60 Methodist congregations will be represented at the meeting from 4 to 8 tonight at St. Paul Methodist Church, 1144 M.

A licensed local preacher of The Methodist Church, Mehl served Kansas City's Marlborough Methodist Church three years.

He also will speak at Grace Methodist Church, 2640 R, at 9:30 and 11 a.m.

Conference director is Alan Dunlap of Milford. The Nebraska Methodist lay leader, Webb Flaming of Elsie, also will speak.

Poverty Study

Lincoln United Church Women will study poverty and plenty at 10 a.m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church, 17th and F.

Arthur May, Lincoln Action Program director, and George R. Kailey, Family Service Assn. director, will speak.

Mrs. Vernon Forbes of the University of Nebraska will direct and narrate a choral reading, "The World at Hand." Participants are Mmes. Warren Urbom, Roger Rhodes, Jack Ballard and Gerald Baruth.

Mrs. Orin Peterson, state president, will install officers elected earlier.

Open House

Fourth Presbyterian Church, 5201 Lexington, will have open house from 3 to 7 tonight "mainly to get acquainted with our neighbors," a pokesman said. The congregation has occupied its present church since last summer.

Deaconess Talk

Sister Katherine J. Homburg, Lutheran Church in America Deaconess Service field secretary, will speak at 2 p.m. next Sunday at St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, Lancaster and East Avon Lanes.

She will discuss church vocations with senior high youth of six Lincoln congregations and another Luther League from the Cordova church.

Mt. Zion Recital

Angeline Matthews, Union College music instructor, will perform at 8 tonight at Mt. Zion Baptist Church, 12th and P. The Pine Forge, Pa. native is a graduate of the Eastman School in Rochester, N.Y.

Cathedral Music

Pierre Cocherau, organist at Paris, France's Cathedral of Notre Dame, will present a 4 p.m. recital today at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ, 3500 Sheridan.

Cocherau

His performance will be the ninth and last in the Cathedral's sacred music series.

He will play "Chacone in G Minor," "Offertoire sur les Grands Jeux," "Noel 'Chantons Je Vous Prie,'" "Piece Heroique," "Suite Carmelite," Dupre's "Prelude and Fugue in F minor," Duruflé's "Prelude and Fugue on the Name Alain" and an improvised symphony.

Dean to Council

New associate general secretary for communication of the National Council of Churches is Dr. Burton W. Marvin of Lawrence, Kan., a Methodist layman and former dean of the William Allen White School of Journalism at Kansas University.

Circulation Down

Presbyterian Life magazine circulation dropped 21,000 to 1.1 million. Its general manager, Dr. Robert Heinze, attributed the drop to its involvement in social issues: "Presbyterian Life is in trouble and I'm glad," he said.

Mission Speech

Back to the Bible missions director G. Christian Weiss will speak at the First Church of God evangelism program at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. today and at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Weiss

Sandahl Elected

Cliff Sandahl of McLean, Va., former North Platte newspaper editor, was elected president of the Metropolitan Washington Lutheran Laymen's Fellowship.

His father, the Rev. Dr. C. F. Sandahl, was an Oakland pastor and Nebraska Augustana Lutheran Conference president.

Students Sing

Lincoln Christian School students will sing at 7 tonight at Green Memorial Alliance Church, 41st and Madison.

Church's New Arm Growing

BY DAVE MEADE
Chicago Daily News Special

Bad Boll, Germany—If you are concerned about the future of Christianity, don't panic just yet. Look at what's happening here and all over Europe.

Out of the moral catastrophe of Adolf Hitler's Third Reich — the concentration camps and the ashes of World War II—is growing a vigorous new arm of the church. It works in a secular style.

It is the Evangelical Academy, or lay center. It may hold a key to the future that the new world can borrow from the old.

The world's biggest academy, and one of the oldest, is sprawled over a pastoral and wooded acreage near this little village east of the industrial city of Stuttgart. Its leadership, administrative and custodial staff of more than 100 provide living accommodations and conference facilities for 130 people in several buildings.

By the end of the year, more than 15,000 will have gathered here for at least 365 discussions, courses, seminars, consultations, dialogs and retreat—an average of one a day.

Well, suppose you are not the churchy type. Or if you do go to church occasionally, what happens on Sunday doesn't have much to do with your life at home, work and play the rest of the week.

Then one day you are invited to Bad Boll or one of its four "outpost" houses, or any of the dozen or so academies in West Germany. What happens is something of a revelation.

You are not preached at. You feel at ease. And above all, your questions are really discussed.

Here for a weekend or midweek gathering, you are in a "horizontal" session with others of your profession or trade or a "vertical" meeting of co-workers, foremen and managers from a single industrial plant. You have a chance to let down you hair, be yourself, and talk about the things that count.

Garden Gossip

Gladiolus Adaptable

By EMERY NELSON
County Extension Agent

Seldom is the stately gladiolus excelled as a cut flower. It is even a suitable flower for the border planting and can either be used as a single flower among others or as a group planting. But as a cut flower it is at its best because of its remarkable keeping quality and variety of colors.

Glads have a wide adaptation to climate and can be grown successfully throughout most of the United States. They aren't particular about the soil in which they are grown either. They thrive in most soil types which are fertile but prefer a well-drained sandy loam.

Full sunlight is essential for erect, strong spikes and in Nebraska the site should be protected from wind. This protection will help keep the stems erect during growth. When only a small number of glads are planted, they should be staked and tied to keep them erect.

Like most garden flowers, fertility is best supplied in the form of enriched compost or well-rotted manure. When neither of these is available, one pound of 10-20-0 per 100 square feet can be worked into the soil before planting. If the soil is particularly poor a similar application of fertilzerr is made in mid-summer.

Plantings should start as soon as the soil dries sufficiently to work safely. To produce a succession of flowers, planting can be made at two-week intervals through June.

In Honor Of Mother

The Garden Club of Lincoln will turn back the pages in honor of Mother at its show from 1-8 p.m. Saturday at Gateway Auditorium.

Flower arrangements are to be interpretative of "those enjoyable days of our youth," as the club presents "An Invitation to Memories."

Competition and the exhibit are open to the public.

Artistic exhibits will be in such classes as "Taffeta and Lace," tributes to mothers and grandmothers in arrangements suggesting Mothers Days of the past; "Penny Candy Jar," a novice class of designs including candy jars; "Mother's Root Cellar," arrangements using fruits and vegetables, and "Young in Heart," interpretative designs suggesting "the good old songs."

Tulips, lilacs, iris, peonies and other spring blooms, as well as houseplants, will be displayed in horticulture exhibits, for amateurs only.

The junior section of the show also includes both horticulture and design divisions.

Entries for the show will be received from 6-10 a.m. Saturday and judging will begin at 11 a.m. TriColor and special creativity awards will be given, in addition to ribbons, awards of merit, sweepstakes awards and a junior achievement award.

Special exhibits will include Japanese arrangements by Mrs. Charles Baker in the artistic division, Dr. Harold Pellett's horticultural exhibit on the propagation of plants and a civic project and conservation display. play.

Mrs. John Beall is chairman of the show.

—ON THE— HOUSE

By HELEN HAGGIE

Wonder what has happened to the handyman?

True many men—and women—are adept at doing those small chores around the house that keep it in good repair.

But in other families, the man of the house is just as inept with hammer, nails and putty and plaster as his spouse.

And certain small chores keep cropping up—ones that need only a few hours to do, and hardly worth the time of a specialist.

Regardless of all the do-it-yourself paraphernalia on the market, a certain amount of talent is needed to know where and how to caulk windows, to put up a shelf, to mend a screen, to straighten a sagging gate, to put in a new pane of glass, or to do the 101 other small jobs that need to be done to keep a home in tip-top condition.

Many women who live alone discover that upkeep is just too much for them, and rush to sell their homes and move into an apartment where "the maintenance is done by the landlord."

Some of these same women suddenly discover "there is no garden in which I can plant my favorite flowers," or "the laundry appliances are inconveniently located," or "the walls are paper-thin — when the baby in the apartment above cries at night, I hear him."

Somewhere there must be men who have knowledge and skill to answer the call that so many persons are making. "Where can we find a handyman—a person who will check with us each week or so, a person whom we can call in an emergency and will come, a person who will know how to do these things and do them properly.

In 1500 years mankind has discovered no better building material than hard burned brick

By Associated Press

The modest rambling farmhouse type of ranch continues to have major appeal throughout the years, even during those periods when there have been population moves to the urban areas.

The charm of this style makes it popular on the farm, in the suburbs and even in the cities. Whatever the setting, the farmhouse ranch has a natural ease with which it graces most any piece of land in any neighborhood. It is easy-going and simple, yet tasteful and attractive; unpretentious, but dignified and interesting.

This particular home, created for the House of the Week series by architect Samuel Paul, rambles in two directions, thus forming an L-shape. As such, it requires less land than if it moved only one direction.

Also, it has this distinction: either one or two sides could be used as the front, providing a measure of flexibility in locating the house in respect to large trees, view or orientation. Since either elevation is equally eye-catching, this wouldn't make any difference as far as the outside appearance is concerned. The house is also ideally suited for a corner lot.

Inside, Design G-34 offers plenty of modern living space, with three bedrooms and two baths. The layout is the convenient off-the-foyer type, with most rooms accessible from the foyer and center hall. Entering the house from a wide, covered portico which precedes the main entrance, there is an immediate view through the living room to the rear, large bay window.

Highlighted in the living room is a stone-faced fireplace with a flush stone hearth adjoining a paneled wall. The adjacent dining room has a sweep of 23' from its side windows to the living room fireplace.

To the left of the foyer is a family room with its own bay window overlooking a side patio. The area in front of the bay window is excellent for an informal dinette table, since it is right next to the U-shaped kitchen.

The kitchen features a large double-bowl sink, dishwasher, built-in wall oven and 21' of counter top. Meals or snacks can be easily served from the kitchen to the dinette area of the family room on one side and to the regular dining room on the other.

On the opposite side of the family room, within a short distance from the kitchen as well as a side door, are a lavatory and a laundry room. Also located here are the inside entrance to the two-car garage and the stairway to the full basement.

There are three bedrooms and two baths in the wing at the right side of the house. The master bedroom is at the end of the hall. It has a bay window, a private bath and a stall shower.

Sound Buffers

The two other bedrooms look out to the rear. Two closets and a cabinet act as sound buffers between one of the bedrooms and the living room. Both bathrooms have dropped luminous ceilings, which are, in effect, continuous ceilings of light.

A glance at the floor plan will show plenty of closet space in this farmhouse ranch. Although its frontage is less than 65', the L-shaped design has permitted to the architect to get 1,608 square feet within its framework. It's a nice house to look at and presumably would be nice to live in.

Disposal Safety

Trash and paper storage in the home is a major cause of fires, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn.

Nurseryman Speaks

Thank You, Kind Reader

This is the 487th time this column has appeared in this newspaper since Dec. 9, 1956. Because the writer continues to be fascinated by nature, trees and shrubs, the majority of these columns have been a joy to write.

But then there are the weeks when nothing goes right; when personal tragedy comes; when the writer is ill; when a deadline is breathing down the back of his neck.

Then he wonders if the discipline necessary to produce a weekly garden column is worth the effort. In other words, he wonders if he is truly "reaching" people.

Then comes a letter such as the following:

"I look forward to your column every week. I too love trees and shrubs and wide open spaces. Most of the people I know live as I do on small lots surrounded by garages, TV antennas and concrete.

"They don't seem to mind at all — or even wish for anything different. I feel like I am being smothered — like I'll die if I don't see the open countryside soon.

"In my living room if I slump down just right, I don't see the roof of the house across the street, but the tops of trees in the neighbor's back yard. Even in their leafless, bare state, they are beautiful to me. The most beautiful time of all is when the green haze of new leaves is on the trees. Then I think I can surely stand it until I can get outdoors and sit on the ground and dig in the earth with my bare hands.

"There is nothing quite like the feel of that dirt in my hands.

"Instead of 'spring cleaning' the house, I 'winter clean' so I can get outdoors as soon as it gets warm.

"I've wanted to write to you for another reason besides telling you your column brings me great pleasure. I wanted to tell someone about my 'dream spot' — someone who I think will understand my desire for this dream spot.

"Sometime in the future—after our youngest is out of school and when we have enough equity in this 'cracker box' house — I hope and dream of having some place out, where the view is of trees and open spaces.

"I wouldn't mind a few homes around, but not too close — not close enough so my barking dog would bother them or their burning garbage disgust me.

"My dream spot would not be flat and barren but would have old beautiful trees and an established windbreak. It would be unfarmable land with gently rolling slopes and rocks and wild flowers.

"I'll plant spring flowering bulbs among the rocks and each spring I'll be filled with ecstasy and not choked by my neighbor's burning leaves.

"I'll plant perennials that will become like children to me — looking to me for their care, feeding and training. Maybe there'll be a few annuals just for the joy of seeing the wonder of beautiful flowers come from seeds again.

"This dream may never come to be. We may never be able financially to acquire such a property. Yet there lives within me hope, and a terrible longing.

"Thank you for reading this.

A Reader"

And thank you, kind reader. You have given this writer just the encouragement he needed to produce another couple hundred columns.

Luci's Maid of Honor Is Lynda

By HELEN THOMAS

Washington (UPI) — Luci Johnson, the President's daughter, will have her older sister Lynda as maid of honor when she is married Aug. 6 to Patrick J Nugent before 1,000 guests at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception

The list of 10 bridesmaids is liberally sprinkled with teen-agers, mostly old Texas friends.

There were indications that President and Mrs. Johnson were having trouble keeping the wedding down to the "close and family friends" size

The best man will be the bridegroom's father, Jerry P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., who will stand in for Pat's brother, Lt. Gerard Nugent Jr., 27, a marine serving in Vietnam.

As her matron of honor, Luci chose Mrs. James Ray of Hale Center, Tex., whose husband is running for the Texas state legislature.

Mrs. Ray is the former Susan Murfee, daughter of Mrs. J. Louis Murfee of Lubbock, Tex.

The bridesmaids and bridesmatrons will be—Betty Beal, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Folk Beal of Austin, Tex., who has known Luci since she attended grade school in Austin.

—Kathleen Carter, 19, daughter of Clifton Carter, a Washington lawyer and close political associate of the President

—Sharon Chapman, 18, daughter of Air Force Col. and Mrs. John M. Chapman of Arlington, Va.

—Mrs Gerard Nugent Jr., 25, the bridegroom's sister-in-law and a nurse who lives in San Diego, Calif

—Beth Jenkins, 19, daughter of former White House Aide Walter Jenkins of Austin and a sophomore at Marquette University in Milwaukee, Wis.

— Helene Lindow, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lindow of Washington, D C. She attended National Cathedral School in Washington with Luci.

Texas Bridesmaid

—Patti McGouirk, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. McGouirk of Ft. Worth, Tex.

—Mrs. James Montelaro, 23, whose husband was Luci's godfather at her baptism last July into the Catholic faith.

— Charlotte Sizoo, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Sizoo of Arlington, Va., a sophomore at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

— Warrie Lynn Smith, 21, of San Antonio, Tex., a University of Texas senior and roommate of Luci's sister Lynda. Miss Smith was Luci's godmother at her baptism.

The White House said that among the groomsmen will be Pat's friends and relatives. They will be Larry Carr of Waukegan, brother of Mrs Gerard Nugent Jr; William A. Ganz of Mascoutah, Ill., Pat's former roommate and fraternity brother at Marquette University; Michael Gronniger of Waukegan, Pat's cousin; James D. Hall of Waukegan, a boyhood friend; William B. Hitchcock III of Austin, University of Texas senior and close friend of Luci and Pat; Loren Leskis of Waukegan, Pat's lifelong friend and neighbor; Dr. Bernard McQuillan of Hazelwood, Mo., Pat's cousin; Timothy Matulenas of Waukegan, friend; James Montelaro of Washington; James N. Ness of Wayzata, Minn., former university roommate and fraternity brother, and Bruce Pecaro, Waukegan boyhood friend.

Luci . . . her wedding party named.

The flower girl will be Bedar Howar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Howar of Washington.

The ringbearer will be Lyndon (Corky) Hand, one of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hand of Los Angeles.

August Rite Set By Miss Rabbe

Sutton—Mr. and Mrs. Cleo H. Rabbe announce the engagement of their daughter Pamela Jean to Delvin Lee Stahl of Harvard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stahl of Harvard.

Miss Rabbe and Mr Stahl attend the University of Nebraska.

An August wedding is planned.

May Day Customs Vary Around the World

pieces as there were worshippers present and blackened one piece with charcoal.

Lots were drawn for the bits of cake. Whoever drew the blackened piece was the Cailleach Bealtine or Beltane Witch.

The others seized him, tore him to pieces and flung his remains into the fire.

And though the Druids are gone, many English children still observe May Day Eve as "devil's night." They steal gates, tap on windows and perform other pranks we traditionally associate with Halloween.

Many other countries celebrate May Day with varying traditions.

One old English belief is that bathing one's face in May Day morning dew beautifies the skin. Scottish girls believe this brings luck.

For young Italian lovers, May Day was once a special day for courting.

Swiss boys would quietly put a small pine tree under a favorite girl's window.

In Sweden, two boys representing summer and winter would stage a mock battle. Of course, summer always won.

France has its own May Day tradition — buying a bit of muguet (lily of the valley) to bring good fortune. People relax or promenade and flower-vendors are everywhere.

In 1887 the world's Socialist parties hit on May Day as the day for workers to show world-wide unity by demonstrating. Since then the day has become an occasion for Communist propaganda, new weapons displays and blustery speeches.

In this country, President Herbert Hoover made it Child Health Day in 1929.

At Last, Spring Is Springing

Somewhat tardily because of cold weather, spring flowers like the redbuds pictured in Lincoln's Wyuka Cemetery are coming into their own. Some of the shrubs such as magnolias and flowering crabs may have been frozen out of blossoms for the season, but others will recover to bloom as much as a couple of weeks late, horticulturists report. Orchard operators in the Nebraska City area report that this weekend will bring the apple blossoms in full glory there. The map locates orchards and other attractions for sightseers in the Nebraska City vicinity.

MAY DAYS in the Capital City

National Figures Visit; Shrine Circus, Scout Show, Sports Action, Music Ahead

Lincoln's May basket will be full of nationally-known visitors.

Helen Hayes will appear on the Stuart Theater's stage tonight in Somerset Maugham's drama of family discord, "The Circle." The play is presented under the auspices of the Lincoln Broadway League. It begins at 8 p.m.

Gene Pitney and his Cavalcade of Stars—including Chad and Jeremy, Bobby Goldsboro, the McCoys, B. J. Thomas, Norma Tanega and Len Barry—will perform at Pershing Auditorium May 14. Pitney has had 15 tunes that have been No. 1 on the hit parade.

Other programs at the Auditorium include the Ramsey Lewis Trio on the 3rd, the James Brown Review on the 10th, and Roger Miller, composer, arranger, singer and recording artist, on the 11th.

Folk singer Pete Seeger will perform at Nebraska Wesleyan's Fine Arts Auditorium on the 6th.

Special Events

Young and old alike anticipate the annual Shrine Circus May 9-14 at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Cub-Boy Scout-Explorer Exposition of scouting fun and skills will be held at the Fairgrounds Exposition Bldg. May 13 and 14.

The Auditorium has scheduled two Keen Time dances, one on the 6th and another on the 20th.

May also brings the beginning of high school commencement exercises with the Pius X program on the 27th at the Auditorium. Pius X students will hold their junior-senior prom May 8 at the Cornhusker.

The Lincoln Folk and

Good Guy Role Is Karloff's

Paul Newman's portrayal of "Harper," a private detective, is at the Varsity through Monday. Adult-mature youth audience.

Opening Tuesday will be "Ghost in the Invisible Bikini," in which Boris Karloff, now 78, plays one his rare good guy roles, that of a friendly corpse.

A lovely haunt (Susan Hart) calls on friendly Boris to give him a chance to enter Heaven —on condition that he perform one good deed.

How this is accomplished is a story that gets quite involved with some living people. For instance, there are some heirs (Tommy Kirk and Deborah Walley), a scheming attorney (Basil Rathbone), and a mysterious butler (Francis X. Bushman). Others are Nancy Sinatra, Claudia Martin (Dean's daughter) and Ed Garner. For brave adults, youth and possibly some older children.

FBI Gal Goes to Turkey

"The Oscar," in which opportunist Stephen Boyd climbs from manager of a stripper to screen stardom with the help of one susceptible woman after another, continues at the State. Flashbacks tell the story in frank language. There's a big name cast (Boyd, Elke Sommer, Joseph Cotten, Edie Adams, Milton Berle, Tony Bennet) and the production is elaborate. Adult audience.

Scheduled Wednesday at the State is "That Man From Istanbul." The man is really Horst Bucholz, deported gambler. He has to convince a beautiful FBI agent (Sylvia Koscina) that he has naught to do with the substitution of a double for a kidnaped scientist for whom the U.S. has paid $1 million ransom. Of course the $1 million is missing, too. Horst goes on some wild chases (one through a women's Turkish bath), several fights and a supercharged search for the missing scientist and money. Adult, mature youth audience.

Horst and Sylvia

Suspense in the Desert

There is no movie today at the Stuart, where Helen Hayes and her repertory accompany appear on stage in "The Circle," a Lincoln Broadway League presentation.

Resuming on the Stuart's screen Monday will be "Johnny Tiger," with Robert Taylor as a bespectacled well-meaning professor whose attempt to educate some backward Seminole Indians runs into complications centering on Chad Everett ("Johnny Tiger"), a half-breed grandson of the tribal chief, and Brenda Scott.

Starting Friday at the Stuart will be the suspenseful "Flight of the Phoenix," with an all-male cast headed by James Stewart. The men of varying nationalities are aboard an Arabian oil company plane that crash lands in the desert.

Hardy Kruger is a young German aircraft designer who convinces veteran pilot Stewart that their only hope is to build a strange new plane out of salvaged parts of the cripple. A strange craft takes shape, tension mounts and there's a surprising and effective denouement.

Accolades go to some of the secondary characters including Peter Finch, Ronald Fraser and Richard Attenborough. Audience: Youth and Up.

JFK Film Split 90-10

Chicago Daily News Special

New York — The government-made film biography of President John F. Kennedy will make profits for movie theaters, although distributor Joseph E. Levine is giving his share of the box office receipts to the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington D.C.

Levine said in an interview that he hopes to turn over "between $5 million and $10 million" to the Kennedy Center "if it takes off at the box office." But he noted that documentary films usually don't draw crowds.

Levine said he hopes theaters will take the Kennedy film on a 90 to 10% split. This would bring the center in Washington 90% of profits after payment of theater "house expenses."

The film premiered in New York April 10, and received rave reviews in newspapers there. It was produced originally to be shown abroad under the title, "Years of Lightning, Day of Drums."

SPECIAL LIMITED ENROLLMENT! EXPIRES MIDNIGHT, MAY 22, 1966

A board of doctors creates a new kind of health plan for people over 40 only!

Gives you extra cash over and above your present hospital insurance for the "danger years" ahead and—for the first time— actually pays money to help keep you well!

If you are over 40, you can qualify for the new 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN, if you mail your Enrollment no later than May 22, 1966—and you can enroll for only $1.00!

This, surely, is among the greatest values, as well as the most unusual health insurance program, ever offered to men and women over 40! Think of it. Simply by the stroke of your pen, you can now get the valuable "extra cash" protection you've wanted at the time you are most apt to need it . . . all at a cost substantially less than you might expect!

How 40-PLUS Differs from Ordinary Health Insurance

The 40-PLUS Benefit Plan has been created by an insurance company run by doctors, the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, which has specialized in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists exclusively for more than 63 years. Now this fine old "doctors company" offers a wonderful new "extra cash" plan to men and women over 40! And you may enroll during this Limited Enrollment Period—without having to see a company representative and without any red tape!

How 40-PLUS Helps Your Doctor Keep You Well

Your doctor will tell you . . . people who have regular physical examinations have a better chance to stay well and live longer. For example, if cancer is discovered in its early stages there is a much better chance of curing it. To encourage you to see your doctor regularly, 40-PLUS will pay up to $10 to help pay the cost of an annual routine physical check-up. You see your own doctor any time within 60 days after you receive your notice—but only if you want to.

But, of course, even if you see your doctor regularly, you can still be struck by sudden accident or illness and land in the hospital tomorrow. This is especially true during the dangerous "over 40" years when cancer, heart attack and other serious diseases are most apt to strike. That's why 40-PLUS also pays you extra cash benefits—in addition to any other insurance or Medicare—to use any way you wish.

$100 a Week Extra Cash Paid Direct to You

Here's how this valuable "extra cash" protection "pays off" in your time of need: $100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement, for as long as 52 weeks, each time you are hospitalized for a new sickness or accident! You get paid for every day—even if you are hospitalized for only one day—as much as $5200 for a full year! Even if you are hospitalized for a full year and have received your full $5200 in benefits —you are still entitled to all benefits all over again, as long as you have been out of the hospital for at least six months between hospital confinements.

> Important: Here is a real "plus" for you if you have been told you are uninsurable. Even if you have suffered from chronic ailments in the past—ailments that come back again and again or are likely to recur—40-PLUS will cover you for these pre-existing conditions after your policy has been in force for two years.

Naturally, 40-PLUS will cover you for any new accident or sickness. Accidents are covered immediately, as soon as your policy is in force. After your policy is 30 days old, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter. There are only a few usual exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder or alcoholism, or if something happens "on the job" and is covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws. You are free to go to any hospital of your own choice that makes a charge for room and board, with these exceptions only: nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction or mental disorder.

40-PLUS and the "Danger Years"

Of course, like most people over 40, you probably have some hospital insurance. But, as everyone knows, the most complete hospital insurance—even Medicare—simply doesn't cover everything. The fact is, you need more protection.

But now that you're over 40, and in the "danger years," it may be difficult to obtain the extra protection you need at a price you can afford—or, because of the condition of your health, you may not be able to obtain it at any price!

That's why the new 40-PLUS Benefit Plan is so important —it brings you the hard-to-obtain "over 40" protection you need, at remarkably low rates. For pennies a day, 40-PLUS pays you extra cash to help fill the "financial gap" probably not covered by your other insurance or Medicare.

And remember—even if your hospital expenses are covered—you'll still need help with your household expenses!

Think for a moment—if you're a husband, father and breadwinner, and you're suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Your income stops. Your expenses go up. Even if you have some kind of "salary insurance," it probably won't come close to replacing your full-time pay. You and your family may never fully recover the tremendous financial loss!

If you're a wife, mother and homemaker, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Who will look after your family, see that the children get hot meals, are properly clothed? Who will do the laundry, the marketing, the cleaning? Your husband may lose time from his job . . . friends and relatives may have to help out temporarily . . . you may even have to hire full-time domestic help! Everything will be upset. Debts may be incurred, savings lost—worse still, peace of mind may be shattered, and even recovery seriously delayed!

If you are over 65, and are suddenly hospitalized, what happens? Medicare won't pay all of your hospital expenses or any of your household expenses. Most senior citizens won't want to dip into savings it may have taken a lifetime to accumulate . . . or become a "burden" to their children or community. Surely you wouldn't want to become "dependent" after all the years it has taken you to become independent.

Now you can stop worrying—now that you can obtain the remarkable two-way protection of 40-PLUS.

Actually, important as all of these benefits are, they are far from the only advantages you can now enjoy . . . if you act before the enrollment deadline. For example:

Benefits Tax-Free—Can't Be Reduced

■ For as long as you live and continue to pay your premiums, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—and we guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. Furthermore, your benefits will never be reduced—and all your benefits are tax-free!

Carry Any Other Insurance You Want

■ Yes, 40-PLUS pays extra cash in addition to any other insurance you carry—individual or group—even Medicare!

Surprisingly Low Cost

■ With these wonderful "keep well" and "get better" benefits, you might expect 40-PLUS to cost much more than other health plans—but, in fact, it costs considerably less than you might expect! Only $3.95 a month from age 40 through age 64—only $6.95 a month when you are 65 or over—no additional premiums can ever be assessed—and, regardless of your age, your first month is only $1.00!

■ As important as all the valuable benefits, low cost and ease of enrollment is this vital fact: Your policy is backed by the resources, integrity and reputation of the Physicians Mutual Insurance Company, "the doctors company," specializing in health and accident protection for physicians, surgeons and dentists all across America, for more than 63 years. Doctors right in your own community know about us and may actually be insured by Physicians Mutual. (If this is the first you have heard of Physicians Mutual, it's probably because this is one of the very few offerings it has made to the general public.) Serving policyholders throughout the United States direct by mail, Physicians Mutual has its headquarters in Omaha, Nebraska, and is licensed and incorporated in that state. Its Board of Directors is composed entirely of respected members of the medical, dental and insurance professions.

How Can They Offer So Much For So Little?

The question is sensible; the answer makes good sense, too. By encouraging our members to see their doctors for routine check-ups each year . . . we hope to be able to keep more people out of the hospital. This means lower claims costs.

In addition, we have lower sales costs. 40-PLUS is a mass enrollment plan. All business is conducted directly between you and the company by mail. No salesmen are used.

It all adds up to real savings we share with you by giving you high quality protection at low cost.

Easy to Enroll—No Red Tape—No Salesman Will Call!

Simply fill out the short Enrollment on the opposite page and mail it with $1.00 for your first month's coverage! We will issue your "extra cash" 40-PLUS Benefit Policy (Form P302 series) immediately—the same day your Enrollment is received. This automatically puts your policy in force. Along with your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. When you need your benefits, you can be sure that your claim will be given "top priority" treatment. In addition, we'll see to it that you receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor for your physical examination.

When you receive your policy, you'll see that it is honest and easy to understand. But note this—if for any reason you decide to change your mind, you may return your policy in 10 days and we will promptly refund your dollar!

Don't Wait Until the Deadline to Enroll!

Remember, the sooner we receive your Enrollment, the sooner 40-PLUS will cover you! So it's best you fill out and return your Enrollment now, before the deadline date arrives. (Two Enrollments are provided on the opposite page, so that husbands and wives may both enroll. In that case, be sure to enclose $1.00 for each Enrollment.)

So, won't you take the necessary few minutes—today—and return your Enrollment together with the dollar required to put it into effect? Your Enrollment must be postmarked before midnight of May 22, 1966, or it cannot be accepted. Better mail your Enrollment today.

17 Important Questions Answered

ABOUT THE NEW 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN

The New Plan That Pays You Extra Cash When You Are Hospitalized—Plus Extra Benefits To Help Keep You Well

1. What is the 40-PLUS BENEFIT PLAN?

It is a new health insurance plan for people over 40 only—that pays an extra cash income direct to you when you are hospitalized and, in addition, provides a physical examination benefit each year to help your doctor keep you well.

2. Why do I need 40-PLUS in addition to my regular health insurance or Medicare?

Probably your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital expenses. But even if it does, you will need help to pay all your regular household expenses while you are hospitalized.

3. Can I collect even though I carry other health insurance or Medicare?

Yes. 40-PLUS pays you in addition to any health insurance you carry, whether group or individual—even Medicare!

4. Is there a lot of red tape to qualify?

No. The only qualification is that you must be over 40—even senior citizens over 65 are welcome.

5. If I become hospitalized, when do my benefits begin?

$100 a week ($14.28 a day) will be paid directly to you from the very first day of hospital confinement.

6. How long will I be paid?

For as long as 52 weeks (as much as $5200.00) while you are hospitalized for each new sickness or accident. If the full 52 weeks has been used, and the same condition recurs, a new 52-week period will be provided if there has been an interval of 6 months between hospital confinements.

7. When does my policy go into force?

It becomes effective on the date your Enrollment is received. Accidents are covered on that date. After your policy has been in force for 30 days, you are covered for sicknesses which begin thereafter.

8. What if I have had a health problem that may occur again?

Pre existing conditions are covered after your policy has been in force for two years.

9. What conditions aren't covered?

Only a few exceptions: war, military service, mental disorder or alcoholism, or any condition covered by Workmen's Compensation or Employers Liability Laws.

10. Does 40-PLUS pay in any hospital?

You will be covered in any hospital anywhere in the world that makes a charge for room and board, except nursing homes, convalescent or self-care units of hospitals, Federal hospitals, or any hospital primarily for treatment of tuberculosis, alcoholism, drug addiction or mental disorder.

11. Can I drop out at any time? Can you drop me?

No matter how many claims you make or how much you collect, we will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons—for as long as you live. We guarantee that we will never cancel, modify or terminate your policy unless we decline renewal on all policies of this type in your entire state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.

12. Will my claims be handled promptly?

Yes. With your policy, you will receive a simple, easy-to-use Claim Form. Your claims will be processed quickly and your checks will be sent directly to you.

13. How do I get my "physical" each year?

40-PLUS actually pays your own doctor up to $10 annually toward your routine physical examination (but only if you want it). You receive special forms yearly to take to your doctor, so that he can give you your check up within 60 days.

14. Why are the premiums so low?

Because this is a mass enrollment plan—and no salesmen are used—our volume is higher and our sales costs are lower.

15. How much does my first month cost?

Only $1.00, regardless of age. After your first month, you pay only $3.95 a month until age 65; only $6.95 a month from age 65 and over.

16. Why is there a "deadline" date?

In order to offer the Plan to people over 40 without any qualifications and still maintain our low rate, we can only make the Plan available on this basis during a limited enrollment period. The deadline date is firm—we cannot accept your Enrollment unless postmarked on or before that date.

17. Why should I enroll right now?

Because an unexpected sickness or accident could strike without warning—and you will not be covered until your policy is in force. Remember, if for any reason you change your mind, you may return your policy within 10 days and your $1.00 will be refunded immediately.

PETE SEEGER

Here Friday, He's Also Appeared At Carnegie Hall, Before HUAC

Pete Seeger is coming to Lincoln

He will perform at 8:30 p.m. Friday at the Fine Arts auditorium on the Nebraska Wesleyan campus.

For folk music lovers of the pre-Kingston Trio era, the event is likely to be greeted with enthusiasm. Seeger is the master craftsman of guitar and five-string banjo, has been a practicing folk musician for over 30 years, singing everywhere from migrant camps and hobo jangles to saloons and political rallies to churches and concert halls.

The lanky (6'1") Yankee has touched on nearly all areas of folk music — traditional through "protest"— often stirring controversy as he moves. As a result he has appeared at New York's Carnegie Hall, and also in Washington before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Often called the father of the modern folk music revival, Seeger, 46, left Harvard University in the mid-1930's to turn his attentions to the songs and techniques of folk musicians. For this, he went to the direct source, the folk themselves.

This search, begun during the depression, led him to the labor union struggle and protest songs. And in 1941, he made his first recording, with the Almanac Singers—a group later to earn a rare distinction for musicians: a listing in the HUAC's "Guide to Subversive Organizations."

Following a three-year Army hitch during World War II, and a few more years of solo work, Seeger organized the Weavers in 1950.

A writer — "Where Have All the Flowers Gone," "If I Had a Hammer," "Turn, Turn, Turn" — as well as singer-musician, Seeger has also established himself as a fighter, supporting such causes as civil rights, international cooperation and disarmament.

Appearing before a House Un-American Activities subcommittee in 1956, Seeger cited the First Amendment —the freedom of speech clause —which resulted in a conviction for contempt of Congress and sentencing to a year in jail. The decision was later reversed, however, and Seeger received the additional distinction of having the liner notes on his recent album "God Bless the Grass" written by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Seeger . . . is guitar mightier than Bomb?

With his success established through records, world tours and television, Seeger said recently that he is still "trying to search out what chance there is for the survival of the human race." He said he feels "it's better to fight and lose than not to fight at all."

And, he added, "Nowadays, there is at least a fighting chance that the guitar may be mightier than the Bomb."

Seeger's performance here will be a benefit for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People (NCAAP), the University of Nebraska friends of SNCC.

(Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee), the NU Unitarian Student Religious Liberals and the Nebraska Wesleyan University Methodist Student Movement. 11 of those groups have joined in sponsoring the concert.

26th Square Dance Festival

Lincoln Program Is Among Oldest Like It in Nation

Swing your partner then right and left grand.

These familiar calls, the sound of swishing skirts and rhythmical steps will be heard amid a swirl of color at Pershing Auditorium Saturday.

Square dancers from over Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Colorado and California will participate in the 26th annual square dance festival sponsored by the Lincoln Council of Square and Round Dance.

Lincoln's festival is the oldest one of its kind in the United States.

The first square dance event in 1940 was held on the lawn of a dean of Nebraska Wesleyan University. The next year the festival moved indoors to Grant Memorial Hall, a University of Nebraska building which was razed last year.

Next move was to the University Coliseum. Since 1959 the festival has been held at the Auditorium.

At least one couple, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Costello of 2844 So. 11th, have participated in the event since 1941.

Interestingly enough their activity in square dancing was stimulated by their attendance as spectators at the 1940 festival. The Costellos plan to participate again this year.

Only about 50 persons danced in the first festival as compared to the 1,000 dancers and 2,500 spectators at the 1965 affair. Over 300 participants from Nebraska towns, 200 dancers from outside Nebraska plus Lincoln square dance club members are expected to attend the 1966 festival.

Lincoln has 14 square dance clubs which are members of the council sponsoring the event. One of the older Lincoln groups that is still active, the Mid Week Square Dance Club, helped organize the first event.

Nationally known Link Gallacher from Falls Church, Va., will be the caller for the festival events to be held in the afternoon and evening.

Gallacher has had previous experience working with Lincoln square dance enthusiasts for it was at the Lincoln YMCA that he began taking square dancing lessions.

Don and Pete Hickman from Amarillo, Tex., will teach round dances to the participants.

Afternoon activities will include dancing from 2 to 4:30 p.m. The evening program begins at 8 p.m. with the grand march. Gymnasts from Lincoln high schools will present a program at intermission.

For 1966 . . . the Costellos will dance again.

The 1966 festival directors are Mr. and Mrs. Donald D. Reed.

Mock Wedding Part of India Festival at NU

An Indian marriage ceremony will be portrayed at the India Association's spring cultural festival at 7:30 tonight at the University of Nebraska East Campus Student Union.

Strivistava

The program will include solo and group dances and songs, a fashion parade and a skit.

The India Association is a cultural organization open to all interested individuals. It is dedicated to a better understanding and friendship between India and the United States.

President of the organization is Prof. Jaedish Srivistava of the University of Nebraska. Participants in tonight's festival include University and community people.

Prof. Srivistave and Dr. Chivukula Rao of the University are in charge of arrangements. Admission to the festival is free.

Lewis Trio Here Tuesday; Roger Miller on May 11

Country and western singer Roger Miller will be in Lincoln May 11—just eight days after Pershing Auditorium cools from the jazz sounds of the Ramsey Lewis Trio.

The Trio — including Lewis, El Dee Young and Red Holt — will be at the Auditorium Tuesday, May 3, and Miller, along with the Good Time Singers, is scheduled on Wednesday, May 11. Both are being presented by Jim Dier Enterprises.

The Ramsey Lewis Trio comes to Lincoln after appearances at such spots as New York's Birdland and Basin Street East, Chicago's Blue Note and California's mecca for jam session addicts, the Lighthouse at Hermosa Beach.

Miller . . . two concerts in one night.

Roger Miller, described by one critic as an "unhoky Okie," will be bringing his country and western sound to Lincoln on the same bill with the Good Time Singers, who describe their style as "raucous folk interpretations."

The twangy-voiced Miller, recorder of such hits as "Husbands and Wives" and "Kansas City Star," is scheduled to appear at Pershing at a 7 p.m. concert.

However, Dier also has him booked in Omaha at 8:30 the same night. Dier offers his assurances that both audiences will get their full 45 minutes worth of the easy-going Miller.

Miller will alternate with the Good Time Singers in Lincoln till 9 p.m., said Dier, when he'll be whisked away to Omaha to finish a program there that will be started by another group.

The Jackson Hole Country

By PAUL BROWN

Many changes have taken place since we first visited the Teton Mountains and pitched our tent on the pine-shaded shore of Jenny Lake in 1932. New lodges, cabins and trailer-camping sites now help make the visitor more comfortable.

Grand Teton National Park is just a few miles south of Yellowstone, in northwest Wyoming. Its geographic features are entirely different from those found in Yellowstone Park and equally inspiring. The Grand Teton Range rises abruptly from an almost level basin, Jackson Hole—named for an early explorer, David E. Jackson. A score of jagged peaks rise above 10,000 feet. Many are more than 12,000 feet and snow-crested the year-round. While the Grand Teton is almost 14,000 feet high.

The park offers a wide variety of activities—from just sittin' and lookin' at the majestic scenery — to mountain climbing, hiking, horseback riding, boating, fishing, swimming and dancing.

Most of the lakes in the park were formed by glacial action—which is still going on in the high ravines and valleys. Centuries of glacial recession have carried down rock and silt debris, creating dams that formed the beautiful valley lakes of Leigh, Jenny, Taggert, Bradley and Jackson. Many other small lakes can be found hidden in the high meadows and in the lodgepole pine and aspen forests deep in the range.

There are over 200 miles of trails in the park. All are suitable for hiking or saddle horses. Most grades are moderate. To make today's sketch right we took the Cascade Canyon Trail, which starts near the campground at Jenny Lake and winds seven miles up the canyon to Lake Solitude in its alpine setting near timberline.

Botanic Garden Popular

By WILBUR MARTIN

Washington (AP) — There's a little bit of Africa, India, the South Seas, the Sahara and the rain forests of Central America in the shadow of the nation's Capitol.

This is the National Botanical Gradens, one of the more popular attractions for the millions of visitors who come to Washington each year.

If you know where to look, you can see a "dumb cane" bush that will paralyze the throat muscles for a time if you sip its sap. There's another palm that produces an acid-like fluid natives of its island home once used to douse enemies.

You won't find any of this information on the prosaic name labels. As a matter of fact, you can hardly get clearance from the office of J. George Stewart, the Capitol architect.

R. Kurtz, a professor at Hunter College in New York City, is the authority on palms who provided information and photographs for a famed horticulture book on exotic plants.

"There's life and death in these palms," Kurtz said, pointing out the "dumb cane" and others that have long provided roots and fruit that have been staples in the diet of South Sea natives and in other lands.

Aside from providing a unique and fragrant tourist sight, the garden has other, more practical functions. Testimony of its officials seeking an appropriation of $467,000 for fiscal 1966 pointed out that it ran a big nursery in Anacostia.

This furnishes plants for the Capitol grounds and congressional office buildings; lends them to congressmen who want to add a bit of cheer to their office decor, and provides the flora for numerous congressional functions.

HEARD, NOT SEEN

Proclaimed Radio Need

By GINNY FISHER

Today, on the first day of May, the air seems suddenly more spring-like: this year the air sounds more spring-like, too.

Radio goes on the air with extra lively jingles, slogans, special music and contests to mark another year of success.

Emphasizing the theme, "Radio . . . America's Sound Habit," the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) is attempting to widen public acquaintance with the varied services radio provides. Over 2,000 NAB member stations plus affiliates of the four major radio networks are participating.

Clock Around

KWBE-AM (1450) and FM (92.9 mc) in Beatrice begins a 24-hour broadcast schedule today. Claiming to be the only Nebraska station which maintains and operates its own weather radar installation, KWBE plans to use the continuous broadcasting to provide more effective warnings in case of severe weather as well as offering entertainment. A larger standby power plant is being installed.

KFOR (1240), an ABC affiliate, plans several on-the-air promotions climaxed by a theater party from 5:30 a.m. to 8 a.m. May 26 at the Stuart Theater. This event includes a continental breakfast which is served while the Morning Show is broadcast from the theater's stage, followed by a coming attraction movie. KFOR's manager, Roger Larson, is also president of the Nebraska Broadcasters Association.

Gifts of Radios

KLIN (1400) has several May projects, according to Jack Frost, assistant manager. KLIN will air NAB's special jingles, will give away radios in various contests to emphasize the usefulness of transistor sets in emergencies, will call attention to the station's standby generator, will air an editorial salute to every Lincoln radio station and will invite the public to make appointments to tour the station Monday-through-Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

KLMS (1480), a Mutual Broadcasting System affiliate, is bringing the Gene Pitney Cavalcade of Stars to Pershing Auditorium May 14 and is giving away a transistor radio each day during May. NAB spots will be featured throughout the month.

Many Skills

KFMQ-FM (95.3 mc) has no special projects as yet, but helping to attract favorable attention to radio during May (and the rest of the year) is "Top of the Morning" with Charlene Gilliland, broadcast from 6:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Although officially titled

Mrs. Gilliland

"account executive," she actually performs a multitude of jobs including turning on the station in the morning, being her own engineer, selling ads, writing radio copy and advertising, choosing her own programming selections and announcing.

The attractive, petite mother of two teenagers, a daughter Sherrie Ann who attends Douglass College and a son Kimberly at Southeast High, now holds a first class radio operator's license, but became interested in broadcasting by accident in 1962.

Her background as an accomplished violinist and pianist plus her studies at Juilliard and Ohio State enabled her to win so many "name the classical record and win it" contests sponsored by KFMQ, that then-owner Herbert Burton called to meet her. She began by helping choose classical selections, gradually learned to operate radio controls, then qualified for her license. She emphasizes "good music that doesn't offend" and prefers to provide diversified entertainment, not just "background mood music."

Good Old Days

Radio is given a big boost by another entertainment medium, television. CBS-TV colorcasts "The Magic of Broadcasting," at 9 this evening in a salute to the communications industry with a journey down memory lanes of radio and early TV. Host Red Godfrey, the warbling banjoist now known as Arthur, is joined by Lucille Ball and Bing Crosby. Film clips show old-time favorites such as Fred Allen, Al Jolson, Fanny Brice, Eddie Cantor, Amos and Andy, Rudy Vallee and others.

Noting radio's exciting past is a treat, but listening to radio '66 offers continual entertainment now. This medium is indeed fast becoming "America's Sound Habit."

World's Your Stage . . . If You'll Just Try Out

By GWEN DRAKE

"Gwendolyn Drake read the part of Helena."

And so I was launched in a short, but bright theatrical career—almost.

Just a Try-Out

My assignment seemed simple enough, try out for a part in the Lincoln Community Playhouse's production of "Midsummers Night Dream."

My story was to capture the breathless anticipation of waiting for my turn "on stage," the excitement of giving a good performance, and the drama of clashing theatrical skills.

The breathless anticipation quickly became cold stark terror, the excitement of a good performance was marred somewhat by the director's request I "gallop across the stage," and the drama of clashing theatrical skills gave me a severe backache.

Lincoln Community Playhouse Director Roland Reed called me to the stage to read the part of Helena, and promptly broke any composure I may have tried to maintain for the evening.

I read the part, making only minor errors—like forgetting to exit when my part was finished, and stumbling over any word that contained over one syllable. I stumbled off stage, heaved a sigh, so confident the worst had passed—I was wrong.

The director then assembled on stage all females who were trying out for roles in the Shakespearean comedy, and the fun began.

Heroine-author's low courtly bow . . . beginning of a beautiful backache.

Somehow, I headed the line of about 30 women and girls on the stage—I got to go first.

"Now," the director's lithe little assistant said, "let's see you all run lightly across the stage."

After I had completed my "run," she repeated the word lightly to the balance of the line, and tried to steady her laugh-wracked body on the curtain.

The "run" was followed by a series of three leaps, a skip jump sequence, a low courtly bow—the beginning of a beautiful backache—, and last but certainly not least, a gallop at full speed across the endless stage.

The tryouts terminated, and I thought the end of the tryout fiasco had finally come—again, I was wrong.

The next morning as I sat at my desk in pain ridden agony, a list of cast members arrived and read as follows:

Don Williamson—Egeus, ruler of Athens.

Bill Dahlberg—Lysander, Hermia's lover.

Mike Dobbins—Demetrius, Hermia's betrothed.

Alexander Currie Sr.—Philostrate, Hermia's father.

Fred Schmidt—Peter Quince, amateur player.

Willis Breenen—Bottom, comic carpenter.

Joe Miller—Starveling, player.

Hjordis Bruce—Hippolyta, Amazon Queen.

JoEllen Williams—Hermia, Lysander's love.

Bobbie Kierstead—Helena, Hermia's love-disappointed friend.

Diana McCown—Titania, Queen of the fairies.

Jan Tice—Puck, elf forerunner.

Genece Filbert—Cobweb, elf.

Cheryl Smith—Moth, elf.

Mary Brady—Mustardseed, elf.

Paul Baker—Attendant to Duke

Terry Weymouth—Attendant to Duke.

Patricia Weymouth—Court Lady.

Linda Franta—Court Lady.

Shirley Leighty—Court Lady.

Gwendolyn Drake—Court Lady.

I wonder how many leaps does a Court Lady have to make?

(And I hope Director Reed will not be offended if I decline the part. My assignment is completed).

GOING to Summer Camp Is HIGH CAMP

By HOLLY SPENCE

Camp means fun and frolic—a chance to break away from the hum-drum routine of school and home chores.

Camps? Everyone should be able to find one to suit his liking. Camps are sponsored by most all organizations working with youth groups.

Boys' Clubs, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, YMCA, YWCA, 4-H, church camps, and private camps—take your choice.

Perhaps you can make summer camp a financial project for next year. Work toward saving enough money to pay the camp registration fees and some extra spending money.

After the preliminaries — fees and schedules arranged, there's the packing for the weeks of fun in store. Packing is a major undertaking—there are tons of things to take and inevitably, when you arrive, something has been left behind.

That favorite baseball glove or those nose plugs or "something important," but that "something" can usually be done without or easily purchased.

Think of all the new friends you'll meet or the old friends you'll renew acquaintances with. Maybe a new girlfriend or boyfriend to correspond with when all the camp fun is over.

Camps can be reached in a few hours, if you decide to stay in Nebraska, or if you yearn for a change of scenery, possibly a camp in the East. The traveling is fun too. And a new environment nearly always changes your outlook on life.

For the older teens — why not a summer job as a camp counselor? It's good experience and fun too. It's a responsible position, and always good for future job recommendations.

Some summer camping may mean hikes into the woods or mountains. Carrying your "home on your back" can be quite an experience!

Living conditions aren't always as primitive as the word "camp" may sound. There may not be all the conveniences of home, but it's something new and exciting.

There's swimming, handicrafts, canoeing, hiking, horseback riding, singing, water skiing, weiner roasts — just about any fun outdoor activity you can think of.

And when it rains—you can always wade in the puddles or walk in the rain or write the folks at home and tell them of all the experiences you've had.

With the great crowd of kids at camp—how about instigating a talent show? Perhaps invite all the parents up some Sunday for the show. It will be a real thrill.

Or if you have a number of would-be Beatles, form a combo and stage a dance. Charge a small fee and give the proceeds to the church or a charity.

If you find handicraft class the apple of your eye, make bean bags, rag dolls or toy airplanes and give them to a children's home or hospital.

Believe it or not, your parents will even miss you. A group living experience, like summer camp, will give you a chance to get away from parental governing board and prove to yourself and them that you are responsible.

Their 'Gloria' No. 1

Shadows of Knight Include Ex-Lincolnite

The No. 1 tune on Lincoln's record poll, "Gloria' by the Shadows of Knight, really hits "close to home."

Tom Shiffour, drummer for the Shadows, is a former Saratoga School boy. The Chicago combo is scheduled to appear at 8 p.m. next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan television show.

Now 21, Tom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shiffour of Chicago and formerly of Lincoln. Tom's maternal grandparents are the Rev and Mrs. T. R. Hollingsworth of 1148 Rose. Rev. Hollingsworth is pastor of the Raymond Presbyterian Church.

The Shadows are in New York City, playing a two-week engagement in addition to the Sullivan show date.

The top 10 in the UPI survey:

1. "Monday, Monday," Mama's and Papa's
2. "Good Lovin'," Young Rascals
3. "Rainy Day Woman," Bob Dylan.
4. "Soul and Inspiration," Righteous Brothers.
5. "When A Man Loves a Woman," Percy Sledge
6. "Kicks," Paul Revere and the Raiders.
7. "John B. Sloop," Beachboys.
8. "Time Won't Let Me," Outsiders.
9. "Gloria," Shadows of Knight.
10. "Leaning On The Lampost," Herman's Hermits.

Motorcoach Tour Is Set

New York (UPI)—An Airline, travel agency and bus line have combined their facilities to offer 22-day, 10-country, escorted motorcoach tours of Europe.

They are Sabena Belgian World Airlines, Berry World Travel and Greyhound, which say there will be guaranteed departure dates for 30 travelers each on the tours. Some of the highlights, in addition to Europe's most famous capitals, are scenic Rhine castle cruise, Swiss chalet party and boat ride through the Amsterdam canals.

Indian Safaris

New York (UPI) — A shikar, the Indian version of the African Safari, is just the thing for the traveler who yearns for adventure, says the American Society of Travel Agents ASTA. Tourist offices in India will help arrange trips into the Indian jungle professional hunters, ASTA with government-approved says.

'Frozen Giants' Sky Show

A new sky show begins Monday at the Ralph Mueller Planetarium at the University-State Museum in Morrill Hall. The show "The Frozen Giants," will run through June 26.

This show describes the similarities and differences of giant outer planets of Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. One focal point will be one of the most beautiful celestial objects of all those viewed through a telescope — Saturn and its rings. Another topic of interest will be the startling red spot of the Jovian planet, Jupiter. The cold, remote twin planets of Uranus and Neptune are also compared.

Winter hours continue at the museum and the planetarium through May 31, with public sky shows at 8 p.m. on Wednesday; 2:45 p.m. on Saturday; and 2:30 and 3:45 p.m. on Sunday.

On June 1, the summer schedule goes into effect with public shows at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, daily weekday shows at 2:45 p.m., and 2:30 and 3:45 p.m. shows on Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

West's Error Lost Set

By HOWARD SCHENCKEN AND RICHARD L. FREY

One sure bet is that partner doesn't want you to do something he could have done himself. Because this simple proposition didn't occur to West, he tumbled at the last fence after he had almost built the precise defense needed to beat this contract.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	2 N.T.	Pass
3 N.T.	All Pass

Opening lead: Spade nine

It is usually a fair assumption that when the bidding goes as in the diagram declarer doesn't hold a spade suit. This was West's thinking when he opened the spade nine — and though he didn't find East with long spades, the lead was still a potential killer.

Declarer couldn't afford to forego the chance that East held the heart king, so he went up with dummy's spade king, on which East dropped the deuce. The heart queen held the next trick, but a second heart finesse lost to West, who wasted no time laying down the club ace, East playing the jack. West continued with the club seven, which won the trick.

West had thus far played an exact defense. But now he was blinded by the fact that East had played the spade deuce to the opening lead. He enthusiastically led another club and this spelled curtains.

Declarer took the club king and West could not deny declarer a dummy entry with the diamond king for a total of nine tricks. Had West shifted back to spades after his club seven had won the third defensive trick, he would have established a spade trick while he still held the diamond ace.

The two illuminating plays in the club suit marked East with a club holding that included J-10-9-8, so it was obvious that East could afford to overtake West's seven spot and continue clubs himself. When East deliberately left West on lead, presumably West was expected to do something that East couldn't do—i.e., lead a spade.

OUR LITTLE TOWN

Home Distressed or Used?

By GERTRUDE SKINNER

Ruskin

A hint for homebuilders that I recently ran across stated that you could get the authentic look of an old beamed ceiling by distressing the beams before installing them.

Instructions were to gouge the timbers with a hand axe and knives and beat them with chains or a ring of heavy keys for the distressed look. Sounds like our kitchen cupboards, only they were distressed by two generations of tiny hands.

New One Leaves Us Cold

Professional gouging is the sort of thing which stimulates those people with abundant energy and know-how. Being thoroughly content with the house in which we live, building a new one leaves us cold.

We would, like hermit crabs, rather take on a shell that someone else has moved out of. The Skinners like houses that have withstood the test of time and grown comforting, soothing and protective toward their occupants.

We like our front porch with its squeaky swing and rocking chairs and the cardinals that nest every spring in the clematis vine.

We like our basement full of treasures, where we keep things and from which we give things away.

Nooks and Crannies

We like nooks and crannies and secret drawers that the grandchildren and the neighbor children delight in exploring.

We like a living room that is lived in, a dining room that is dined in and a kitchen that is cooked in. No off limit rooms in our little house.

Modern home builders seem pre-occupied with saving space. Well, we don't want to save space, we want to use it —every inch of it just as long as the good Lord allows.

STAMP SHOW

Lincoln's Club's Annual Show Next Weekend at 2000 No. 33rd

A stamp show is a many-splendored thing.

Evidence for that will be tagged and displayed as Public Exhibit No. 2 next weekend when the Lincoln Stamp Club opens its second annual show.

Thousands of stamps in a myriad of colors, shapes and histories will be exhibited from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The free public showing will be in the drill hall of the Pershing Armory at 2000 No. 33rd.

A club member, Charles Wenz, said general and specialized U.S. and foreign stamps and topical—churches, music, maps, and others—stamps will be exhibited by about 20 of the club's 80 members

Several members will be available at all times to explain exhibits, stamp-collecting and to recruit new members.

Recruiting members, he noted, is one of the exhibit's principal functions. Last year's show brought more than a dozen new members to the three-year-old club.

The club meets at 7 p.m. the first and third Fridays of each month at the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. Bldg., 1235 N

Three More U.S. Stamps

Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien has announced plans to issue three additional commemorative postage stamps this year

The stamps will salute the 75th anniversary of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, mark 25 years of the U.S. Savings Bond program and draw attention to the Great River Road, a highway system linking Canada with the Gulf of Mexico on either side of the Mississippi River.

All will be 5-cent stamps. Designs and dates of issuance will be announced later These subjects bring to 15 the number of commemorative stamps to be issued in 1966.

With 11 million members, the General Federation of Women's Clubs is the largest women's federation in the world Chartered in 1891 it now has 16,000 clubs.

The Series E Savings Bond program was launched May 1, 1941, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt bought the first bond from Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

Ten states and two Canadian provinces are cooperating in completing the Great River Road, which flanks either side of the Mississippi River for a distance of 5,600 miles.

Camera Club's Annual Salon Tuesday

The Lincoln Camera Club's 6th annual Photographic Salon will be held Tuesday at the Bennett Martin library.

Club President Mel Dorn said the pictures and slides to be publicly displayed, represent the yearly competition among club members with trophies being awarded to the top three winners in each category.

The entries, up to eight slides and eight black and white prints from each member, will be judged in Omaha this afternoon by the Omaha Camera Club.

A group of Omaha moviemakers will judge any film entered in that category, he said.

The University Singers, directed by Prof. Earl Jenkins, give their spring concert at 8 tonight at the Nebraska Union ballroom, with seating on a first come first served basis.

The program includes two recently published choral settings from Shakespeare by Prof. Robert Beadell. Soloists are Mark Gruett of Lincoln and Dale McClellan of North Platte.

Notes

Orchestra on TV

The Beatrice High School symphony orchestra will appear in concert on KOLN-TV at 4 p.m. today. Maxine Stone directs the 61-piece orchestra. The orchestra has 40 string players, 31 of whom are junior high students.

Organist Here

Pierre Cochereau, organist at the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris, will play a free public recital at the Cathedral of the Risen Christ, 3500 Sheridan, at 4 p.m. today.

Cello Recital

Kathryn Walters, cellist, a junior in the department of music at the University of Nebraska, will present a public recital in Sheldon Gallery at 3:00 p.m. next Sunday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Walters of Lincoln.

Miss Walters

Miss Walters will be assisted by William Gingles, pianist, a graduate assistant in physics at the University.

The program will include Suite No. II in D Minor by Bach, the allegro moderato from Concerto in D Major by Haydn, Four Elegies and an Epilogue by Dick and the Beethoven Sonata Op. 5 No 1 in F Major.

Omaha Series

Four musical groups and individuals will appear in the 1966-67 Morning Musicale winter concert series at Joslyn Concert Hall in Omaha.

October: Halina Siedzieniewska, a pianist from Poland who made her American debut at Carnegie Recital Hall, presenting an all-Chopin program.

November: the Soni Ventorum, a wind quintet from the Conservatory of Music of Puerto Rico, featuring flute, oboe, clarinet, French horn and bassoon numbers.

February: Noel Jan Tyl, a bass-baritone, a leading bass with the New York City Center Opera.

March: violist Paul Doktor of Austria, who has received acclaim for proving the versatility of the viola as a solo instrument.

Guild Officers

The Lincoln Chapter of the American Guild of Organists meets at Bishops at 6:15 p.m. Monday for dinner and at 7:30 p.m. at Vine Congregational Church. Business includes election of officers. Nominees are Myron J. Roberts, dean; R. Richard Morris, sub-dean; Michael H. Veak, secretary, and Mrs. Walter Witt, treasurer.

A program will be given by student chapters from the University of Nebraska, Wesleyan, Union, Doane and Concordia colleges.

YOU ARE INVITED . . .

. . . to help bring outstanding chamber music to Lincoln. Last year The Lincoln Friends of Chamber Music organized on the faith that a fairly small group of music lovers acting together could bring chamber music of the very highest quality to Lincoln. The Sheldon Art Gallery provided its superb auditorium seating 300 people, and 300 of us subscribed $10 each to hire musicians. For that small sum we heard the Amadeus Quartet, the Prague Quartet, the Lincoln Chamber Players, and the Tipton Trio. We loved it. We want more. Next year we hope to hear the Juilliard Quartet, The Balsam-Kroll-Heifetz Trio, the Drolc Quartet, and the Lincoln Chamber Players. We invite you to help us. If you love good music, if you want it here in Lincoln, send your subscription ($10 each) to THE LINCOLN FRIENDS OF CHAMBER MUSIC, Sheldon Art Gallery, Lincoln, Nebraska. Send it NOW.

Mystery Set in Lincoln

Author Florence Laughlin of Tucson, Ariz., who appeared at Lincoln's 1961 Children's Book Fair, dedicated "The Seventh Cousin" (Macmillan) to "Dorothy Lessenhop and the wonderful children of Lincoln." She wrote of her visit, "I met some wonderful people and fell in love with the city and the hundreds of children to whom I talked. When I stood on the fourth floor of the Cornhusker Hotel and looked out upon the roofs of the city, I knew that someday I'd write a story about the town." This bubbling-with-fun junior mystery, set in the Capital City, is the charming and suspense-filled result of that visit. An imiginative plot involving a monkey, a disputed fortune and three lively children includes an anti-gravity experiment on the Statehouse steps that causes the governor to miss "his morning root-beer break." It's a jolly tale and a gracious tribute to those for whom it is written. Line drawings are by Sheila Greenwald.

Shivers Tantalize

Reading Time Broad Daylight

Up Above the World. By Paul Bowles; Simon & Schuster.

A mournful whistle . . . a dark hour . . . deserted town . . . night watchman . . . time bomb . . . a tight trembling . . . the phrases "I'll kill myself" and "just don't get nervous" . . .

Bowles

All these ominous intimations, occurring on the first page, set the hair-raising, shivery mood for this novel, or for most of it. The mood is clarified and intensified nearly to the breaking-point — your breaking-point—as Bowles builds up suspense masterfully. Reading time is broad daylight for this tale—that is, I repeat, for most of the time—as R. Taylor Slade and his considerably younger wife, Day, are sightseeing along some Central American coast they suffer more than the usual tourist hardships, They find no porters, no taxis, no edible meals, no habitable rooms. And they have the misfortune, to put it mildly, to meet a Mrs. Rainmantle.

Day rescues Mrs. Rainmantle at the embarrassing moment when she has run out of cash and can't negotiate a personal check. In return for this favor, Mrs. Rainmantle treats Day and Taylor to drinks. They assume they have seen the last of her as they land in Puerto Farol.

When Mrs. Rainmantle appears and asks for accommodations, there is nothing left but storage quarters with a door that doesn't lock — and no unlockable door would ever be pointed out idly by novelist Bowles.

The reader is the victim of serious jitters as the mystery deepens and the number of inexplicable and baffling incidents multiplies.

This will end in violence, which is nothing new for this author. But he lets us down, or lets himself down. It is as if, finally fed up with his inspired subtleties, he decides to cap the extraordinary with the ordinary.

The mystery so tantalizingly, even poetically evoked comes to a solution as banal as, say, a gangland murder. Yet until within hailing distance of the very end, it was wonderful going.

—W. G. Rogers

Blurbs Err but Book Well Done

Quondam. By David Pryce-Jones. Holt, Rinehart and Winston.

Set in contemporary England, "Quondam" is a slim, light novel concerning a young British writer.

The publishers of "Quondam" have described the book as an opera bouffe, comparing it to "The Barber of Seville." Opera bouffe is a broad robust melodrama with several comic plots. "Quondam" does have more than one plot, but there the similarity ends. "Quondam" is fragile, almost brittle in style. The humor is dry rather than broad.

This is not to say that "Quondam" is a failure. It is rather that the publishers have tried to force a sensitive, skillfully written prose sketch into a heavier and totally inappropriate mold.

Mr. Pryce-Jones is to be commended for a nicely written short novel. His publishers should be whipped for false advertising.

Patriot Henry: Human Spirit Fired by Ideals

Give Me Liberty. A Novel of Patrick Henry. By Noel B. Gerson; Doubleday.

"The great Virginia rebel" was an extraordinary man. His transformation from an unproductive dreamer to brilliant attorney and leader of the American Revolution was almost incredible. His story is an absorbing study of ideals firing the human spirit.

The paradoxes of Patrick Henry offer an interesting wealth of material to which Gerson has brought a lively style and the ability to tell a good story (though it slows with Henry's age) and to bring alive the fire of memorable words: "Give me liberty or give me death" and "If this be treason, make the most of it."

Lighting Work on Schedule

Blocker Notes Need and Gain

By LEO SCHERER

Lincoln still has street lighting deficiencies but the 10-years lighting improvement program and other lighting projects are on schedule.

"We are making rapid progress in improving our street lighting," said acting Public Utilities Director Lee Blocker. "Eventually we hope to have the entire downtown core area lighted to Illuminating Engineering Society standards."

Blocker said the city has programmed $705,800 for street lighting improvements within six years and overall the city's lighting is at recommended national standards minimums or above.

A 1964 national survey of the street lighting adequacy by mayors and city managers showed that only 7% of the cities over 100,000 population are 100% adequately lighted.

Blocker estimated that Lincoln now is probably 40-60% adequately lighted and the city is gaining.

"Lincoln was once one of the poorest lighted cities in the country but it's not any more," Blocker said.

He added that the public utilities department also is now upgrading existing residential street lighting (usually from 1,000 lumen to 2,500 lumen); putting in modernized street lighting as part of newly constructed arterial street projects and closely following recommended national lighting standards regarding lumens per square foot.

Louisville (AP) — Larry Boeck was trying to persuade his 4-year-old daughter, Peggy, to go to bed. She objected, explaining she was afraid to go upstairs alone.

Trying the flattery angle, Boeck said: "Why, Peggy, everybody says what a pretty girl you are and how smart you are."

"That's right, Daddy," the girl replied, "but I'm not brave."

Freeman Seems Above Criticism

Washington (—Some critics of the Johnson administration's anti-inflationary policies place Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in a peculiar position.

These critics, who include groups and farm leaders who contend these policies treat farmers unfairly, carefully avoid criticizing Freeman personally.

A recent attack on administration policies by the executive committee of the National Farmers Union pointed not at Freeman but at others in the administration.

The Farmers Union statement said, "The President, his Council of Economic Advisers and the Budget Bureau are not in tune with, or attuned to, the situation in rural America."

Significantly, this criticism which omitted Freeman came after a recent closed conference the secretary held with leaders of several farm or-organizations, including the Farmers Union, which have been close advisers of the cabinet official.

Similarly, Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.) in a recent Senate speech praised Freeman while directing criticism at "the Council of Economic Advisers, the Commerce Department and others unfamiliar with agriculture, and apparently uninformed about the content" of farm laws.

Freeman Defended

Likewise, the National Grange has written President Johnson in defense of Freeman but at the same time rejecting the thesis that farm prices are inflationary.

McGovern said Freeman had done "a wonderful job building up farm income in accordance with the congressional mandate—the mandate of the farm laws."

Yet, Freeman has given every indication in his spoken words of supporting the anti-inflationary polices which farm groups have been blasting.

Those policies include the sale of government-owned grains to keep prices from rising unduly, increase in the import quotas of cheese to keep prices from advancing; a sharp reduction in Defense Department buying of pork because hog prices were considered too high; restrictions on exports of hides and skins; shift from butter to margarine in the military diet, and proposed sharp reductions in farm appropriations.

Peculiar Position

The critics says this exempting of Freeman from criticism reflects a feeling that the secretary does not like some of these policies, but has to go along with them.

This same feeling that Freeman is not in full sympathy with administration farm policies is expressed by many Agriculture Department employes.

Not all critics have left Freeman unscathed. Republicans list him along with President Johnson, budget officials and the Council of Economic Advisers. So has the American Farm Bureau Federation, long a foe of government policies that control farm prices and production.

Schools To Gain Pupils

2-Year Hike Of 5,000 Due

By LLOYD MacDOWELL

Although K-12 enrolment in all Nebraska schools is down 312 from a year ago, State Education Department projections call for an increase of about 5,000 in the next two years.

Number of children in the state is down by [illegible]

Of Schools & Scholars

in five years, but Nebraska still "leads" the nation with 2,547 districts.

One-room schools with five or fewer pupils now number 170. Cherry (63), Holt (59) and Saunders (46) counties lead the state in numbers of one-teacher rural schools.

Impartiality

On the platform with Denmark's prime minister, Jens Otto Krag, at the University of Nebraska Honors Convocation were gubernatorial aspirants Val Peterson and Philip Sorensen.

After heaping praise on former ambassador to Denmark Peterson, Krag, the soul of diplomacy, remarked, "If Mr. Sorensen should be appointed ambassador to Denmark, we will welcome him too."

Over the State

The Tri-County school district south of Beatrice has purchased a 160-acre tract for a high school planned for completion for the 1967-68 school year. Pupils from the district will attend school in DeWitt and Plymouth next year.

The Custer County Board has petitioned to have the county included in the North Platte district of the area vocational-technical school plan. At Elgin the chamber of commerce urged the county board to oppose such a program.

The North Platte school board has rescinded action reported here two weeks ago which would have provided half-tuition scholarships to 12 athletes at the junior college.

Dr. Carl Heinz, a graduate of the University of Nebraska and former Lincoln teacher, has been named superintendent of the Compton, Calif., Union High School District. His mother, Mrs. Henry Heinz, lives at Sutton.

Lincoln State's Open House Is 1-5 p.m. Today

Some of the 1,150 patients and many volunteers will assist Lincoln State Hospital staff members at the mental institution's annual public open house today.

Visitors will be able to tour the hospital areas and talk to staff members and patients between 1-5 p.m. according to Chairman George Eugar, hospital chaplain.

Japanese Choir To Sing Here

A 45-member Japanese choir that sings in six languages will make three appearances in Lincoln this week according to G. Glenn Davenport, [illegible] director at Union College.

The choral group, from a Seventh-day Adventist college near Tokyo, will be at the College View Seventh-day Adventist Church Friday evening, at the Northside Seventh-day Adventist Church Saturday morning and at the Union College auditorium Saturday evening.

The group is on a three-month tour of the United States and Canada.

Biomedical Talk By NU Doctors

"An Experiment in Biomedical Engineering Training" is the title of a paper to be presented at the Rocky Mountain Bioengineering Symposium Tuesday and Wednesday in Boulder, Colo., by co-directors of the new bioengineering program at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

Dr. Robert Stratbucker, assistant professor of physiology and pharmacology, and Dr. Edwin C. Lowenberg, professor of electrical engineering, are the co-directors.

How To Go Through a Wall

This is the Berlin Wall. The newspaper happens to be the Sunday Journal and Star–on purpose. For while neither we nor any paper can do much about this barricade to freedom, we CAN help break through other walls. The walls of prejudice, bias, secrecy, misinformation and ignorance . . . which can seal off a community from the free interchange of ideas and from the democratic process.

To do this, the Sunday Journal and Star uses the sharpest tool ever invented – the right of free press, honed and edged by YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW.

It's amazing how it works – though so many of us take it for granted.

It penetrates the council chamber and frees all views to public eye. It questions the state, the captains and the kings.

It reports the actions of those who harm and of those who act to prevent them. It searches out situations which need dissecting–and correcting. And it REBUILDS . . . with clear and accurate information. With enlightenment, with education, with a sense of today's history. It substitutes education for bias; new ideas for old opinions; and brings the turn of the world into bright focus.

Your paper does this day after day. Free of censorship or barbed wire, it helps keep YOU free . . . to read, to think, to act, in a free society.

Sunday Journal and Star

Buffalo Bill's Saddle

The leather saddle of Buffalo Bill is one of some 30,000 items of frontier history available for viewing by tourists at Pioneer Village in Minden.

The saddle, which was also ridden on by Will Rogers, Tom Mix and William S. Hart, sits in the restored Pumpkinseed Creek Pony Express Relay Station at Pioneer Village.

When located near Bridgeport, Pumpkinseed was the last stop on the Deadwood Trail for Pony Express riders.

City Officials Deeply Concerned About Employe Turnover

By LEO SCHERER

Around City Hall

Don't let anyone tell you that some city officials aren't deeply concerned about employe matters.

The mayor and City Council know about the problems and could make some major salary increases in certain job classifications during upcoming budget sessions.

City Planning Director Douglas Brogden can't find two planners; City Atty. Ralph Nelson is short a deputy; other departments are losing personnel because employes can make more money elsewhere.

One report says the city's Public Works Dept. also is behind schedule on paving and other plans due to lack of employes.

The city has for years lost some key employes because they could get more money in other parts of the country, but the recent rash of resignations within city government has started some talking.

Kitchen Sink, Too?

Since the base deactivation was announced last year, trainloads of equipment and materials have left the base even though the Lincoln Airport Authority officially submitted a save list for certain important base equipment.

The federal government will not leave anything at the deactivated base that isn't considered surplus and some say everything is going, including the kitchen sink.

With so many federal agencies involved in the LAFB deactivation, city representatives, close to the situation say there has been much confusion and disorganization so far.

Downtown Traffic

There is the possibility that Lincoln's downtown area may still have a one-way street system installed during 1966.

The one-way street concept has strong support from some City Council members although the mayor isn't greatly impressed with the idea.

The long-awaited traffic origin-destination study is expected to have recommendations in it regarding a downtown one-way system.

Once the Council makes up its mind, the actual installation of such a one-way system wouldn't take too long.

The traffic study now is programmed for release by May 31, but it's hard to get Council members to believe this since they have been waiting more than a year for the study.

Rolling Alone

Gurdaspur, India (AP) — A steam engine and three railroad cars took an unscheduled 20-mile trip. The engineer and fireman left the cab at the Dinanagar station and in a few minutes the train began rolling. It stopped near Gurdaspur, its steam exhausted.

Citizen Tattlers Raise IRS Take

Washington (AP)—"I am writing this letter to report a person who has not been paying his income tax for the past four years . . ."

This is the opening of a richly detailed letter to the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), sent by one who signed himself "A Faithful Citizen."

It was one of approximately 100,000 letters that the service, Uncle Sam's income tax collector, gets each year from citizens blowing the whistle on those they name as tax cheats.

Many of the letters are the work of patriotism; the writers don't want their country defrauded.

$13-Million Return

Most of the letters don't turn out to be worth following up after the first screening. But enough proved out, in the last fiscal year alone, to bring in nearly $13 million in revenue Uncle Sam might otherwise never have seen. As much or more is expectable this year.

Internal Revenue figures show that for every informant who asks a money reward, 19 do not ask for anything except the satisfaction of knowing their reports get attention.

Last year, out of 100,000 letters received 9,840 were considered worthy of a preliminary investigation, and 3,796 found up with full-scale investigations.

The service hands out rewards only if asked, and only after pondering how much the tipster's information helped. The top reward possible is 10% of the amount the government recovers, and the average is 4 to 5%.

'Not Spies'

Last year the service disposed of 4,457 claims, rejecting 3,665 and allowing only 792. The total paid out in rewards was $597,731, an average of $754.71 per successful claimant.

(And after an informant gets a reward, Internal Revenue agents check to see whether he reports the money on HIS return as taxable income, which it is.)

"We are not a spy outfit," says William A. Kolar, head of the IRS intelligence division. "We are not trying to develop a host of tax informers."

Kolar's No. 1 assistant, A. Robert Manzi, put it this way:

"If you see a man climbing out the window at the home of one of your neighbors, you're going to call the police, aren't you?"

Much the same principle is involved, Kolar and Manzi agreed, when a tax evader robs his country, and thereby robs honest taxpayers, by not paying his fair share.

Letters that are obviously malicious and contain no specifics get no attention, Kolar added.

Kolar, 48, has been head of the intelligence division only since January, but he's been with the IRS for 12 years. Before that he was an FBI man for eight years, working on espionage cases, among other things.

50-Year-Old Canal Zone Shipping Rate May Rise

Chicago Daily News Special

Washington — The cost of sailing a ship through the Panama Canal, substantially the same for more than half a century, shows signs of increasing.

Growing political pressure from Panama is the major reason. The Panama Canal has always showed a profit, but Panama says the present rates are too low and should be increased.

Canal officials began a new policy Apr. 1 under which all ships loaded with cargo must present a copy of their manifest when they sail through. The canal company said it was beginning a one-year study of tolls.

At present, loaded ships using the canal pay 90 cents a ton in a complicated tolls system based on their cargo capacity. Empty ships pay 72 cents a ton, again based on their cargo capacity. There has been no significant change in the charges since the canal opened in 1914.

The U.S. leases the 10-mile-wide Canal Zone, which cuts Panama in two, for $1,930,000 a year. Panama wants to raise the rent. Since the canal is required by law to pay all its operating costs, a toll increase is likely if the rent goes up.

Toll charges produced revenues of $67,000,000 for the canal in fiscal 1965, the highest figure in history. The new toll survey is designed to find out how traffic might be affected if the charges were increased.

Popularity Down

Wichita, Kan. (AP) — Guy Goodwin, assistant U.S. attorney here, thought to encourage his newspaper boy by writing a long, enthusiastic letter nominating the younger in a newsboy popularity contest here. "I don't know what happened," Goodwin said later, "but he missed our issue with the next three editions."

Toure Next To Topple?

By VICTOR DU BOIS
Chicago Daily News Special

Abidjan, Ivory Coast — Growing opposition to President Sekou Toure of Guinea indicates that he might be the next African head of state to fall from power.

Since Guinea gained its independence from France in 1958 and adopted radical Marxist policies the West African nation of 2,800,000 people has suffered a steady economic deterioration.

On Mar. 7, Guinean exiles in Paris announced the formation of a group called the Front de Liberation National de Guinee (FLING) whose aim is to overthrow Toure.

Branches of the FLING have also sprung up in the recent weeks in West African capitals including Abidjan (Ivory Coast), Monrovia (Liberia), Dakar (Senegal) and Freetown (Sierra Leone). All of these cities contain large numbers of Guinean exiles.

Since 1958, some 500,000 people, or over one-sixth of Guinea's total population, are estimated to have fled the country because of intolerable living conditions.

George Defiel says we'll show you 9 plant sites in one day – even if we have to sprout wings!

Who does he think he is?

There's a new breed of executive at the Burlington. Impatient. Aggressive. Practical. Take George Defiel, our Director of Industry and Agriculture. Practical is his middle name.

He was counting up our acreage a while back—4,000 of our own and 6,000 others in 40 communities between Chicago and the Rockies. Plus thousands of other privately-owned acres.

"A lot of ground," George concluded, "and if the best way to show it is in a plane, buy one."

So we did.

Now a busy executive (or a whole Executive Committee) can examine any number of potential plant sites in the comfort and total privacy of Burlington's new Gulfstream Turboprop.

A wide variety of sites—yet with these two features in common:
(1) fine labor supply (midwesterners with a farm heritage for hard work) and (2) high-speed rail service—freight trains that move on Zephyr schedules.

Why not make a date right now to see some mighty impressive real estate. Call George Defiel at WA 2-2345 in Chicago. Just ask for "Wings."

Notice Of Taxes Missed

Couple Must Dig Up $500

By HAROLD SIMMONS

Advocates of sending taxpayers notices of real estate taxes now have another example to back their argument that the notices should be sent to Lincoln and Lancaster County residents.

Deputy County Assessor Wilber Houtchens said he met a retired couple last week who had suddenly found they owed the city about $500 in real estate taxes.

The couple had been paying county real estate taxes regularly. However, they did not know there was also a city real estate tax. They had not paid it since purchasing their home in 1957.

This couple has a total annual income of less than $1,000. They spent their life in foreign missionary service. They are not covered by Social Security.

Courthouse Call

Campaign Sign

John Austin, a candidate for sheriff whom reporters are not able to find when doing stories on candidates, bought the building directly south of the Courthouse at auction a few weeks ago for $19.

Now he has a campaign sign about five feet long nailed over the porch reading "Austin for Sheriff." The sign is clearly visible from the south side of the Courthouse.

"He can't do that," exclaimed one man who's backing another candidate, "that's county property."

Two attorneys, however, said they thought Austin was completely within his rights in putting anything he wanted on the house during the 60-day time limit he has to tear the house down.

Close Readers

One thing about writing stories on political candidates is that you're guaranteed you have readers who will faithfully read, dissect and savor every word and phrase.

Then, usually within two days after the story is printed, you hear from the candidates or their supporters.

So far, comments on stories on county candidates are running about three to one on the favorable side.

The bulk of objections voiced to the stories center on two points—the story was too short (they'd get a good argument on that point from copyreaders at the newspaper), and maybe an organization or group an individual belongs to was not listed.
